Cambridge Race Strife Flares Anew

Demonstrator Slugged During March By 200

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — A young white demonstrator was yanked out of line and slugged by another white youth as integrationists again paraded through downtown Cambridge Tuesday night.

Swift intervention by state police prevented further violence as nearly 200 Negro and white demonstrators marched about seven blocks from a church to the courthouse to protest segregation in this racially troubled community.

After a 15-minute session of prayer and hymn singing, the demonstrators strode back to the church, in the predominantly Negro western section of town.

As the marchers passed a bar near the courthouse on their return to the church, a young white man in a group outside the bar grabbed the shirtsleeve of a demonstrator, spun him around and punched him.

State police immediately stepped in and arrested James T. Thomas, 27, of Cambridge.

Whites Gather At Jail

Moments later a crowd of about 100 whites gathered about the Dorchester County Jail in the courthouse building, where Thomas was being held. State police dispersed them and Thomas was later released on $50 bond.

The march was carried out only a few hours after a Justice Department official said in Washington the department had agreed to mediate the Cambridge integration dispute.

A similar offer by Baltimore County officials earlier had resulted in the cancellation of new demonstrations at segregated Gwynn Oak Amusement Park northwest of Baltimore, where about 380 integrationists were arrested July 4 and last Sunday.

The Cambridge demonstration was held after the leader of the city's integration movement, Mrs. Gloria Richardson, met Tuesday afternoon in Washington with a Justice Department official.

Mrs. Richardson, chairman of the Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee and a Negress, later said both sides in the Cambridge dispute had agreed to meet with a Justice Department mediator and that further demonstrations probably would be called off.

Agreement Confirmed

The Justice official, Maceo W. Hubbard, a Negro staff assistant in the department's civil rights division, confirmed the agreement.

Advised later of Tuesday night's demonstration, Hubbard said the agreement did not specify whether the Cambridge marches would continue.

But in Baltimore County, integration leaders scrapped plans for an afternoon march on Gwynn Oak Park after county leaders offered to mediate a dispute over the park management's policy of refusing to admit Negroes.

Leaders of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) and the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance, an organization of Negro clergymen, said the decision was made at a meeting "as an action of good faith."

The government of Baltimore County, where Gwynn Oak Amusement Park Is situated, voted unanimously Monday night to create a Human Relations Commission with up to 11 members to work on integration in the populous suburban county.

Spiro T. Agnew, Baltimore County executive, had asked the seven-member county council to create the commission with emergency legislation making it effective immediately, and this was done.

Agnew planned immediate personal talks with owners of the 68-acre park on the northwestern outskirts of Baltimore City and integration leaders.

London Police Head Off Mob's Palace March

LONDON (AP) — Police battled Communists and their sympathizers in the heart of London Tuesday night, turning back wave after wave of demonstrators trying to march on Buckingham Palace to protest the visit of King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece.

The Greek royal couple, dining in the palace as guests of Queen Elizabeth II, were protected from the bloody fighting in the streets and squares nearby by the largest peacetime security force London has ever assembled.

Ban-the-bombers and anarchists joined the Communists in the demonstrations demanding "freedom for political prisoners in Greece," meaning Communists who have been in jail since the Greek Civil War.

Police fought the demonstrators in Trafalgar Square and Whitehall from dusk to almost midnight. More than 80 demonstrators were arrested and an uncounted number of police and demonstrators were taken to hospitals.

Hundreds of policemen still sat ready in buses on roads leading to the palace, but as the royal guests left, only two demonstrators were outside the palace gates.

The Greek government has imprisoned 960 political prisoners from the Communist Civil War in Greece. The government contends those still behind bars were convicted of criminal offenses such as murder and treason.

The Greek royal couple came here to mark the restoration of close relations with Britain after a bitter dispute over independence for the Mediterranean island of Cyprus, now a Greek-Turkish communal republic. The visit has caused controversy both in Britain and Greece.

Klan Plans Large-Scale Anti-Integration Drive

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Ku Klux Klan leaders said Tuesday the robed order is launching a large-scale campaign of white resistance to racial integration throughout the South and in other parts of the nation.

The credo of the new Klan move will be one of nonviolence but self-protection.

Klan leaders said their methods would include marching demonstrations, mass rallies, economic reprisals and white voter registration drives. In recent months the Klan has been generally inactive.

"The thing we've got to do is shock people into reality," said Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton Jr. of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Georgia's grand dragon, Calvin F. Craig, Atlanta, voiced a more ominous assessment of the racial conflict:

"The Negroes are not going to be satisfied until we have open racial war in this country. One race will have to dominate."

Shelton and Craig belong to the United Klans of America, Inc., Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. They say their order is the only authentic Klan.

Craig, 35, tall and heavy set, said the Klan would stage a street march July 20 in Savannah, Ga., where Negroes have been conducting demonstrations against segregation.

Shelton, also 35, a mild-mannered and slightly built man, said the Klan would try to reach at least 50,000 persons a week in public rallies.

Three rallies were held Saturday night in Gadsden, Ala.; Albany, Ga., and Jacksonville, Fla.

U.S. Appeals Court Orders Integration Of Mobile Schools

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A U.S. appeals court ordered the combined city-county school system at Mobile, Ala., today to begin desegregation this fall, in the first decision affecting Alabama public schools below the college level.

The quick ruling—only 28 hours after a New Orleans hearing by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals — overruled a decision by a fedreal judge in Alabama delaying integration in Mobile until 1964.

The 2-1 decision of the appeals court means that the first grade classes in the school system, which has an enrollment of 73,500, must be opened on an integrated basis in September.

It called for desegregation on the stairstep principle — moving one grade higher each school year until all 12 grades are integrated.

Mobile's school system, second largest in Alabama, had asked Monday for a delay until 1964 on grounds it was engaged in a massive new construction program.

School board attorneys told U.S. Circuit Judges John Minor Wisdom of New Orleans, John R. Brown of Houston, Tex., and Griffin Bell of Atlanta, Ga., that the additional burden of desegregation in September would be intolerable.

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace declined to comment until he has read the decision.

There are now Negroes attending state-supported institutions of higher learning in every state under federal court edicts. With the Mobile ruling, only South Carolina and Mississippi remain without court-ordered integration below the college level.

The majority opinion, signed by Wisdom and Brown, said administrative problems created by desegregation was not sufficient grounds for delay.

Judge Bell, in his dissent, said he supported the view of U.S. Dist. Judge Daniel H. Thomas that there is not enough time to change the organization of the system to include integrated classes this fall.

Judge Bell said "The loss of the year can be made up by requiring that two grades be desegregated beginning in 1964."

The suit asking desegregation of the Mobile schools was filed by the parents of 20 Negro children. They were backed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

China's A-Plans Reported Upset

LONDON (UPI) — Diplomatic sources said Tuesday Communist China has run into technical roadblocks in its nuclear program and that it may be years before it can explode a test bomb.

The reports said its nuclear effort apparently was damaged seriously by the withdrawal of Soviet scientists, who also took back to Russia important scientific "ingredients."

The West had expected Red China to explode an atomic device sometime this year.

The nuclear issue and Peking's failure to get Moscow's help is understood to play an important role in the strained Sicno-Soviet relations.

JFK, NSC Air Test Ban Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy met for 45 minutes late Tuesday with the National Security Council to discuss policy for U.S.-British-Soviet nuclear test ban talks that get under way Monday in Moscow.

There was no public announcement on results of the meeting of the policy-advising council, whose members include the vice president, defense secretary, secretary of state and director of the Office of Emergency Planning.

The conferees included W. Averell Harriman, undersecretary of state for political affairs, who will be the U. S. chief negotiator in Moscow. He leaves Wednesday for New York and Thursday for London to confer with Britain's negotiator, Science Minister Lord Hailsham.

The meeting was originally announced as a briefing for Harriman by top officials concerned with nuclear policy. But the White House later said it had been expanded into a full session of the National Security Council.

Space Agency Budget Cut By House Group

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House committee gave fresh evidence Tuesday that the five-year - old honeymoon between Congress and the civilian space program was over by voting to cut $489 million —or 8 per cent—from next year's space agency budget.

The House Space Committee recommended that the House trim that much from the $5.7 billion requested by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

Included was a $120 million reduction in the $1.2 billion to be spent this year on Project Apollo, the program designed to place an American on the moon by 1970.

Six Lose Lives In Fiery Crash At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Six persons, including four members of one family, were killed Tuesday in a fiery collision involving three automobiles and a bus on a heavily-traveled parkway.

Those killed were riding in two of the cars. The driver of the third car survived with only minor injuries and the bus operator, whose vehicle carried no passengers, escaped unhurt.

Five of the victims perished when trapped in the flaming wreckage of two cars that were virtually fused together by the impact and the heat of the ensuing fire.

The sixth person killed was a five-year-old boy who was thrown to the highway from one of the cars and died soon after being taken to a hospital.

Allegheny County morgue attendants identified the dead as Mr. and Mrs. Blair E. Ashbaugh and their children, Linda, 16, and Randy Blair, 7 of Salina, Pa.; Ralph E. Regan, 28, and Martin David Davern, both of Pittsburgh.

Duane Watkins, a bus driver for Pittsburgh Railways Co., said Tuesday's accident occurred so fast he didn't realize what was happening.

"All I know is that I was sideswiped," he said. "I did hear the squeal of brakes. I looked in the rear mirror and saw this green Chevy behind me. Then it happened."

The Rev. Russell Danylchuck, pastor of Holy Trinity Roman Catholic Church at nearby Carnegie, Pa., was an eyewitness to the accident.

"This man passed us at tremendous speed, cut in front and sideswiped a car in the left lane," Father Danylchuck told United Press International.

"The first car burst into flames immediately, crossed the divider and hit the oncoming car. The car that had been sideswiped also hit the opposite lane car," the priest added.

East Temperatures Skid To Record Lows

By United Press International

Temperatures skidded to record lows in the eastern half of the nation Tuesday.

The cool air, which sent readings to the 30s and 40s from northern Minnesota to New England, came a week after the same areas simmered in a record-breaking heat wave.

Bradford and Emporium, Pa., had record lows of 33 degrees early Tuesday, and the U.S. Weather Bureau said frost undoubtedly formed in some Appalachian valleys.

Other Pennsylvania records for a July 9 were set by 35 degrees at Philipsburg and 42 at Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh's temperature was the coldest on record for July.

Soviet-China Talks Reset After Break

Peking Delegation Fails To Show For Tuesday Session

MOSCOW (AP) — Within hours of a stinging Kremlin rebuke to Peking, Soviet and Chinese negotiators canceled Tuesday's session of their ideological peace talks. First reports leaking from earlier secret sessions indicated the two sides were about as far apart as ever.

No explanation was given for the surprise cancellation, but activity around the meeting place—the Russians showed up at the usual time, the Chinese did not appear at all—suggested the Chinese stood up the Russians or at least pulled out of the session at the last minute.

The Chinese embassy said, however, that the talks will resume Wednesday.

Chinese Taken To Task

The recess possibly was prompted by the Soviet Communist party Central Committee charge that the Chinese were deliberately aggravating Soviet-Chinese relations. In a statement printed in both the Soviet party newspaper Pravda and government newspaper Izvestia, the Kremlin told the Chinese that the consequences of their actions could be dangerous.

The stringent tone of the statement while the talks are going on tended to bolster reports that the Soviet and Chinese were making little or no progress in resolving their differences.

The Chinese were said to be pushing a plan that would make them dominant in the Communist world. The Russians are certain to eject this.

Khrushchev Stays Away

Premier Khrushchev continued to remain aloof from the sessions, and reports of his talks with Belgium's Paul-Henri Spaak in Kiev Monday bore an optimistic note that could be considered another snub at Chinese demands for a militant stand against the West.

Spaak, Belgian foreign minister and a former secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), returned to Brussels during the day and said that if the West shows "some boldness and imagination, East-West relations will further improve."

Neither the Russians nor the Chinese have said anything official about what was discussed in the ideological sessions Friday, Saturday and Monday.

Savannah Negro Marchers Jailed

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) — About 250 chanting Negroes marched through Savannah Tuesday and police arrested 15 of them when they laid down in the street and blocked traffic at a busy intersection.

The marchers paraded to the jail to protest the arrest of their leader, Hosea Williams. Williams was arrested on a complaint sworn out by a white woman who said racial demonstrations in the city have made her fear for her life.

Later, three white men signed "peace warrants" against Williams, charging that the demonstrators he led have disturbed the peace. Williams' bond on the four charges was set at a total of $10,000.

Kennedy Asks Women's Groups Aid Rights Drive

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy, renewing his drive to get the civil rights problem tackled at the local level, urged women's organizations Tuesday to help abolish discrimination in their communities.

He made the appeal at a gathering of more than 300 women who ranged from Mrs. Roy Wilkins, wife of the director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, to Mrs. Robert Smith, president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The women agreed to form a committee to coordinate theri civil rights efforts. It will be headed by Mrs. Mildred McAfee Hortoj, a former president of Wellesley College and former head of the Waves. Assistant Labor Secretary Esther Peterson will serve as a liaison between the group and the administration.

Mrs. Thelma Stevens, with the women's division of the Methodist Church, told reporters the President asked the group to do three things:

—Work to keep children in school and avoid dropouts.

—Align themselves with biracial committees to help wipe out discrimination in their communities.

Bill Would Deny Aid To Schools With Color Bar

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee was reported Tuesday to have agreed on a bill halting federal aid for schools that practice racial segregation — a blow long opposed by the South.

Sources said the subcommittee members would take a final vote Wednesday that could send the legislation to its parent group, the House Education and Labor Committee.

The proposal is believed to require that segregated districts or institutions file a desegregation plan by June 30, 1964 and have it operating a year later, or funds now furnished under five federal programs will stop.

The development closely followed an appeal by James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, for a quick cutoff of federal aid for segregated schools.

He testified before the subcommittee as witnesses appeared before two other congressional committees on the administration's civil rights program.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall, who heads the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division, testified for the second consecutive day before the Senate Commerce Committee.

He said he believes that, unlike prohibition, the public would accept a law passed by Congress that would insure equal treatment of the races in stores, hotels, restaurants and similar private establishments.

Before a second House Education and Labor subcommittee, undersecretary of Welfare Ivan Nestingen—substituting for Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze—strongly urged passage of a bill providing special job training for undereducated persons including Negroes.

The subcommittee before which Farmer appeared is considering bills that would force an end to federal aid to those schools that separate the races.

Issue Would Be Submitted To Goldberg

Replies To Binding Settlement Request To Be Given Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked the nation's railroads and their on-train workers Tuesday to prevent a strike by submitting their deadlocked work rules dispute to binding arbitration by Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg.

Kennedy said it was unusual to call on a high court justice for such a role but the extraordinary situation required it. He said "widespread economic disruption, dislocation and distress" would be created by a strike.

Both sides agreed to consider the proposal and let Kennedy know their decision by 10 a.m. EDT Wednesday, as the President requested.

This will be only 14 hours before the tmie the railroads have set for putting into effect new work rules which would eliminate 40,000 firemen's jobs on freight and yard diesel locomotives. The unions say this action will be met by an immediate strike.

Unions Strike Plan

The unions have said that if there is a strike they are willing to continue working passenger and commuter trains under the old rules and to move troops, military supplies or "food for the public welfare to prevent public distress" if the President certifies such need. Under this plan workers' wages would go to a charitable organization.

Under Kennedy's plan, Goldberg would decide the issues involved before the Supreme Court begins its new term Oct. 7. The tribunal is now in summer recess. The railroads would call off their plan to impose the work rules Thursday.

Neither side gave any strong indication of its views after going to the White House at Kennedy's request to hear his urgent, last-hope plea. The leaders of the five unions stayed behind to chat with Kennedy for 15 minutes after the four top railroad representatives had left the session.

Every Consideration Promised

Roy E. Davidson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, acted as spokesman for the unions and told newsmen Kennedy's proposal would get every consideration.

He pointed out that labor organizations traditionally oppose arbitration in lieu of negotiated agreements.

J. E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, was asked by reporters if the railroads have not agreed to all previous suggestions for arbitration.

"Yes sir, we have," he replied vigorously.

Goldberg was appointed to Kennedy's Cabinet while he was general counsel to the United Steel Workers Union, a job he had held many years. He also was special counsel for the AFL-CIO.

Railroad-Union Dispute At Glance

By The Associated Press

195 major railroads and terminal switching companies.

Five on-train unions with memberships totaling nearly 200,000—the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the Independent Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, the Independent Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen, the AFL-CIO Switchmen's Union of North America, the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Issues involved:

The railroads want to introduce new work rules to end what they call "featherbedding," unnecessary jobs, which they say would save $600 million a year and help the carriers' compete better with other modes of transportation. railroads propose to accept a presidential commission's recommendation that would eliminate 40,000 firemen on freight and yard diesel locomotives, low seniority ones immediately, veterans by attrition.

The unions say most of these firemen are needed for safe and efficient operation of the trains.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy will not hold a news conference this week but plans to meet with reporters next week, the White House said Tuesday.

Six Lose Lives In Fiery Crash At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Six persons, including four members of one family, were killed Tuesday in a fiery collision involving three automobiles and a bus on a heavily-traveled parkway.

Those killed were riding in two of the cars. The driver of the third car survived with only minor injuries and the bus operator, whose vehicle carried no passengers, escaped unhurt.

Five of the victims perished when trapped in the flaming wreckage of two cars that were virtually fused together by the impact and the heat of the ensuing fire.

The sixth person killed was a five-year-old boy who was thrown to the highway from one of the cars and died soon after being taken to a hospital.

Allegheny County morgue attendants identified the dead as Mr. and Mrs. Blair E. Ashbaugh and their children, Linda, 16, and Randy Blair, 7 of Salina, Pa.; Ralph E. Regan, 28, and Martin David Davern, both of Pittsburgh.

Duane Watkins, a bus driver for Pittsburgh Railways Co., said Tuesday's accident occurred so fast he didn't realize what was happening.

"All I know is that I was sideswiped," he said. "I did hear the squeal of brakes. I looked in the rear mirror and saw this green Chevy behind me. Then it happened."

The Rev. Russell Danylchuck, pastor of Holy Trinity Roman Catholic Church at nearby Carnegie, Pa., was an eyewitness to the accident.

"This man passed us at tremendous speed, cut in front and sideswiped a car in the left lane," Father Danylchuck told United Press International.

"The first car burst into flames immediately, crossed the divider and hit the oncoming car. The car that had been sideswiped also hit the opposite lane car," the priest added.

East Temperatures Skid To Record Lows

By United Press International

Temperatures skidded to record lows in the eastern half of the nation Tuesday.

The cool air, which sent readings to the 30s and 40s from northern Minnesota to New England, came a week after the same areas simmered in a record-breaking heat wave.

Bradford and Emporium, Pa., had record lows of 33 degrees early Tuesday, and the U.S. Weather Bureau said frost undoubtedly formed in some Appalachian valleys.

Other Pennsylvania records for a July 9 were set by 35 degrees at Philipsburg and 42 at Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh's temperature was the coldest on record for July.

Soviet-China Talks Reset After Break

Peking Delegation Fails To Show For Tuesday Session

MOSCOW (AP) — Within hours of a stinging Kremlin rebuke to Peking, Soviet and Chinese negotiators canceled Tuesday's session of their ideological peace talks. First reports leaking from earlier secret sessions indicated the two sides were about as far apart as ever.

No explanation was given for the surprise cancellation, but activity around the meeting place—the Russians showed up at the usual time, the Chinese did not appear at all—suggested the Chinese stood up the Russians or at least pulled out of the session at the last minute.

The Chinese embassy said, however, that the talks will resume Wednesday.

Chinese Taken To Task

The recess possibly was prompted by the Soviet Communist party Central Committee charge that the Chinese were deliberately aggravating Soviet-Chinese relations. In a statement printed in both the Soviet party newspaper Pravda and government newspaper Izvestia, the Kremlin told the Chinese that the consequences of their actions could be dangerous.

The stringent tone of the statement while the talks are going on tended to bolster reports that the Soviet and Chinese were making little or no progress in resolving their differences.

The Chinese were said to be pushing a plan that would make them dominant in the Communist world. The Russians are certain to eject this.

Khrushchev Stays Away

Premier Khrushchev continued to remain aloof from the sessions, and reports of his talks with Belgium's Paul-Henri Spaak in Kiev Monday bore an optimistic note that could be considered another snub at Chinese demands for a militant stand against the West.

Spaak, Belgian foreign minister and a former secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), returned to Brussels during the day and said that if the West shows "some boldness and imagination, East-West relations will further improve."

Neither the Russians nor the Chinese have said anything official about what was discussed in the ideological sessions Friday, Saturday and Monday.

Savannah Negro Marchers Jailed

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) — About 250 chanting Negroes marched through Savannah Tuesday and police arrested 15 of them when they laid down in the street and blocked traffic at a busy intersection.

The marchers paraded to the jail to protest the arrest of their leader, Hosea Williams. Williams was arrested on a complaint sworn out by a white woman who said racial demonstrations in the city have made her fear for her life.

Later, three white men signed "peace warrants" against Williams, charging that the demonstrators he led have disturbed the peace. Williams' bond on the four charges was set at a total of $10,000.

Bill Would Deny Aid To Schools With Color Bar

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee was reported Tuesday to have agreed on a bill halting federal aid for schools that practice racial segregation — a blow long opposed by the South.

Sources said the subcommittee members would take a final vote Wednesday that could send the legislation to its parent group, the House Education and Labor Committee.

The proposal is believed to require that segregated districts or institutions file a desegregation plan by June 30, 1964 and have it operating a year later, or funds now furnished under five federal programs will stop.

The development closely followed an appeal by James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, for a quick cutoff of federal aid for segregated schools.

He testified before the subcommittee as witnesses appeared before two other congressional committees on the administration's civil rights program.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall, who heads the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division, testified for the second consecutive day before the Senate Commerce Committee.

He said he believes that, unlike prohibition, the public would accept a law passed by Congress that would insure equal treatment of the races in stores, hotels, restaurants and similar private establishments.

Before a second House Education and Labor subcommittee, undersecretary of Welfare Ivan Nestingen—substituting for Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze—strongly urged passage of a bill providing special job training for undereducated persons including Negroes.

The subcommittee before which Farmer appeared is considering bills that would force an end to federal aid to those schools that separate the races.

Kennedy Asks Women's Groups Aid Rights Drive

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy, renewing his drive to get the civil rights problem tackled at the local level, urged women's organizations Tuesday to help abolish discrimination in their communities.

He made the appeal at a gathering of more than 300 women who ranged from Mrs. Roy Wilkins, wife of the director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, to Mrs. Robert Smith, president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The women agreed to form a committee to coordinate theri civil rights efforts. It will be headed by Mrs. Mildred McAfee Hortoj, a former president of Wellesley College and former head of the Waves. Assistant Labor Secretary Esther Peterson will serve as a liaison between the group and the administration.

Mrs. Thelma Stevens, with the women's division of the Methodist Church, told reporters the President asked the group to do three things:

—Work to keep children in school and avoid dropouts.

—Align themselves with biracial committees to help wipe out discrimination in their communities.

Issue Would Be Submitted To Goldberg

Replies To Binding Settlement Request To Be Given Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked the nation's railroads and their on-train workers Tuesday to prevent a strike by submitting their deadlocked work rules dispute to binding arbitration by Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg.

Kennedy said it was unusual to call on a high court justice for such a role but the extraordinary situation required it. He said "widespread economic disruption, dislocation and distress" would be created by a strike.

Both sides agreed to consider the proposal and let Kennedy know their decision by 10 a.m. EDT Wednesday, as the President requested.

This will be only 14 hours before the tmie the railroads have set for putting into effect new work rules which would eliminate 40,000 firemen's jobs on freight and yard diesel locomotives. The unions say this action will be met by an immediate strike.

Unions Strike Plan

The unions have said that if there is a strike they are willing to continue working passenger and commuter trains under the old rules and to move troops, military supplies or "food for the public welfare to prevent public distress" if the President certifies such need. Under this plan workers' wages would go to a charitable organization.

Under Kennedy's plan, Goldberg would decide the issues involved before the Supreme Court begins its new term Oct. 7. The tribunal is now in summer recess. The railroads would call off their plan to impose the work rules Thursday.

Neither side gave any strong indication of its views after going to the White House at Kennedy's request to hear his urgent, last-hope plea. The leaders of the five unions stayed behind to chat with Kennedy for 15 minutes after the four top railroad representatives had left the session.

Every Consideration Promised

Roy E. Davidson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, acted as spokesman for the unions and told newsmen Kennedy's proposal would get every consideration.

He pointed out that labor organizations traditionally oppose arbitration in lieu of negotiated agreements.

J. E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, was asked by reporters if the railroads have not agreed to all previous suggestions for arbitration.

"Yes sir, we have," he replied vigorously.

Goldberg was appointed to Kennedy's Cabinet while he was general counsel to the United Steel Workers Union, a job he had held many years. He also was special counsel for the AFL-CIO.

Railroad-Union Dispute At Glance

195 major railroads and terminal switching companies.

Five on-train unions with memberships totaling nearly 200,000—the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the Independent Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, the Independent Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen, the AFL-CIO Switchmen's Union of North America, the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Issues involved:

The railroads want to introduce new work rules to end what they call "featherbedding," unnecessary jobs, which they say would save $600 million a year and help the carriers' compete better with other modes of transportation. railroads propose to accept a presidential commission's recommendation that would eliminate 40,000 firemen on freight and yard diesel locomotives, low seniority ones immediately, veterans by attrition.

The unions say most of these firemen are needed for safe and efficient operation of the trains.

Tawes Outlines Governor Role In Race Crises

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A governor should stay out of racial disturbances as long as local authorities are in control of the situation, Gov. Tawes said Tuesday.

At a news conference devoted mainly to racial matters, Tawes said he thought "the role of the governor was shown in the Cambridge case."

When local officials thought the situation was out of hand, they appealed to us for help, he said.

Any governor's role is to "lend every aid and assistance he can to aid peace and avoid disturbances," Tawes said, but the first responsibility is that of local officials.

Tawes said he hoped a settlement could be worked out in Cambridge now that the National Guard has been pulled out of the Eastern Shore community.

"I think its going to be a period of waiting to see how the (public accommodations) amendment to the city charter works out," he said.

The governor said he considered it likely that an effort would be made at the 1964 session of the general assembly to amend or expand the Maryland public accommodations law.

He said he could not say whether he would support new legislation until he could see what such proposals contained.

He pointed out that 89.6 per cent of the Maryland population lives in the 11 counties and Baltimore City included in the public accommodations bill.

Tawes also said he hoped that the state's racial problems "can be settled on a voluntary basis. If they can't be, then we must take the next best course."

He said he could not say now what the next best course would be.

In other matters, the governor:

1. Announced appointment of a 15-member Maryland regional export expansion council "to advise business and industry in the state of Maryland on the many benefits to be derived from an increased export program."

2. Said it was too early now to predict what sort of financial condition Maryland would be in next year.

3. Said he hopes to head the Maryland delegation to the Democratic national convention in Atlantic City, N.J., next year. Tawes said he believed President Kennedy was doing a good job and was sure the Democrats would renominate him.

4. Supported President Kennedy's tax cut proposal now before congress.

Four Escapees Back In Custody

FT. BELVOIR, Va. (AP)—Four prisoners who fled the Ft. Belvoir stockade Monday night were back in custody without having gotten off the Army base.

One gave himself up. The three others were caught in a wooded area.

The prisoners, all privates held on charges of being AWOL, broke out of the stockade after one of them overpowered his soldier guard by hitting him on the head with a plumbing tool.

The prisoner took the guard's .45 automatic and keys, forced another guard into a cellblock and to give up his shotgun, then opened all the cells and offered all the prisoners their freedom. Only three accepted.

The man who gave himself up was Pvt. Thomas E. Cumbee, 23, Blacksburg, Va. Recaptured later were Pvts. Walter C. Woolum, Jr., 18, Martinsburg, W.Va.; Francis C. Reynolds, 22, Portsmouth, Va., and Henry H. Wills, 17, of Colonial Heights, Va.

Martin Co. Official Gets New Space Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon announced Tuesday selection of Dr. Albert C. Hall, a top official of The Martin Co. as deputy director of defense research and engineering for space technology.

Hall, vice president and general manager of Martin, will take the new post about Aug. 1.

The 49-year-old Hall was born in Port Arthur, Tex. He has been an educator and industrial research and development administrator.

McKeldin And Pressman At Odds On Tax Proposal

BALTIMORE (AP) — The victorious fusion running mates, Mayor McKeldin and Comptroller Pressman, became unfused Tuesday over taxes.

A study commission recommended Monday that Baltimore City and the surrounding counties of Baltimore, Anne Arundel, Carroll, Harford and Howard, join in a 1 per cent tax on income and sales. It would be in addition to the state levies which are 3 per cent.

Republican Mayor McKeldin endorsed the idea, declaring it "as good as we could come up with at this time."

Pressman, a Democrat who joined McKeldin's winning ticket at the last minute in May, opposed it in such words as "unjustified, oppressive and unnecessary."

The commission which recommended the local sales and income taxes was headed by Hooper S. Miles, a Democrat and former state treasurer.

McKeldin expressed belief the legislature would not resist authorization for the local taxes as much as it did in 1958 when as governor he proposed raising the state levies from 2 to 3 per cent.

The Democratic-controlled legislature balked for a week in overtime before their comptroller issued what amounted to a party call. The comptroller was J. Millard Tawes who became elected governor.

He said Tuesday of the local increase in taxes "that's going to be a very debatable subject, one that will require considerable study from the state as well as at the local level."

Malaya Reports Brunei May Yet Join Federation

LONDON (AP) — Members of Malaya's delegation said Tuesday there is still a possibility the oil-rich sultanate of Brunei will join the Federation of Malaysia to be set up Aug. 31. British sources agreed. The Brunei delegation refused to comment.

Discussing Brunei's last-minute refusal Monday to join the new Southeast Asian nation, a Malayan spokesman said Malayan Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman "is staying in London for a short holiday. Sultan Omar Ali of Brunei is also reported staying on. Information discussions between the two leaders to narrow down their differences are still possible."

Informants said the dispute was clearly tied up with an Eastern atmosphere of prestige. There was a clash of personalities—the various Malayan rulers and Tunku Abdul Rahman on one side and the sultan on the other.

Malayans said Omar Ali claimed precedence in the new federation over the other Malayan princes and when this was rejected, on constitutional grounds, he refused to sign the federation treaty.

On the other hand, a Brunei spokesman said the disagreement concerned the amount of Brunei's oil revenues to be paid into the Malaysia federal treasury.

The British protectorate's Seria field produces five million metric tons a year. Total revenues in 1961 of that land of 85,000 people were $112 million.

Union Loses Beer Protest

BALTIMORE (AP)—Free beer, sandwiches and tickets to baseball games from the boss during a union campaign to organize his workers were ruled legal Tuesday.

The erection of a dart board and table tennis set for employes also was not sufficient to nullify the result of a bargaining election, in the opinion of John A. Penello, regional director of the National Labor Relations Board.

The employes of a concrete block firm at Texas, Md., voted 18 to 7 in May against being represented by Teamsters Local 311.

The union protested that beer and sandwiches were served to employes, once on company time, four times before the election. Tickets to night games of the Baltimore Orioles were passed out twice.

The dart board and table tennis were put up five or six weeks before the election.

Penello said he found "no evidence that the foregoing recreational opportunities were presented to the employes by the employer conditioned on an anti-union vote" and so did not constitute a basis for setting the election aside.

$142,746 Taken In Bank Robbery

OXON HILL, Md. (AP) — The FBI said today an audit showed that $142,746 in cash and checks was taken in the robbery of Citizens Bank of Maryland.

A spokesman in Baltimore said it was known definitely that the four armed bandits and a fifth man who drove the getaway car netted $114,119 cash and possibly another $18,066 cash. Checks taken in the holdup Monday were worth about $10,000.

The FBI said there were no new developments in the search for the robbers, who carried shotguns and revolvers. All five were Negroes.

Several sealed night deposit bags dropped through a chute into the bank vault by merchants were taken in the robbery.

Plane Stealer Gets His Wish

BALTIMORE (AP)—Roger Lee Woods insisted Tuesday that he be sent to a federal prison for another try at curing his odd impulse.

The 25-year-old Woods has been arrested three times in the past four years for flying away in a stolen airplane.

Disregarding the advice of his lawyer, Woods pleaded guilty to taking a two-engine plane from Martinsburg, W.Va., last Dec. 2 and flying it to Friendship Airport near Baltimore. Woods told the judge he wanted psychiatric treatment at the federal reformatory in Chillicothe, Ohio.

He had been treated there under a three-year sentence imposed for flying a stolen plane from Columbus, Ohio, to Baltimore in 1959.

U.S. District Judge R. Dorsey Watkins responded by sentencing Woods to two years.

Woods was freed in 1961 of a charge of stealing a plane when he pleaded that the impulse to do it was irresistible.

State Pen School Graduation Tonight

BALTIMORE (AP(—The Maryland School of Adult Education will hold its first graduation exercises Wednesday night.

There will be the usual speeches, and diplomas will be handed out. But there will be no dance afterward, and no class trip to Washngton or New York to see the sights.

In fact, the 38 junior high and 35 senior high graduates, ranging in age from 18 to 60, won't even be allowed off campus after their big night. They're all inmates at the Maryland Penitentiary.

Attendance at the classes is voluntary, with 731 of the 1,500 inmates presently enrolled. Some of the students were illiterate when they entered the penitentiary, and some have been attending the prison school for as long as nine years.

Those who finish high school and have more time to serve, may go to college at the penitentiary's University of Maryland branch.

U.S. Estimate Says Sanctions Hurting Castro

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mounting moves to isolate Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuba have resulted in a steady deterioration of the Cuban economy, an official U.S. estimate showed Tuesday.

Free world shipping to Cuba has been reduced drastically, from 128 ship arrivals at Cuban ports in January 1962, to only 12 in January 1963, the estimate showed.

Cuba's gross national product was down 25 per cent in 1962 from the 1958 level of $2.5 billion.

To face these increasing problems, the Soviet bloc has poured into Cuba an estimated $1.1 billion in economic and military aid.

U.S. policy is described as being aimed at increasing these costs whenever possible in order to make continued Soviet presence in the Western Hemisphere less attractive.

The latest in a series of sanctions against Cuba was instituted Monday when the United State banned virtually all remaining U.S. financial transactions with the Communist-dominated island.

It froze Cuban assets in this country—whether owned by the Castro government or Cuban individuals—and banned Americans from unlicensed transactions with Cuba.

Because the American dollar is the prime trading currency in Latin America, the latest U.S. move is expected to complicate, and possibly curtail, the Castro government's financial transactions with most other non-Communist countries.

Some U.S. banking experts, however, viewed the freeze as more of a propaganda move than anything else. They pointed out that no U.S. banks have operated in Cuba since Castro nationalized the banking industry and that the amount of money involved is very small.

Charges Egypt Used Poison Gas In Yemen Probed

LONDON (AP) — The United States, Britain and the United Nations were reported Tuesday launching independent investigations into claims that Egyptian bombers had dropped poison gas on royalist tribesmen in Yemen's civil war.

In Cairo, United Arab Republic government officials denied the claims. Egyptian forces are helping Yemen's revolutionary government against royalists seeking to regain control of the tiny Arab country.

Something of a denial came, too, from an American-turned-Yemeni who is fighting on the royalist side in the civil war. He said what were believed to be gas bombs were napalm fire bombs which failed to explode.

Britain entered the picture Tuesday morning, calling the attention of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to reports of Egyptian use of poison gas. A correspondent for the London Daily Telegraph reported after a tour of Yemen battlefields that he saw Yemeni villagers with sores they said were caused by poison gas bombs.

Thant, who is in Geneva, was understood to have ordered his observers in the demilitarized zone on the Yemen-Saudi Arabia border to find out what really happened. He acted within hours of having been contacted by British diplomatic representatives at Geneva.

In Beirut, Lebanon, a report came from Bruce Abourrahman Conde, a former U.S. Air Force officer from California who is now a colonel in the army of Yemen's dethroned imam that there was no actual proof of the charges.

"Evidence shows the gas may have come from napalm fire bombs which failed to explode," he was quoted as saying "Some deadly fumes are killing the Yemenis, but we have no proof this is poison gas as such."

Conde is now a Yemeni citizen. He sent a report on the Yemeni bombings to Beirut from somewhere inside Yemen.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Four teenagers who stole nothing were held by police Tuesday on robbery charges.

The four were arrested for taking a wallet from a 52-year-old man. The wallet was empty.

BALTIMORE (AP) — John Sharp proved to police he owned an automobile he was tampering with early Tuesday morning. He opened a glove compartment to show the car was registered in his name.

But the eagle-eyed cops also spotted a blackjack in the compartment. Sharp was fined $25 for possessing a dangerous and deadly weapon.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The General Services Administration announced Tuesday that work on the foundation of a 17-story federal office building will start Aug. 1.

The building, in Baltimore's downtown business district being rebuilt and known as Charles Center, is expected to be finished in 1966.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Stanley Scherr's automobile was tagged Tuesday for being parked illegally in front of fire department headquarters. Scherr was inside presiding at a meeting of the fire board. He is former chief magistrate of Baltimore traffic court.

The union protested that beer and sandwiches were served to employes, once on company time, four times before the election. Tickets to night games of the Baltimore Orioles were passed out twice.

The dart board and table tennis were put up five or six weeks before the election.

Penello said he found "no evidence that the foregoing recreational opportunities were presented to the employes by the employer conditioned on an anti-union vote" and so did not constitute a basis for setting the election aside.

$142,746 Taken In Bank Robbery

OXON HILL, Md. (AP) — The FBI said today an audit showed that $142,746 in cash and checks was taken in the robbery of Citizens Bank of Maryland.

A spokesman in Baltimore said it was known definitely that the four armed bandits and a fifth man who drove the getaway car netted $114,119 cash and possibly another $18,066 cash. Checks taken in the holdup Monday were worth about $10,000.

The FBI said there were no new developments in the search for the robbers, who carried shotguns and revolvers. All five were Negroes.

Several sealed night deposit bags dropped through a chute into the bank vault by merchants were taken in the robbery.

Plane Stealer Gets His Wish

BALTIMORE (AP)—Roger Lee Woods insisted Tuesday that he be sent to a federal prison for another try at curing his odd impulse.

The 25-year-old Woods has been arrested three times in the past four years for flying away in a stolen airplane.

Disregarding the advice of his lawyer, Woods pleaded guilty to taking a two-engine plane from Martinsburg, W.Va., last Dec. 2 and flying it to Friendship Airport near Baltimore. Woods told the judge he wanted psychiatric treatment at the federal reformatory in Chillicothe, Ohio.

He had been treated there under a three-year sentence imposed for flying a stolen plane from Columbus, Ohio, to Baltimore in 1959.

U.S. District Judge R. Dorsey Watkins responded by sentencing Woods to two years.

Woods was freed in 1961 of a charge of stealing a plane when he pleaded that the impulse to do it was irresistible.

State Pen School Graduation Tonight

BALTIMORE (AP(—The Maryland School of Adult Education will hold its first graduation exercises Wednesday night.

There will be the usual speeches, and diplomas will be handed out. But there will be no dance afterward, and no class trip to Washington or New York to see the sights.

In fact, the 38 junior high and 35 senior high graduates, ranging in age from 18 to 60, won't even be allowed off campus after their big night. They're all inmates at the Maryland Penitentiary.

Attendance at the classes is voluntary, with 731 of the 1,500 inmates presently enrolled. Some of the students were illiterate when they entered the penitentiary, and some have been attending the prison school for as long as nine years.

Those who finish high school and have more time to serve, may go to college at the penitentiary's University of Maryland branch.

U.S. Estimate Says Sanctions Hurting Castro

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mounting moves to isolate Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuba have resulted in a steady deterioration of the Cuban economy, an official U.S. estimate showed Tuesday.

Free world shipping to Cuba has been reduced drastically, from 128 ship arrivals at Cuban ports in January 1962, to only 12 in January 1963, the estimate showed.

Cuba's gross national product was down 25 per cent in 1962 from the 1958 level of $2.5 billion.

To face these increasing problems, the Soviet bloc has poured into Cuba an estimated $1.1 billion in economic and military aid.

U.S. policy is described as being aimed at increasing these costs whenever possible in order to make continued Soviet presence in the Western Hemisphere less attractive.

The latest in a series of sanctions against Cuba was instituted Monday when the United State banned virtually all remaining U.S. financial transactions with the Communist-dominated island.

It froze Cuban assets in this country—whether owned by the Castro government or Cuban individuals—and banned Americans from unlicensed transactions with Cuba.

Because the American dollar is the prime trading currency in Latin America, the latest U.S. move is expected to complicate, and possibly curtail, the Castro government's financial transactions with most other non-Communist countries.

Some U.S. banking experts, however, viewed the freeze as more of a propaganda move than anything else. They pointed out that no U.S. banks have operated in Cuba since Castro nationalized the banking industry and that the amount of money involved is very small.

Charges Egypt Used Poison Gas In Yemen Probed

LONDON (AP) — The United States, Britain and the United Nations were reported Tuesday launching independent investigations into claims that Egyptian bombers had dropped poison gas on royalist tribesmen in Yemen's civil war.

In Cairo, United Arab Republic government officials denied the claims. Egyptian forces are helping Yemen's revolutionary government against royalists seeking to regain control of the tiny Arab country.

Something of a denial came, too, from an American-turned-Yemeni who is fighting on the royalist side in the civil war. He said what were believed to be gas bombs were napalm fire bombs which failed to explode.

Britain entered the picture Tuesday morning, calling the attention of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to reports of Egyptian use of poison gas. A correspondent for the London Daily Telegraph reported after a tour of Yemen battlefields that he saw Yemeni villagers with sores they said were caused by poison gas bombs.

Thant, who is in Geneva, was understood to have ordered his observers in the demilitarized zone on the Yemen-Saudi Arabia border to find out what really happened. He acted within hours of having been contacted by British diplomatic representatives at Geneva.

In Beirut, Lebanon, a report came from Bruce Abourrahman Conde, a former U.S. Air Force officer from California who is now a colonel in the army of Yemen's dethroned imam that there was no actual proof of the charges.

"Evidence shows the gas may have come from napalm fire bombs which failed to explode," he was quoted as saying "Some deadly fumes are killing the Yemenis, but we have no proof this is poison gas as such."

Conde is now a Yemeni citizen. He sent a report on the Yemeni bombings to Beirut from somewhere inside Yemen.

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP)—Four teenagers who stole nothing were held by police Tuesday on robbery charges.

The four were arrested for taking a wallet from a 52-year-old man. The wallet was empty.

BALTIMORE (AP) — John Sharp proved to police he owned an automobile he was tampering with early Tuesday morning. He opened a glove compartment to show the car was registered in his name.

But the eagle-eyed cops also spotted a blackjack in the compartment. Sharp was fined $25 for possessing a dangerous and deadly weapon.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The General Services Administration announced Tuesday that work on the foundation of a 17-story federal office building will start Aug. 1.

The building, in Baltimore's downtown business district being rebuilt and known as Charles Center, is expected to be finished in 1966.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Stanley Scherr's automobile was tagged Tuesday for being parked illegally in front of fire department headquarters. Scherr was inside presiding at a meeting of the fire board. He is former chief magistrate of Baltimore traffic court.

McKeldin And Pressman At Odds On Tax Proposal

BALTIMORE (AP) — The victorious fusion running mates, Mayor McKeldin and Comptroller Pressman, became unfused Tuesday over taxes.

A study commission recommended Monday that Baltimore City and the surrounding counties of Baltimore, Anne Arundel, Carroll, Harford and Howard, join in a 1 per cent tax on income and sales. It would be in addition to the state levies which are 3 per cent.

Republican Mayor McKeldin endorsed the idea, declaring it "as good as we could come up with at this time."

Pressman, a Democrat who joined McKeldin's winning ticket at the last minute in May, opposed it in such words as "unjustified, oppressive and unnecessary."

The commission which recommended the local sales and income taxes was headed by Hooper S. Miles, a Democrat and former state treasurer.

McKeldin expressed belief the legislature would not resist authorization for the local taxes as much as it did in 1958 when as governor he proposed raising the state levies from 2 to 3 per cent.

The Democratic-controlled legislature balked for a week in overtime before their comptroller issued what amounted to a party call. The comptroller was J. Millard Tawes who became elected governor.

He said Tuesday of the local increase in taxes "that's going to be a very debatable subject, one that will require considerable study from the state as well as at the local level."

Frightening Asthma Attacks End In Minutes As New Formula Unblocks Lung Passages Fast

New Medical Formula Restores Free Breathing Without Vaccines, Shots Or Narcotics. Calms Anxiety. No Prescription Needed.

New York, N.Y. (Special)—A team of scientists has announced a new formula that stops frightening asthma attacks in minutes and unblocks lung passages fast.

Medical tests prove this formula promptly restores free breathing, so calms anxiety and relieves the worst symptoms of asthma—the straining for breath, the gasping, the wheezing, the terrible fear of suffocation. All without vaccines, painful shots or habit-forming drugs. This formula is so safe when used as directed, it can be sold without prescription in tiny tablets called BRONITIN*.

Doctors know that when asthma strikes, breathing tubes become swollen, lung passages become blocked, so air is "trapped" inside lungs and less and less oxygen can enter. Now BRONITIN, with two asthma relieving medicines that doctors prescribe for their patients, acts quickly to open bronchial tubes and loosen the mucus that blocks lung passages. Trapped air is released and new vital oxygen enters the lungs.

The result is: free breathing is restored, tension eased and so fears are calmed in minutes. Sufferers can now look forward to restful sleep.

Get BRONITIN—available at all drug stores without prescription.

Frightening Asthma Attacks End In Minutes As New Formula Unblocks Lung Passages Fast

New Medical Formula Restores Free Breathing Without Vaccines, Shots Or Narcotics. Calms Anxiety. No Prescription Needed.

New York, N.Y. (Special)—A team of scientists has announced a new formula that stops frightening asthma attacks in minutes and unblocks lung passages fast.

Medical tests prove this formula promptly restores free breathing, so calms anxiety and relieves the worst symptoms of asthma—the straining for breath, the gasping, the wheezing, the terrible fear of suffocation. All without vaccines, painful shots or habit-forming drugs. This formula is so safe when used as directed, it can be sold without prescription in tiny tablets called BRONITIN®.

Doctors know that when asthma strikes, breathing tubes become swollen, lung passages become blocked, so air is "trapped" inside lungs and less and less oxygen can enter. Now BRONITIN, with two asthma relieving medicines that doctors prescribe for their patients, acts quickly to open bronchial tubes and loosen the mucus that blocks lung passages. Trapped air is released and new vital oxygen enters the lungs.

The result is: free breathing is restored, tension eased and so fears are calmed in minutes. Sufferers can now look forward to restful sleep.

Get BRONITIN—available at all drug stores without prescription.

Chapter 56 Has Grand Visitation

A Japanese theme was carried out in the decorations for the visitation of the grand officers of Maryland, Order of the Eastern Star, to Cumberland Chapter 56. Letters of congratulations to the chapter from five worthy matrons in Japan were presented to Mrs. Nellie Chesney, worthy grand matron, and Howard E. Falk, worthy grand patron.

A hand-painted scene of pagodas formed the background for a Japanese garden, containing trees of pink cherry blossoms and a Japanese bridge over a stream. Mrs. Nina Close and Richard Close were the Japanese couple in the garden. At the opposite end of the hall were Japanese lanterns, cherry blossoms and a Japanese figurine. During the ceremony officers and honor guests wore Japanese hats with queue.

The choral group of the chapter sang, "All Over the World." Brass wind chimes and other gifts were presented to Mrs. Chesney and Mr. Falk. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mary Steele and her committee.

The Japanese theme was repeated in the decorations for the table at the banquet, held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. They included blue pagodas, pink rickshaws, cherry blossoms and a centerpiece of pink carnations and purple gladiolus. The other tables were centered with blue pagodas, cherry blossoms and pink rickshaws. The favors were small white fans trimmed with blue ribbons and flowers.

Mrs. Ruth M. Klingler, worthy matron, extended the welcome. Entertainment was by pupils of the Dixon Dance Studio, Potomac Valley Quartet and a trumpet duet by David Hall and Robert Sutton, accompanied by Mrs. Charlotte Hall. Rex Swisher, worthy patron, was master of ceremonies.

Other grand office visitors were Mrs. Lillian B. Swartz, Russell W. Beall, associate matron and patron; Mrs. Viola E. Curry, conductress; Mrs. Nettie Keating, associate conductress; Mrs. Mildred Martin, trustee; Mrs. Marjory Stiegler, lecturer; Mrs. Annabelle Dodge, organist; Mrs. Ida Michelson, Adah; Mrs. Mary Broneman, Ruth; Mrs. Norma Lee Bosley, Martha; Mrs. Catherine Massey, electa; and Wesley Kahn, sentinel, also Mrs. Gwendolyn Kelley, Mrs. Anna Jennings, Mrs. Elsie Wolfe, Harold Schoreder, R. E. Hughes past grand matrons and patrons, besides members of their families.

Twiggtown Club Plans Work Meeting

A work meeting and a family picnic were planned and a report was given on RWSC at the meeting of the Twiggtown Homemakers Club Saturday at the home of Mrs. Helen Wilson, Flintstone. The meeting opened with the group reading the club collect and saying the Lord's Prayer. Roll call was answered with hints for short cuts for work around the home.

The committee was chosen to plan and conduct a work meeting for members wishing to learn Swedish weaving. It consists of Mrs. Charles Frost, Mrs. Walter Bender, Mrs. Walter Stafford and Mrs. Guy Stonestreet.

Mrs. Bender reporting as a freshman at College Park, said it was much more inspirational, informative and fun than she could have imagined. She told of meeting and talking with other women, assemblies, music, vesper service, parties, special speakers, classes and the trip to Mt. Vernon. She reported the trend for fall clothing will be the "sport look" with leather used in belts and trimming. The shift dress is still popular. She also spoke of manufacturers and cleaners working towards a cloth that can be cleaned without change, especially knit and stretch materials. She also said attention is being given to clothes for older women who are potential consumers on the labor force. She said the homemaker should become adept in planning nutritious meals, get the most for her dollar and keep the calory count down because of the hazards of overweight.

Plans will be completed at the next meeting for a family picnic at the home of Mrs. Wade Rice, Brice Hollow Road, August 3. Others present were Mrs. Bernard Baker, Mrs. Mason Glover and a guest, Mrs. Franklin Norris. After the meeting refreshments were served.

Social Chart

The Ladies Auxiliary to Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion will formulate plans at the meeting tomorrow for a bazaar with the post. The meeting will begin at 8 at the post home.

Bedford Road Homemakers Club and friends will meet at the Crystal Laundry today at 10 a. m. for a tour of the laundry.

A patio party will be held by the Women's Sport Club tonight at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. Mrs. Nellie Nycum is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Loretta Haus and Miss Cathleen Diehl.

A bake sale will be held by the Mt. Pleasant WSCS today at 124½ Frederick Street, beginning at 10 a. m.

Secrets Of Charm

Easy Exercise Routines For Beautiful Legs

Legs that are young and slim won't necessarily stay that way if their owners do nothing about them. A girl who engages in sports which exercise the legs may depend on the muscle formation which results to keep her legs trim for quite a while, but not forever.

Legs must stay supple and firm to stay beautiful. Walking, and plenty of it, is an excellent means of keeping them that way, and now's the best time of the year to start a steady walking program.

A correct sitting posture also helps to avoid the flabbiness that spoils the shape of the legs. Watch it to make sure your legs don't flatten above the knees on your chair seat as you sit long hours at your job.

But women who have perfect leglines know they must count on constant exercise routines to keep them, and so must you. Whether your aim is toward correcting proportions or maintaining the refinement of curves your legs already have, these two do wonders:

1.Stand with one hand on a chair back. Snap your right leg up in front of you with the knee bent double. Kick forward sharply, then backward. Make it brisk, kick hard. Repeat to total of five times for the right leg, then five for the left. Now, for the next five kicks with each leg, increase speed. Slow the movement for the next double five, then speed again. Swing into a bracing rhythm.

2. Lie on your back on the floor and do the riding-a-bicycle stand-by. Boost your hips into the air and support them with your hands. Pedal as if you were pulling hard up a mountain, slowly steadily, and with all your might, twenty revolutions for each leg.

THE SCALE NEVER LIES—DARN IT! But what it says can be more pleasant if you start now on the idealizing program detailed in the handy pamphlet, "How Much Should You Weigh?" A copy of this program for figure-perfection can be yours for 10c when you enclose a stamped, return envelope along with your request addressed to John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My heart aches for the young boy who wrote and said he was a chronic liar and didn't know how to stop. The poor lad said he never told lies that would hurt anybody. He just dreamed up stories to make himself seem more important or to make his hum-drum life seem more glamorous.

I was like that when I was a youngster and I took my problem to a wonderful clergyman. He "cured" me. Perhaps the same technique will work for him. Here it is:

When you hear yourself weaving one of those fabulous yarns bring the story to an abrupt end with a ridiculous phrase such as this: "And then I shot myself and died." Smile and add, "Beat that one if you can."

This is an easy way of saying, "It was all in fun and I didn't mean it."—EX-PREVARICATOR

DEAR EX: Thank you for the suggestion. It sounds workable and I hope the boy tries it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Erma is a dear friend of whom I am extremely fond. The standing joke about her in our crowd is that she was an 11-month baby and has been late ever since.

Erma lives near me. She doesn't drive but I do, so that means I pick her up several times a week. She's on of these disorganized people who, no matter how far ahead she plans, she can't seem to get herself together on time. I have sat out in front of her house for as long as 25 minutes chewing my fingernails. Each time I tell myself I am never going to pick her up again. But she is such a lovely person I can't bring myself to do it.

Last week we arrived at a funeral 20 minutes late. This week we missed the door prize drawings at the Ladies Aid. I don't remember the last time I heard a meeting called to order. I discussed the problem with my husband last night. He said, "This is one for Ann Landers." I agree with him. Can you help? —NO NAILS NANCY

DEAR NO NAILS: Erma is not going to change unless she has to. And she doesn't have to so long as you continue to sit out in front and wait for her.

The day you tell her that you won't stop if she isn't out in front—then DO it—that will be the day when Erma pulls up her socks and gets herself ready on time. Until then—wear mittens.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I once read in your column that you thought it was perfectly all right for people to take home from restaurants the food they were unable to eat at the table. What do you think of the following?

We attended a beautiful wedding last week. The woman next to us had a large beaded handbag almost the size of a shopping bag. After the dinner was served she wrapped up the rolls and put them in her handbag. She then got herself four pieces of wedding cake, wrapped them in paper napkins and put them in the bag, "for the children."

Later in the evening when the dancing started, she dumped all the nuts into a plastic envelope which she had brought from home. Then she grabbed all the candy. The woman didn't leave one edible thing on that table.

When she noticed me looking at her she said, "I hate to waste anything." What is your opinion of this? —GOGGLE-EYED

DEAR GOGGLE: The woman had no right to clean up the table.

It would have been permissible for her to ask the hostess if she might take an extra piece of wedding cake or two for her children, but it was downright boorish to swarm all over the rolls, nuts and candy.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Loce Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Opening lead: Ten of ♣

In today's anecdote, South actually was presented with two chances to win the hand, but both times was found wanting.

In light of South's strong bidding, West was reluctant to make an aggressive opening lead, choosing instead to play the waiting game against the ultimate contract of three no trump. The more or less innocent lead of the ten of clubs was ducked into the closed hand and South won the trick with the jack.

Development of the heart suit was begun at once as declarer played the nine from his hand and permitted it to ride. East was in with the jack of hearts and in an effort to kill the dummy's side entry he shifted to the jack of diamonds. South covered with the queen, West with the king and the trick was won by dummy's ace.

The ace of hearts was cashed but, when East showed out, it was revealed that that suit would not run. South played the other high heart and then led a diamond to his ten. He continued with another diamond in an effort to establish the suit and set up his long card as a ninth trick. When the diamonds failed to break, declarer threw in the towel.

South was guilty of two indiscretions. In playing the heart suit, proper technique is to cash a high honor and, if all hands follow, return to the closed hand with a spade, lead another heart and duck it into the East hand. This is to guard against West's holding four hearts, and in the present instance the recommended play would have enabled declarer to win five tricks in the suit.

South still had a chance to recover later on. When East shifted to the jack of diamonds and declarer covered with the queen, he should have permitted West's king to hold the trick. It was essential to guard North's entry card in the suit. If West leads another diamond, South wins with the ten in his hand, clears the hearts and still has the ace of diamonds to get back to the dummy. In all, he takes four hearts and two tricks in each of the other suits.

Society Plans Fall Bazaar

The Oldtown Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service voted to donate a gift offering to the White Cane Society, and formed circles to plan a fall bazaar. Mrs. Nettie Davis conducted the meeting Tuesday evening in the social hall. Mrs. Juanita Crabtree reported on the bake sale, held at the fishing rodeo. The proceeds are for the new church building fund. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Catherine Zapf and Mrs. Wayne Twigg.

Each circle will have a project for the bazaar. They are group 1, Mrs. Ella Alderton, Mrs. Juanita Crabtree, Mrs. Stella Crabtree, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Fay Duckworth, Mrs. Ruth Howard, Mrs. Louisa Haugh, Mrs. Lillie Confer, Mrs. Maudie Nixon; Group 2, Mrs. Marian Kinser, Mrs. Esther Keyser, Mrs. Una Landis, Mrs. Zapf, Mrs. Susie McFarland, Mrs. Vera Nixon, Mrs. Audrey Nethers; Group 3, Mrs. Polly Robertson, Mrs. Ethel Schaidt, Mrs. Elaine Santymire, Mrs. Arley Twigg, Mrs. Kathleen Summers, Mrs. Patricia Carder, Mrs. Gladys Twigg; Group 4, Mrs. Pearl Ginevan, Mrs. Emma Schaidt, Mrs. Evelyn Twigg, Mrs. Thelma Cook, Mrs. Grace Crabtree, Mrs. Rebecca Zimmerman, Mrs. Ruth Latham, Mrs. Mary Henry and Mrs. Mary Hager.

"World Neighbors" was the topic of devotionals, which included reading the hymn, "Thanks To God," the Scripture by Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Kinser. Poems, by Mrs. Zapf and Mrs. Wayne Twigg. Mrs. Summers spoke on "A Child's First World."

Following the Lord's Prayer, refreshments were served by Mrs. Irene Twigg and Mrs. Juanita Crabtree. Ten members and one guest, Tammy Reckley, Baltimore, attended. The next meeting will be August 6 at 8, in the church hall.

Older Youth 4-H Have Program

Members of the 4-H Older Youth Club decided to cash the club's bond at the meeting held recently in the extension office. At a later meeting it will be decided how to use the money.

Following the brief business session, conducted by Wesley Gordon, Joseph Minke, district Game warden, gave an illustrated talk. Entitled "Western Maryland Wonderland," it stressed the animals, wildflowers and trees of the area.

The next meeting will be August 7.

Twiggtown Club Plans Work Meeting

A work meeting and a family picnic were planned and a report was given on RWSC at the meeting of the Twiggtown Homemakers Club Saturday at the home of Mrs. Helen Wilson, Flintstone. The meeting opened with the group reading the club collect and saying the Lord's Prayer. Roll call was answered with hints for short cuts for work around the home.

The committee was chosen to plan and conduct a work meeting for members wishing to learn Swedish weaving. It consists of Mrs. Charles Frost, Mrs. Walter Bender, Mrs. Walter Stafford and Mrs. Guy Stonestreet.

Mrs. Bender reporting as a freshman at College Park, said it was much more inspirational, informative and fun than she could have imagined. She told of meeting and talking with other women, assemblies, music, vesper service, parties, special speakers, classes and the trip to Mt. Vernon. She reported the trend for fall clothing will be the "sport look" with leather used in belts and trimming. The shift dress is still popular. She also spoke of manufacturers and cleaners working towards a cloth that can be cleaned without change, especially knit and stretch materials. She also said attention is being given to clothes for older women who are potential consumers on the labor force. She said the homemaker should become adept in planning nutritious meals, get the most for her dollar and keep the calory count down because of the hazards of overweight.

Plans will be completed at the next meeting for a family picnic at the home of Mrs. Wade Rice, Brice Hollow Road, August 3. Others present were Mrs. Bernard Baker, Mrs. Mason Glover and a guest, Mrs. Franklin Norris. After the meeting refreshments were served.

Social Chart

The Ladies Auxiliary to Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion will formulate plans at the meeting tomorrow for a bazaar with the post. The meeting will begin at 8 at the post home.

Bedford Road Homemakers Club and friends will meet at the Crystal Laundry today at 10 a. m. for a tour of the laundry.

A patio party will be held by the Women's Sport Club tonight at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. Mrs. Nellie Nycum is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Loretta Haus and Miss Cathleen Diehl.

A bake sale will be held by the Mt. Pleasant WSCS today at 124½ Frederick Street, beginning at 10 a. m.

Easy Exercise Routines For Beautiful Legs

Legs that are young and slim won't necessarily stay that way if their owners do nothing about them. A girl who engages in sports which exercise the legs may depend on the muscle formation which results to keep her legs trim for quite a while, but not forever.

Legs must stay supple and firm to stay beautiful. Walking, and plenty of it, is an excellent means of keeping them that way, and now's the best time of the year to start a steady walking program.

A correct sitting posture also helps to avoid the flabbiness that spoils the shape of the legs. Watch it to make sure your legs don't flatten above the knees on your chair seat as you sit long hours at your job.

But women who have perfect leglines know they must count on constant exercise routines to keep them, and so must you. Whether your aim is toward correcting proportions or maintaining the refinement of curves your legs already have, these two do wonders:

1.Stand with one hand on a chair back. Snap your right leg up in front of you with the knee bent double. Kick forward sharply, then backward. Make it brisk, kick hard. Repeat to total of five times for the right leg, then five for the left. Now, for the next five kicks with each leg, increase speed. Slow the movement for the next double five, then speed again. Swing into a bracing rhythm.

2. Lie on your back on the floor and do the riding-a-bicycle stand-by. Boost your hips into the air and support them with your hands. Pedal as if you were pulling hard up a mountain, slowly steadily, and with all your might, twenty revolutions for each leg.

THE SCALE NEVER LIES—DARN IT! But what it says can be more pleasant if you start now on the idealizing program detailed in the handy pamphlet, "How Much Should You Weigh?" A copy of this program for figure-perfection can be yours for 10c when you enclose a stamped, return envelope along with your request addressed to John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper.

W. Md. WMU To Meet

Miss Judith Ohler will discuss her work at the morning session of the quarterly meeting of the Baptist Woman's Missionary Union of the Western Maryland Association, to be held tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. at Deep Creek Lake Baptist Church, Oakland.

A mission study institute will be held at the afternoon session. Miss Josephine Norwood, Baltimore, executive secretary of the Maryland Missionary Union, will lead the study of "Annie Armstrong."

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My heart aches for the young boy who wrote and said he was a chronic liar and didn't know how to stop. The poor lad said he never told lies that would hurt anybody. He just dreamed up stories to make himself seem more important or to make his hum-drum life seem more glamorous.

I was like that when I was a youngster and I took my problem to a wonderful clergyman. He "cured" me. Perhaps the same technique will work for him. Here it is:

When you hear yourself weaving one of those fabulous yarns bring the story to an abrupt end with a ridiculous phrase such as this: "And then I shot myself and died." Smile and add, "Beat that one if you can."

This is an easy way of saying, "It was all in fun and I didn't mean it."—EX-PREVARICATOR

DEAR EX: Thank you for the suggestion. It sounds workable and I hope the boy tries it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Erma is a dear friend of whom I am extremely fond. The standing joke about her in our crowd is that she was an 11-month baby and has been late ever since.

Erma lives near me. She doesn't drive but I do, so that means I pick her up several times a week. She's on of these disorganized people who, no matter how far ahead she plans, she can't seem to get herself together on time. I have sat out in front of her house for as long as 25 minutes chewing my fingernails. Each time I tell myself I am never going to pick her up again. But she is such a lovely person I can't bring myself to do it.

Last week we arrived at a funeral 20 minutes late. This week we missed the door prize drawings at the Ladies Aid. I don't remember the last time I heard a meeting called to order. I discussed the problem with my husband last night. He said, "This is one for Ann Landers." I agree with him. Can you help?

—NO NAILS NANCY

DEAR NO NAILS: Erma is not going to change unless she has to. And she doesn't have to so long as you continue to sit out in front and wait for her.

The day you tell her that you won't stop if she isn't out in front—then DO it—that will be the day when Erma pulls up her socks and gets herself ready on time. Until then—wear mittens.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I once read in your column that you thought it was perfectly all right for people to take home from restaurants the food they were unable to eat at the table. What do you think of the following?

We attended a beautiful wedding last week. The woman next to us had a large beaded handbag almost the size of a shopping bag. After the dinner was served she wrapped up the rolls and put them in her handbag. She then got herself four pieces of wedding cake, wrapped them in paper napkins and put them in the bag, "for the children."

Later in the evening when the dancing started, she dumped all the nuts into a plastic envelope which she had brought from home. Then she grabbed all the candy. The woman didn't leave one edible thing on that table.

When she noticed me looking at her she said, "I hate to waste anything." What is your opinion of this? —GOGGLE-EYED

DEAR GOGGLE: The woman had no right to clean up the table.

It would have been permissible for her to ask the hostess if she might take an extra piece of wedding cake or two for her children, but it was downright boorish to swarm all over the rolls, nuts and candy.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Loce Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Opening lead: Ten of ♣

In today's anecdote, South actually was presented with two chances to win the hand, but both times was found wanting.

In light of South's strong bidding, West was reluctant to make an aggressive opening lead, choosing instead to play the waiting game against the ultimate contract of three no trump. The more or less innocent lead of the ten of clubs was ducked into the closed hand and South won the trick with the jack.

Development of the heart suit was begun at once as declarer played the nine from his hand and permitted it to ride. East was in with the jack of hearts and in an effort to kill the dummy's side entry he shifted to the jack of diamonds. South covered with the queen, West with the king and the trick was won by dummy's ace.

The ace of hearts was cashed but, when East showed out, it was revealed that that suit would not run. South played the other high heart and then led a diamond to his ten. He continued with another diamond in an effort to establish the suit and set up his long card as a ninth trick. When the diamonds failed to break, declarer threw in the towel.

South was guilty of two indiscretions. In playing the heart suit, proper technique is to cash a high honor and, if all hands follow, return to the closed hand with a spade, lead another heart and duck it into the East hand. This is to guard against West's holding four hearts, and in the present instance the recommended play would have enabled declarer to win five tricks in the suit.

South still had a chance to recover later on. When East shifted to the jack of diamonds and declarer covered with the queen, he should have permitted West's king to hold the trick. It was essential to guard North's entry card in the suit. If West leads another diamond, South wins with the ten in his hand, clears the hearts and still has the ace of diamonds to get back to the dummy. In all, he takes four hearts and two tricks in each of the other suits.

LaVale To Join City Sewer System

The LaVale Sanitary Commission has accepted the latest proposal by the City of Cumberland for the use of the city's sewage treatment plant, Chester A. Fisher, commission chairman, said yesterday.

The acceptance of the city's offer marks the end of two years of discussion and counter-offers by the Mayor and Council.

Basically, the residents of the LaVale Sanitary District will, under the contract, share with city dwellers the cost of operating its sewage treatment plant, and also share in paying off bonded indebtedness still remaining on the plant.

Each of these cost figures will have a ten per cent override going to the city, Fisher explained.

This will cover additional costs that may come up from LaVale's use of the plant.

For instance, LaVale will hook on the city's sewage system at Franklin and North Mecahnic streets.

The ten per cent, he added, would pay for such costs as enlarging or repairing sewers.

The contract that will be prepared, Fisher pointed out, will call for LaVale to share the cost of operating the treatment plant on the basis of actual use by LaVale residents.

The bond amortization will be on the basis of actual use as compared to the total capacity of the plant.

The contract will be for 20 years, the chairman added, and LaVale will have the privilege of two ten-year renewals.

The State Health Department has the LaVale Sanitary Commission under orders to provide the expanding community with a sewage system and treatment facilities.

Whitman, Requardt and Associates, Baltimore consulting engineers, over two years ago informed the commission that there were two methods of achieving the latter—building its own treatment plant or hooking onto the city's system and using its plant which was designed for use by a population of 70,000 people.

Ground survey crews have been working for many months in LaVale getting ready for plans for a central sewage system.

Fire Damages Tavern In Grantsville

Fire early yesterday at Fay's Tavern in the former old First National Bank building at Grantsville caused $10,000 damage and resulted in the evacuation of one person from an overhead apartment.

Henry L. Durst, Chief of Grantsville Volunteer Fire Company, said a short circuit in a cooler apparently caused the blaze. Smoke caused most of the damage.

Bartender Joseph Westcoat, who resides in quarters above the tavern, was overcome by dense smoke. Firemen used a ladder to evacuate him from the second floor.

Durst suffered an arm laceration from broken glass while fighting the flames, and later received first aid treatment at home.

The alarm sounded at 1:30 a.m. Eighteen firemen and three pieces of equipment went to the scene and remained there for nearly two hours.

Reunion To Be Planned

Members of the Class of 1956 of Fort Hill High School will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at Shaw's Restaurant, Oldtown Road, to complete plans for a reunion, according to Ronald F. 'Pete' Rice, class president.

NATIONAL SPEAKER—L. E. Erickson, 519 Washington Street, manager of sales personnel and training for the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, will address the National Society of Sales Training Executives at Mackinac Island, Mich., Monday. Selected in 1960 as one of the 110 active members of the society comprised of sales training directors of leading firms, he will be in charge of one section of the program and will speak on "Manpower Procurement."

8 Girls Seek Beauty Title

Eight young girls will compete for the title of "Miss Bowman's Addition" to be decided at a beauty contest Tuesday, July 16.

Mrs. Betty Metty, general chairman, and Mrs. Evelyn Kerns, co-chairman, said the contest will be held in the Bowman's Addition Fire Hall beginning at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Metty said a panel of judges has been selected for the contest.

The winner will be honored during the firemen's annual festival scheduled July 15-20. The festival will be climaxed with a parade July 20.

Contestants include Betty Izzett, Dorothy Schriver, Carol Robertson, Barbara Schaidt, Fay White, Barbara Michaels, Joan Clem and Cindy Mease.

Youths Plead Guilty In Dynamiting, Theft Cases

Eight Lonaconing area youths were ordered committed to the Allegany County Jail today pending pre-sentence investigations by the county parole officer.

The group was tried before Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey on charges resulting from the theft of dynamite and the dynamiting of a pumping station at Dan's Mountain State Park near Lonaconing.

Four of the group, Kenneth G. Matthews, 17, Harry William Lease, 17, John L. Beeman, 18, and Roy Galen Spiker, 18, were charged with malicious destruction of public property by use of dynamite.

Another, John David Lease, 16, was charged with three counts of breaking and entering at Turnbull's Mine, Callmine's Shoe Store and Gardner's Mine.

Three others, John E. Martin, Paul R. Brennan and James R. Brennan, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and theft and attempted breaking and entering. They also were committed to jail pending pre-sentence investigation.

James S. Getty, state's attorney, and Donald W. Mason, deputy state's attorney, presented cases for the state. Attorney Paul W. Barnett and Attorney Noel Speir Cook were court-appointed council for the defendents.

All eight youths entered guilty pleas.

In presenting the case, State's Attorney Getty pointed out the seriousness of the dynamiting charges and noted that residents of the Georges Creek area were "so terrorized they were afraid to leave their homes."

The state's attorney noted: "Although the dollar and cents value involved in these cases is minor, the chances for the possible loss of life were extremely great. In the cases of the dynamiting the youths would set the blasts and then leave the scene. Anyone could have entered the area and have been blown to bits."

Barnett gave a brief review of each defendant's educational background, noting that only one has more than a ninth grade education.

Today a Garrett County man, Carlton H. Hinebaugh, about 36, who is serving a sentence in the Maryland House of Correction, will be given a hearing in the local court on a charge of assault with intent to rape.

Fred A. Thayer, Garrett County state's attorney, said Hinebaugh was indicted by a special term of the Garrett County grand jury on a charge of assault with intent to rape a 29-year-old woman at her home near Oakland.

Thayer said that in January of this year Hinebaugh was convicted and sentenced to two years in the House of Correction on another criminal charge involving a 17-year-old girl.

Lewis R. Jones, Oakland, and William Walsh, Cumberland, are the court-appointed attorneys in the case.

Today a Garrett County man, Carlton H. Hinebaugh, about 36, who is serving a sentence in the Maryland House of Correction, will be given a hearing in the local court on a charge of assault with intent to rape.

Fred A. Thayer, Garrett County state's attorney, said Hinebaugh was indicted by a special term of the Garrett County grand jury on a charge of assault with intent to rape a 29-year-old woman at her home near Oakland.

Thayer said that in January of this year Hinebaugh was convicted and sentenced to two years in the House of Correction on another criminal charge involving a 17-year-old girl.

Lewis R. Jones, Oakland, and William Walsh, Cumberland, are the court-appointed attorneys in the case.

If you're like most Americans, you probably intend to use your Savings Bonds as a down payment on a house, to help send a child to college or otherwise upgrade your standard of living.

You don't need to feel one whit less patriotic because of this.

The fact that you and tens of millions of other Americans buy and hold U.S. Savings Bonds helps Uncle Sam manage his financial affairs better and puts him in a position to be a stronger voice and a stronger power in the free world.

And the fact that you and these other millions of Americans have accumulated the savings you have —46 billions in E and H Savings Bonds alone—is one of the reasons why Americans are financially strong and reliant. And their individual strength is the strength of the nation.

When the communists make one of their favorite statements—that they're going to "bury us" economically—your savings and your support of your country are mighty powerful answers. Keep building both with U.S. Savings Bonds.

Quick facts about U. S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity
- You can get your money anytime
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed, or stolen
- You can save automatically on Payroll Savings

Finnigan's Hollywood

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Tony Randall is one actor you can't call two-faced. He's got eight: Seven for a movie role and one he wears home after work.

If Tony went home wearing one of his movie faces, Mrs. Randall probably wouldn't let him in. Even Tony isn't quite sure who he is much of the time.

Hollywood has had many faceless men. Some were real and others were make-believe actors who hid behind masks as they practiced skullduggery. But Tony outdoes them all, running around frantically changing his description for the movie "Seven Faces of Dr. Lao."

"I play seven parts but wear only six faces," said Tony. "My other 'face' is a snake. I'm the snake's voice."

Randall's seven characterizations include the Chinese Dr. Lao, Merlin the Magician, Appolonius (a Greek prophet), an abominable snowman, a mythological lady named Medusa, a sea serpent and a character who is half man, half goat.

"These are creatures in a circus and are projections of Dr. Lao's personality," he said. "It is based on a wonderful book, 'The Circus of Dr. Lao.' It came out in 1935 and has had a small but devoted band of readers ever since."

Tony spends hours in front of mirrors while makeup men and women shave his head, clip off his eyebrows, slant his eyes, change his ears, nose and mouth.

"It takes almost two hours a day to put on a face," he said. "We've only done tests so far. Once the cameras start rolling I hope I don't have to put on more than one face a day. The different parts of my face are glued on, and it can be painful."

Randall's head was shaved for the role. Whatever hair is on his noggin in the picture will come from Metro - Goldwyn-Mayer studios' wig department.

"Not only do I wear different faces," he said, "I also have wigs and different bodies. As the Medusa I'm a lady. I'll wear hooves as the goat character. I really leaped at this part. It's an actor's dream."

Actor's dreams, like anybody else's, can turn into nightmares. Even Tony admits he has problems with the different faces. Friends who would ordinarily say hello walk by Randall without a glimmer of recognition.

"I had to buy a hat to cover up my bald head," Tony said. "And if I go out I'm going to draw on eyebrows. There's no expression on my face without eyebrows. I look like a baby. If I went to restaurant some waiter might serve me as a honeydew."

Besides the social disadvantages of having no hair on head and eyebrows, Randall must contend with a layoff between movies.

"I'm supposed to make another picture after this," he concluded. "But I won't be able to work until my hair grows back."

Wheels Parade Set

The Centre Street Playground will hold a "wheels on parade" show at 6:30 p. m.

A teenage dance will begin at 8 p. m. and refreshments will be available.

Winners of the playground's pet show held last week were David Miller, largest; James Martin, smallest; Ricky Shober, most unusual; Frederick Cook, best groomed. These children will represent the playlot in the intra-city pet show scheduled tomorrow.

Clinic Postponed

The child hygiene clinic scheduled this week at Northeast School has been postponed to Thursday, July 18, at 8:30 a. m. Dr. Robert Brodell will be the attending physician assisted by Mrs. Nellie Taylor.

The Indonesian language contains many words from Sanskrit, Dutch and Arabic, although it is basically Malayan in content.

SRC Rejects Black Valley Bridge Bids

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners were notified yesterday by the State Roads Commission that all bids on the construction of a new bridge in Black Valley and about 1,000 feet of approach roadway have been rejected.

The SRC said that new bids will be asked in the near future. The project is being handled by the SRC for the county as the work is under a federal aid matching fund plan.

The bridge will have two concrete spans.

A number of complaints have been received on dust conditions on unpaved county roads. Mrs. John Tressler Jr., Wagner Road, asked that something be done about the dust condition. A group of persons from the old Oldtown Road, which runs off Route 51 near the Millstone area, appeared to ask that something be done to alleviate the dust conditions and also the removal of several sharp curves.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conway, Wilson Road, also wrote concerning the dust problem.

The distributor which the county purchased recently for approximately $5,000 has arrived at the county garage on Franklin Street and is expected to be in service within a few days.

O. B. Bucklew, McCoole, wrote the board to report that a ditch and drain pipe near his home is causing water to flow onto his property.

County Alters Provision For Overtime Pay

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners have passed a resolution under which the overtime pay provision of county employes is affected.

Overtime will be paid only for time worked after 40 hours per week. The repeal of the old regulation in the Classified Service paid county workers in the Court House after 32½ hours work.

All department heads and the superintendents of the institutions are not entitled to overtime pay. The county engineer and clerk to the county commissioners are also in this category

Department heads are instructed that overtime shall be the exception instead of the rule and it shall be kept at the absolute minimum, according to the new regulation. It is contemplated that all salaried employes shall first be given approval for overtime pay from department heads, after such permission is obtained from the county board.

Methodist Vacation School To Open

Registration for the annual vacation Church School at Centre Street Methodist Church will be held Friday, at 9:30 a. m.

Mrs. George F. Becker, director, said a full session will be held that day, from 9:30 a. m. to noon, and that similar sessions will be held July 15 through July 19. The theme will be "Widening Relationships."

Mrs. Robert Ritter will be in charge of the kindergarten group, assisted by Mrs. Kenneth M. Rinehart, Mrs. William F. Heinrich and Lynn Inskeep. The primary department will be taught by Mrs. Robert L. Spriggs, Mrs. William A. Sykes, Mrs. Walter Frederick Jr., Mrs. W. Cletus Hartsock and Jane Nicklin.

Heading the junior staff is Mrs. Ralph Hoelzer, who will be assisted by Mrs. Sidney A. Staggs, Mrs. Jack Ault and Mrs. Charles Drew.

Also assisting in conducting the school will be Gwen Inskeep, Gary Spriggs, Robert Fields and Marjorie Crist.

The school will be open to children from kindergarten through church school sixth grade age.

Railroader Injured

Walter W. Rummer, Wiley Ford, is a patient in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted after being injured Saturday night while working for the Western Maryland Railway at Green Spring.

Bridge Is Closed

The No. 2 bridge on Proenty Road crossing Jennings Run in the Corriganville area, will be closed through Friday for repairs, the County Roads Department announced.

Labor Council To Meet

The Western Maryland Central Labor Council will meet today at 7:30 p. m. at the Labor Temple, South Liberty Street.

21 Accidents Reported Over Long Weekend

The long Fourth of July holiday weekend came to an official end at 10 a. m. Monday and statistics on highway mishaps were released yesterday by the LaVale Barracks of Maryland State Police.

There were 21 accidents, of which one involved a fatality. That was the bicycle-truck accident Friday that killed David G. Werner, 9, Cresaptown, on Route 220 in that community.

Mishaps involving personal injuries totaled six, with nine persons being hurt in them. Property damage accidents totaled 14.

All of the troopers assigned to the barracks were on patrol during the period and they arrested 148 motorists and gave warnings to 456 persons.

The State Policemen in Garrett and Allegany counties logged up 1,474 hours of patrolling and covered 18,645 miles.

Special assignment hours, such as the dispatching of some troopers to Cambridge, accounted for 216 additional hours during the weekend that started at noon, Wednesday, July 3, and ended Monday at 10 a. m.

Allegany County's single fatality was included in the nine accidental deaths in the state—seven traffic fatalities and two drownings.

The state traffic fatalities raised the Maryland toll to 287, compared to 269 for the first six months in 1962.

A check of Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford and Everett showed that traffic was unusually heavy during the holiday period, but there were only a few "fender benders."

The only drowning during the holiday in the area occurred in the South Branch near Moorefield when on the Fourth, Mrs. M. L. Pinson, 62, of Fairmont, was swept from her boat into the swollen river.

Fort Hill Class Meeting Tomorrow

Members of the 1953 graduating class of Fort Hill High School will meet Thursday at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Carole Jackson Jones, Willowbrook Road.

Members of the class planning to attend should meet in front of the high school at 7:45 p. m. and proceed to Mrs. Jones' home. Transportation will be provided.

The group will continue making arrangements for its tenth reunion to be held August 17 at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Army Engineers Plan Potomac Hearing

A public hearing on the Potomac River Basin Report of the Corps of Army Engineers will be held by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors Wednesday, September 4, in the Departmental Auditorium Constitution Avenue, between 12th and 14th Streets, N.W., Washington.

The report on water and related land resources development of the Potomac River Basin was prepared by the District Engineer at Baltimore and the Division Engineer for the North Atlantic area in New York, with the cooperation of many federal, state and local agencies.

The board invites all interested parties to the hearing, whether in favor or opposed to the plan recommended.

It specifically asked for any new information bearing on the recommendations of the report, and especially any new information directly related to the engineering and economic aspects of the projects considered.

Expressions given at the many hearings held in the past year should not be repeated as the board has copies of transcripts of all information previously given.

Those wishing to be heard should prepare their material in writing in four copies to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors. Then at the hearing, only a brief oral summary may be made.

These copies should be mailed to the board, Tempe C Building, Second and Q Streets, S. W., Washington, 25, D. C.

The lengthy report of the Army Engineers may be at the Allegany County Library, the Westernport Public Library, the Keyser-Mineral County Public Library, Moorefield.

The report may not be loaned out, but copies may be purchased from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, 25, D. C.

Playlot Talent Show Today

A talent show has been scheduled for today at 7 p. m., at Pine Avenue Playground in conjunction with the city-wide playground talent competition.

Cash prizes will be awarded for first, second and third place winners, and all contestants will receive a small gift, it was announced by playground leaders.

The winner will represent Pine Avenue in the intra-city talent show at Constitution Park July 25. Marcellus Wells, last year's playlot winner, will entertain during Wednesday's judging period.

Thursday at 10 a. m., the girls softball team will play Jane Frazier Village at Fort Hill High School field, and at 1:30 p. m., a craft class is scheduled for the making of sawdust molds and pot holders.

The playlot newspaper staff will meet Friday at 1 p. m., and the Teen Club will meet at 6 p. m.

Winners in this week's Pet Show were Pamela Ashby, largest; Darlene Peck, smallest; Woodrow Gordon Jr., best groomed; Sonnie Cooper, most unusual; and Joseph Simms, best costumed.

Winners' pets will be entered in intra-city competition tomorrow, 6 p. m., at Constitution Park.

Members of the 1953 graduating class of Fort Hill High School will meet Thursday at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Carole Jackson Jones, Willowbrook Road.

Members of the class planning to attend should meet in front of the high school at 7:45 p. m. and proceed to Mrs. Jones' home. Transportation will be provided.

The group will continue making arrangements for its tenth reunion to be held August 17 at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Army Engineers Plan Potomac Hearing

A public hearing on the Potomac River Basin Report of the Corps of Army Engineers will be held by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors Wednesday, September 4, in the Departmental Auditorium Constitution Avenue, between 12th and 14th Streets, N.W., Washington.

The report on water and related land resources development of the Potomac River Basin was prepared by the District Engineer at Baltimore and the Division Engineer for the North Atlantic area in New York, with the cooperation of many federal, state and local agencies.

The board invites all interested parties to the hearing, whether in favor or opposed to the plan recommended.

It specifically asked for any new information bearing on the recommendations of the report, and especially any new information directly related to the engineering and economic aspects of the projects considered.

Expressions given at the many hearings held in the past year should not be repeated as the board has copies of transcripts of all information previously given.

Those wishing to be heard should prepare their material in writing in four copies to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors. Then at the hearing, only a brief oral summary may be made.

These copies should be mailed to the board, Tempe C Building, Second and Q Streets, S. W., Washington, 25, D. C.

The lengthy report of the Army Engineers may be at the Allegany County Library, the Westernport Public Library, the Keyser-Mineral County Public Library, Moorefield.

The report may not be loaned out, but copies may be purchased from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, 25, D. C.

Playlot Talent Show Today

A talent show has been scheduled for today at 7 p. m., at Pine Avenue Playground in conjunction with the city-wide playground talent competition.

Cash prizes will be awarded for first, second and third place winners, and all contestants will receive a small gift, it was announced by playground leaders.

The winner will represent Pine Avenue in the intra-city talent show at Constitution Park July 25. Marcellus Wells, last year's playlot winner, will entertain during Wednesday's judging period.

Thursday at 10 a. m., the girls softball team will play Jane Frazier Village at Fort Hill High School field, and at 1:30 p. m., a craft class is scheduled for the making of sawdust molds and pot holders.

The playlot newspaper staff will meet Friday at 1 p. m., and the Teen Club will meet at 6 p. m.

Winners in this week's Pet Show were Pamela Ashby, largest; Darlene Peck, smallest; Woodrow Gordon Jr., best groomed; Sonnie Cooper, most unusual; and Joseph Simms, best costumed.

Winners' pets will be entered in intra-city competition tomorrow, 6 p. m., at Constitution Park.

Westernport Planners To Meet Thursday

Study Groups For Projects To Be Selected

WESTERNPORT — The Westernport Planning Commission has inaugurated four committee projects for study, and ocmmittees are being formed to complete surveys and make recommendations intended to lead to vast city and civic improvement.

Members of the commission will serve ex-officio on the committees of their choice. They are: Central business, Maurice Brundige; capital improvements and public facilities, Alvin Pence; transportation and traffic, John Potter; land use and building, Rev. Henry G. Laube.

Chairman Okey Michael stated at a recent meeting that a number of civic-minded citizens will be appointed to work on the committees.

Commission members will meet this Thursday at 8 p. m. in the town building to discuss appointments before announcing committee heads.

William Stubee and Bernard Freese, representatives of Harland Bartholomew and Associates, spoke briefly. The former has accepted a position with John Paul Warnacke, Inc., a firm of architects. He will work on development planning at the new Naval Academy.

Freese, who has worked closely with Stubee in preliminary studies of Westernport and shares all data compiled in the past year, will replace him as planning consultant for the town. He outlined objectives of projects which include improvements for the business section, capital improvements such as parks, schools, library and recreation, traffic patterns, streets, highways and parking facilities, zoning, codes, controls and annexation.

In describing the duties of future committee appointees, Freese stressed intensive study of preliminary reports, discussion with people of the community, and analyzing the thoughts and ideas of others.

New members of the project committees will meet July 25 at 8 p. m. The commission will meet August 1.

To Attend Meeting

FROSTBURG — Frank Powers, service officer of Farrady Post 24, American Legion, will attend a meeting of the Maryland Veterans Commission in Baltimore on Wednesday.

50-Star Flag Presentation

Cooperative Meets Aug. 21 At Lonaconing

LONACONING—The local Southern States Cooperative annual membership meeting for the Lonaconing area will be held August 21 at 7 p. m. in the VFW home.

This decision was made by local farmer-members at a recent annual meeting planning conference held by Clise Septic Tank and Building Supply Company, a local Southern States Agency.

Special features of this year's session will be the celebration of the 40th anniversary of Southern States Cooperative and the showing of color slides of local farmers taken with their own enterprises. There will also be reports on Southern States Cooperative and the local Agency operations for the fiscal year, which ends June 30.

In addition, there will be special recognition of board and former board members plus present and former farm home advisory committee members.

The annual meeting will also feature elections and other business matters. Members will elect two new board members and two new farm home advisory committee members. There will also be the election of a delegate and alternate to attend a district election meeting in Clarksburg this fall.

Piedmont Stages Dance, Concert

PIEDMONT—In observance of the West Virginia Centennial, a street dance will be held tonight at 8:30 on the Number 2 parking lot with Les Clifford's orchestra providing the music.

This is the second street dance, marking a series of events leading up to the Centennial Weeks of August 19-31.

The Lonaconing City Band will present a concert Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in front of St. Ann's Hotel, Second Street.

The centennial festivities are sponsored by the Tri-Towns Community Council with Richard Smith acting as chairman.

The WSCS agreed to purchase a new refrigerator for the church and a committee was named.

It was also decided to honor the society's oldest member, Mrs. Jessie Green who will be 90 on August 13.

Mrs. Katie Loar led the discussion on the study topic, "Our Neighbors" and devotions featured scripture reading and hymns. Mrs. Edith Crowe and Mrs. Martha Hotchkiss served refreshments during the social hour.

Keyser Council Organizes For Two-Year Term

KEYSER, W. Va. — Mayor Harland D. Ridder, who was elected to a two-year term last month, has announced several appoints to various positions.

At the first meeting of the new administration, another new member of the voting council was Edward Daskal, also elected to a two-year term.

Daskal was appointed by Ridder to the post of water commissioner, succeeding Raymond L. Murray, who did not seek re-election this year after serving 10 of the past 12 years.

Lester H. Oates was re-appointed commissioner of streets and sewers and Paul D. Peters will continue in the capacity of finance commissioner. Peters also had been serving as acting mayor, taking that post following the resignation of Richard E. Romig several months ago when he moved outside the corporate limits.

C. F. Rice Sr. was re-named city clerk and police judge, posts he has held for a number of years.

Ralph M. Marsh, who was named chief of police two years ago by Romig, was re-appointed to that position by Ridder who has charge of the Police Department.

Named to serve as city attorney was Charles W. Smith. Dr. T. T. Huffman will serve in the capacity of city health officer.

Daskal was a member of the Keyser Housing Authority but resigned when elected to council. The city governing body later will name a member to take his place.

Ridder was serving on the Keyser Civil Service Board and he resigned when assuming the post of mayor. N. Howard Rogers, who is living outside the corporate limits, no longer is on the body. Kermit Parish will fill one vacancy with another to be filled later. Roy Davidson is the third member of the group.

Council approved a resolution which assures that funds will be available for street improvements in the Potomac Heights area in conjunction with the housing project. The city will put up $17,200 when the time comes to match federal funds in that amount.

Town Officials Air Contract With Engineer

Piedmont Mayor Wants Action On Sewage Projects

PIEDMONT, W. Va. — Termination of a contract between the Town of Piedmont and the firm of Robert T. Regester, consultant engineers, has been under discussion by the Mayor and Town Council.

At a recent meeting of the council the question was discussed at some length.

The consultants were hired to conduct engineering surveys for the installation of interceptor sewers which would link the town's sewer system with the waste treatment plant below Westernport. In addition, the firm holds the inspection contract for the construction.

Mayor Donald Mellor pointed out that engineering has been completed by the firm but necessary reports have not been completed although they have been requested numerous times by municipal officials. The mayor felt that the consultants are not expediting the work necessary for the start of sewer construction. He also pointed out that the various delays have resulted in a financial loss to the city in that the collection of sewage fees have been delayed.

Council members agreed to have Charles W. Smith of Keyser, town attorney, investigate the possibility of terminating the contract with the Regester firm.

Officials were informed that the intake sewer at the intersection of Gocke and East Hampshire Streets will be replaced by the State Road Commission which is now replacing the wall along East Hampshire Street. Previous SRC plans did not call for replacing the sewer and council felt that without the sewer surface water would flow down the sidewalk from Gocke Street to Childs Avenue.

A report revealed that the approach to the Luke bridge on West Fairview Street, which was in disrepair, has been renewed by workmen. Concrete has been poured on the sidewalk and the railing which was broken has been repaired and repainted.

Council commended local residents for their cooperation in the current drive to improve the appearance of the community. The mayor pointed out that numerous residents have improved their residential properties, but cited the need for improvements in the downtown section. He added, however, that several property owners in the business section have repaired their sidewalks or are planning repairs.

Farrady Unit Legion Holds Annual Election

FROSTBURG — Farrady Unit 24, American Legion, elected Margaret Hess as president for the year 1963-64 a recent evening. Other officers elected are Ruth Ferree, first vice-president; Marie Cosgrove, second vice-president; Angela Jackson, chaplain; Rita McKay, treasurer; Genevieve Goldsworthy, historian; Ida Grable, sergeant-at-arms; Hilda Lewis and Ruth Michaels, color bearers.

Delegates and alternates elected to attend the State Convention to be held in Baltimore this month are Margaret Hess, Rita McKay, Flora Lowery, Ida Grable, Idella Stevens, Marie Cosgrove and Ruth Ferree, and Blanche Festerman.

Delegates-at-large are Angela Jackson and Helen Blocher.

Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Hess, Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Ferree attended the district meeting in Cresaptown recently at which time Farrady Unit was one of several units who received an award for reaching their membership quota.

Following the business portion, Patricia Turner who was sponsored by the Unit to Girls State reported on the activities there. Mrs. Pauline Turner was also a guest for the evening.

Refreshments were served.

Keyser Council Organizes For Two-Year Term

KEYSER, W. Va. — Mayor Harland D. Ridder, who was elected to a two-year term last month, has announced several appoints to various positions.

At the first meeting of the new administration, another new member of the voting council was Edward Daskal, also elected to a two-year term.

Daskal was appointed by Ridder to the post of water commissioner, succeeding Raymond L. Murray, who did not seek reelection this year after serving 10 of the past 12 years.

Lester H. Oates was re-appointed commissioner of streets and sewers and Paul D. Peters will continue in the capacity of finance commissioner. Peters also had been serving as acting mayor, taking that post following the resignation of Richard E. Romig several months ago when he moved outside the corporate limits.

C. F. Rice Sr. was re-named city clerk and police judge, posts he has held for a number of years.

Ralph M. Marsh, who was named chief of police two years ago by Romig, was re-appointed to that position by Ridder who has charge of the Police Department.

Named to serve as city attorney was Charles W. Smith. Dr. T. T. Huffman will serve in the capacity of city health officer.

Daskal was a member of the Keyser Housing Authority but resigned when elected to council. The city governing body later will name a member to take his place.

Ridder was serving on the Keyser Civil Service Board and he resigned when assuming the post of mayor. N. Howard Rogers, who is living outside the corporate limits, no longer is on the body. Kermit Parish will fill one vacancy with another to be filled later. Roy Davidson is the third member of the group.

Council approved a resolution which assures that funds will be available for street improvements in the Potomac Heights area in conjunction with the housing project. The city will put up $17,200 when the time comes to match federal funds in that amount.

Town Officials Air Contract With Engineer

Piedmont Mayor Wants Action On Sewage Projects

PIEDMONT, W. Va. — Termination of a contract between the Town of Piedmont and the firm of Robert T. Regester, consultant engineers, has been under discussion by the Mayor and Town Council.

At a recent meeting of the council the question was discussed at some length.

The consultants were hired to conduct engineering surveys for the installation of interceptor sewers which would link the town's sewer system with the waste treatment plant below Westernport. In addition, the firm holds the inspection contract for the construction.

Mayor Donald Mellor pointed out that engineering has been completed by the firm but necessary reports have not been completed although they have been requested numerous times by municipal officials. The mayor felt that the consultants are not expediting the work necessary for the start of sewer construction. He also pointed out that the various delays have resulted in a financial loss to the city in that the collection of sewage fees have been delayed.

Council members agreed to have Charles W. Smith of Keyser, town attorney, investigate the possibility of terminating the contract with the Regester firm.

Officials were informed that the intake sewer at the intersection of Gocke and East Hampshire Streets will be replaced by the State Road Commission which is now replacing the wall along East Hampshire Street. Previous SRC plans did not call for replacing the sewer and council felt that without the sewer surface water would flow down the sidewalk from Gocke Street to Childs Avenue.

A report revealed that the approach to the Luke bridge on West Fairview Street, which was in disrepair, has been renewed by workmen. Concrete has been poured on the sidewalk and the railing which was broken has been repaired and repainted.

Council commended local residents for their cooperation in the current drive to improve the appearance of the community. The mayor pointed out that numerous residents have improved their residential properties, but cited the need for improvements in the downtown section. He added, however, that several property owners in the business section have repaired their sidewalks or are planning repairs.

Farrady Unit Legion Holds Annual Election

FROSTBURG — Farrady Unit 24, American Legion, elected Margaret Hess as president for the year 1963-64 a recent evening. Other officers elected are Ruth Ferree, first vice-president; Marie Cosgrove, second vice-president; Angela Jackson, chaplain; Rita McKay, treasurer; Genevieve Goldsworthy, historian; Ida Grable, sergeant-at-arms; Hilda Lewis and Ruth Michaels, color bearers.

Delegates and alternates elected to attend the State Convention to be held in Baltimore this month are Margaret Hess, Rita McKay, Flora Lowery, Ida Grable, Idella Stevens, Marie Cosgrove and Ruth Ferree, and Blanche Festerman.

Delegates-at-large are Angela Jackson and Helen Blocher.

Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Hess, Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Ferree attended the district meeting in Cresaptown recently at which time Farrady Unit was one of several units who received an award for reaching their membership quota.

Following the business portion, Patricia Turner who was sponsored by the Unit to Girls State reported on the activities there. Mrs. Pauline Turner was also a guest for the evening.

Refreshments were served.

Garrett Co. Annual Fair To Be Held August 6-10

OAKLAND — The seventh annual Garrett County Agricultural Fair will be held August 6-10 at McHenry. Officers and members of the board of directors are meeting weekly in an effort to make this year tops for activities and attendance.

It was just 50 years ago in October, 1913, that the first county fair was held. The event has not been continuous but the present series is in its seventh year and has become a natural successor to the original fair.

Heading the first fair organization were R. E. Sliger, president; Stephen Casteel, vice president, and J. D. Hamill, secretary-treasurer. Directors were Mrs. E. Z. Tower, A. D. Naylor and Wade H. Hinebaugh. L. A. Rudisill was named advertising agent.

The fair was held in the three-story Third Street building owned by Luther Brown. Later the structure was purchased by A. D. Naylor and, when razed last year, was known as the Naylor building. The first year's event ended with proceeds of $1,500 and expenditures of $1,250.

Only a few changes have been made in the 1963 schedule of events. August 5 is the day for setting up exhibits and commercial displays. August 6 will be "Farm Bureau Day," with pony judging that day.

Indoor exhibits will be judged August 7 with boys' poultry judging, 4-H and FFA dairy judging, dairy senior judging, boys' dairy judging, ponies and horses, and pet and horse shows.

August 8 has been set aside for 4-H and FFA senior beef judging, sheep and swine, beef and the first of two parades, the farmers march at 6:30 p. m.

A tractor contest and commercial parade will be held August 9.

A horse pulling contest and 4-H demonstrations are scheduled for August 10. The Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club is arranging for a chicken barbecue dinner August 8-9. The Oakland Rotary Club will have its French fry stand and other organizations may set up booths.

There will be a free aerial act each afternoon and evening. Harry P. Collier is in charge of parades. Prizes for each class will total $20 for first, $15 second, $10 third and $5 fourth.

Premium books will be distributed within the next two weeks.

Committee chairmen include the following: James McHenry, premiums; Harland Bowman, grounds; J. J. Brenneman, carnival; Walter C. DeBerry, commercial exhibits; Mrs. John Menges, advertising; Harry P. Collier, premium books; Mrs. Mildred Hoffman, publicity; H. G. Gortner, program; Harry P. Collier, parades; John J. Brenneman, amusement and water; Charles Bowman, water assistant; H. G. Gortner, electric, and Arthur Fitzwater, assistant; Allen S. Paugh, finance; Baity Ridder, budget; William Umbel, parking; Hubert Friend, ticket sellers; D. W. Klotz, gates; Charles Wilt, gate assistant; Mrs. O. C. Glotfelty, decoration; Mrs. Bruce Folk, exhibit buildings; Gerald Glotfelty, horse pulling contest, and Robert L. Glotfelty, tractor pulling contest.

Rehearsals Begin For Big Keyser Review

Centennial Program To Be Staged In College Stadium

KEYSER — Rehearsals are curects for study, and committees "Centennial Review" which will be presented in the stadium at Potomac State College August 20, 21 and 22.

The colorful program of music and dance is being written and choreographed by Nina and Emmett Oldfield of Romney with Mrs. E. E. Church, of Keyser, serving as director of the musical numbers and accompanist.

Coordinators for the outdoor pageant will be Thomas J. Conlon and Mrs. Mary Evelyn Coffman, who have already announced some of the committees but plan to reveal others as they are organized and the work gets underway.

Choruses for both men and women will be used in several of the specialty numbers. The men's group will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Elks Home for another rehearsal. Meanwhile an effort is being made to organize a girls' chorus for another specialty routine. Those interested in participating should contact either Mrs. Church or Conlon. They, in turn, will be notified of rehearsal dates.

Joseph Stanislawczyk, county centennial chairman, with the supervision of Oldfield, is in charge of the staging. Lighting will be arranged by Albert Willhide of the college maintenance staff, and sound will be under the supervision of Joseph Altobello.

Costumes are being executed and secured under the supervision of Mrs. Elizabeth Hanlin, assisted by Mrs. Margaret Stanislawczyk and Mrs. Inez Tate. Members of the Soroptimist Club will serve as wardrobe mistresses and assist the dancers and other participants in costume changes.

Tickets will go on sale in the near future with a section of reserved seats being available for each night of the show. The musical review, planned as a salute to both Mineral county and the City of Keyser, will be followed each night by a fireworks display.

The final performance on August 22 will also be the opening program for the firemen's convention

Bible School Closes Today

WESTERNPORT — Commencement exercises of this year's Vacation Bible School at the Stony Run Chapel will take place at 3 p.m. today.

Handicraft displays will be out by 2:30 p.m. All parents are being urged to attend the exercises.

New Creek Firemen Install Officers

NEW CREEK, W. Va. — The New Creek Volunteer Fire Company, one of the youngest units in the area, has installed officers for the new fiscal year which began July 1. The new officers will serve until next June 30.

The president is Roland Henderson. David Whetzel is vice president; Jack Gambini, secretary; Coyd Yost, financial secretary-treasurer.

Howard Melman is fire chief with Darwin Hartman installed as assistant chief. William Helman is chief engineer; Robert Helmick, first assistant; Ernest Workman, second assistant; William Devers. captain; John Workman, first assistant; Robert Crites, second assistant; Thomas Forebeck is chaplain and the new trustee, to serve a three-year term is James Berg.

This week the company will begin its semi-annual fund raising drive. Coin cards will be distributed to homes in the New Creek area. Funds are urgently needed for insurance, building upkeep, and fire equipment.

It is necessary for the company to have maps of the New Creek, Laurel Dale, Ridgeville, and Antioch areas to achieve recognition by the West Virginia Fire Rating Board. These maps will include all roads, homes, and buildings in these areas. Each structure will be given a number for easy identification and faster location in event of fire.

The company was organized on August 17, 1961, since that time they have acquired two tankers, a pumper, and an ambulance. They have also built a new fire hall. The company has expressed appreciation to all persons who have contributed to their support, and pledge that continued support will insure better fire protection.

Garrett Co. Annual Fair To Be Held August 6-10

OAKLAND — The seventh annual Garrett County Agricultural Fair will be held August 6-10 at McHenry. Officers and members of the board of directors are meeting weekly in an effort to make this year tops for activities and attendance.

It was just 50 years ago in October, 1913, that the first county fair was held. The event has not been continuous but the present series is in its seventh year and has become a natural successor to the original fair.

Heading the first fair organization were R. E. Sliger, president; Stephen Casteel, vice president, and J. D. Hamill, secretary-treasurer. Directors were Mrs. E. Z. Tower, A. D. Naylor and Wade H. Hinebaugh. L. A. Rudisill was named advertising agent.

The fair was held in the three-story Third Street building owned by Luther Brown. Later the structure was purchased by A. D. Naylor and, when razed last year, was known as the Naylor building. The first year's event ended with proceeds of $1,500 and expenditures of $1,250.

Only a few changes have been made in the 1963 schedule of events. August 5 is the day for setting up exhibits and commercial displays. August 6 will be "Farm Bureau Day," with pony judging that day.

Indoor exhibits will be judged August 7 with boys' poultry judging, 4-H and FFA dairy judging, dairy senior judging, boys' dairy judging, ponies and horses, and pet and horse shows.

August 8 has been set aside for 4-H and FFA senior beef judging, sheep and swine, beef and the first of two parades, the farmers march at 6:30 p. m.

A tractor contest and commercial parade will be held August 9.

A horse pulling contest and 4-H demonstrations are scheduled for August 10. The Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club is arranging for a chicken barbecue dinner August 8-9. The Oakland Rotary Club will have its French fry stand and other organizations may set up booths.

There will be a free aerial act each afternoon and evening. Harry P. Collier is in charge of parades. Prizes for each class will total $20 for first, $15 second, $10 third and $5 fourth.

Premium books will be distributed within the next two weeks.

Committee chairmen include the following: James McHenry, premiums; Harland Bowman, grounds; J. J. Brenneman, carnival; Walter C. DeBerry, commercial exhibits; Mrs. John Menges, advertising; Harry P. Collier, premium books; Mrs. Mildred Hoffman, publicity; H. G. Gortner, program; Harry P. Collier, parades; John J. Brenneman, amusement and water; Charles Bowman, water assistant; H. G. Gortner, electric, and Arthur Fitzwater, assistant; Allen S. Paugh, finance; Baity Ridder, budget; William Umbel, parking; Hubert Friend, ticket sellers; D. W. Klotz, gates; Charles Wilt, gate assistant; Mrs. O. C. Glotfelty, decoration; Mrs. Bruce Folk, exhibit buildings; Gerald Glotfelty, horse pulling contest, and Robert L. Glotfelty, tractor pulling contest.

WESTERNPORT — Mr. and Mrs. Howard Blackburn, Miss Marguerite and Miss Dorothy Blackburn, Baltimore, returned home after visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Lyons, Main Street. They were accompanied home by Peggy Lyons, Westernport and Karen Sue McGowan, Keyser, for a two weeks visit.

Rehearsals Begin For Big Keyser Review

Centennial Program To Be Staged In College Stadium

KEYSER — Rehearsals are curects for study, and committees "Centennial Review" which will be presented in the stadium at Potomac State College August 20, 21 and 22.

The colorful program of music and dance is being written and choreographed by Nina and Emmett Oldfield of Romney with Mrs. E. E. Church, of Keyser, serving as director of the musical numbers and accompanist.

Coordinators for the outdoor pageant will be Thomas J. Conlon and Mrs. Mary Evelyn Coffman, who have already announced some of the committees but plan to reveal others as they are organized and the work gets underway.

Choruses for both men and women will be used in several of the specialty numbers. The men's group will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Elks Home for another rehearsal. Meanwhile an effort is being made to organize a girls' chorus for another specialty routine. Those interested in participating should contact either Mrs. Church or Conlon. They, in turn, will be notified of rehearsal dates.

Joseph Stanislawczyk, county centennial chairman, with the supervision of Oldfield, is in charge of the staging. Lighting will be arranged by Albert Willhide of the college maintenance staff, and sound will be under the supervision of Joseph Altobello.

Costumes are being executed and secured under the supervision of Mrs. Elizabeth Hanlin, assisted by Mrs. Margaret Stanislawczyk and Mrs. Inez Tate. Members of the Soroptimist Club will serve as wardrobe mistresses and assist the dancers and other participants in costume changes.

Tickets will go on sale in the near future with a section of reserved seats being available for each night of the show. The musical review, planned as a salute to both Mineral county and the City of Keyser, will be followed each night by a fireworks display.

The final performance on August 22 will also be the opening program for the firemen's convention

Bible School Closes Today

WESTERNPORT — Commencement exercises of this year's Vacation Bible School at the Stony Run Chapel will take place at 3 p.m. today.

Handicraft displays will be out by 2:30 p.m. All parents are being urged to attend the exercises.

Frostburg Rotary Installs Officers

New Creek Firemen Install Officers

NEW CREEK, W. Va. — The New Creek Volunteer Fire Company, one of the youngest units in the area, has installed officers for the new fiscal year which began July 1. The new officers will serve until next June 30.

The president is Roland Henderson. David Whetzel is vice president; Jack Gambini, secretary; Coyd Yost, financial secretary-treasurer.

Howard Melman is fire chief with Darwin Hartman installed as assistant chief. William Helman is chief engineer; Robert Helmick, first assistant; Ernest Workman, second assistant; William Devers, captain; John Workman, first assistant; Robert Crites, second assistant; Thomas Forebeck is chaplain and the new trustee, to serve a three-year term is James Berg.

This week the company will begin its semi-annual fund raising drive. Coin cards will be distributed to homes in the New Creek area. Funds are urgently needed for insurance, building upkeep, and fire equipment.

It is necessary for the company to have maps of the New Creek, Laurel Dale, Ridgeville, and Antioch areas to achieve recognition by the West Virginia Fire Rating Board. These maps will include all roads, homes, and buildings in these areas. Each structure will be given a number for easy identification and faster location in event of fire.

The company was organized on August 17, 1961, since that time they have acquired two tankers, a pumper, and an ambulance. They have also built a new fire hall. The company has expressed appreciation to all persons who have contributed to their support, and pledge that continued support will insure better fire protection.

Bible School Opens July 15

FROSTBURG—The Interdenominational Vacation Bible School will be held July 15 to 26 with classes from 9 to 11:30 a. m. Nursery, ages 3 and 4; kindergarten, age 5; pre-school, age 6 and junior high school groups will meet in the First Methodist Church.

The primary group, which includes all pupils who have just completed first, second and third grades, will meet at the First United Presbyterian Church.

Meeting at St. Paul's Lutheran Church will be classes for Juniors, including pupils who have completed grades four, five and six.

Seoul Conserves Rice

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The city government ordered the capital's 1,500 restaurants Tuesday not to sell any meal containing rice during lunch hours starting Wednesday.

The measure is designed to encourage the customers to take other food.

South Korea is experiencing a serious food shortage because of a poor rice crop last fall.

Society Receives Convention Report

A report on the Gettysburg convention was given by Mrs. Lee Fresh at the meeting of the Lutheran Church Women of St. Luke's church. She said there are 62 charter members in the state synod. The theme was "Fervent in Spirit-Serving the Lord." Mrs. Grace Mason was welcomed as a member.

Conducting the program, "The Christian and Tension," Mrs. Coit Speicher stressed that tension can be constructive as well as destructive, it is up to the individual how his faith can deal with tension without the aid of modern drugs.

The committee assisting Mrs. Speicher was Mrs. James Bauer, Mrs. Ronald Chapman, Mrs. George Dawson, Mrs. Louise Lapp, Miss Jeanette Bonig, Mrs. Walter Thomas, Sr., Mrs. Carroll Andrews, Mrs. Alice Crabtree, Mrs. Marilyn Eichhammer, Mrs. Betty Buchanan, Mrs. Charles Chenowith, Miss Geraldine Whitman, Mrs. Fred Valentine and Mrs. George Ruhl.

Apple Picking Started In Area

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Apple picking has started and the harvest of peaches will begin within the next week in the Hancock fruit area.

Harvest of tomatoes and sweet corn started on the Eastern Shore at the end of last week, federal crop reporters said Tuesday, and picking of cantaloups was expected to begin in about 10 days.

Field corn and soybeans continued in generally good condition. About 25 per cent of the wheat crop had been harvested, while the barley harvest was about 90 per cent complete.

Society Receives Convention Report

A report on the Gettysburg convention was given by Mrs. Lee Fresh at the meeting of the Lutheran Church Women of St. Luke's church. She said there are 62 charter members in the state synod. The theme was "Fervent in Spirit-Serving the Lord." Mrs. Grace Mason was welcomed as a member.

Conducting the program, "The Christian and Tension," Mrs. Coit Speicher stressed that tension can be constructive as well as destructive, it is up to the individual how his faith can deal with tension without the aid of modern drugs.

The committee assisting Mrs. Speicher was Mrs. James Bauer, Mrs. Ronald Chapman, Mrs. George Dawson, Mrs. Louise Lapp, Miss Jeanette Bonig, Mrs. Walter Thomas, Sr., Mrs. Carroll Andrews, Mrs. Alice Crabtree, Mrs. Marilyn Eichhammer, Mrs. Betty Buchanan, Mrs. Charles Chenowith, Miss Geraldine Whitman, Mrs. Fred Valentine and Mrs. George Ruhl.

Apple Picking Started In Area

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Apple picking has started and the harvest of peaches will begin within the next week in the Hancock fruit area.

Harvest of tomatoes and sweet corn started on the Eastern Shore at the end of last week, federal crop reporters said Tuesday, and picking of cantaloups was expected to begin in about 10 days.

Field corn and soybeans continued in generally good condition. About 25 per cent of the wheat crop had been harvested, while the barley harvest was about 90 per cent complete.

Downhill Road For John Bull?

What has happened to dependable, staid, reliable old John Bull? Topping the news from the island nation is the scandal centering on John Profumo, a Macmillan Cabinet member and involving a call girl. The fact that he also was the British war minister has led to suspicions of a security breach because the girl also associated with a Soviet intelligence agent.

Most shocking is the apparent laxity existing in British security arrangements. Surely London should have been keeping track of Yevgeni Ivanov, the Soviet naval attache. And if his activities were being watched, why were Profumo's not also discovered?

If this were an individual instance, it would be bad enough. Recent years have been filled with examples of spies working unmolested in Britain: Alan Nunn May, Klaus Fuchs, Bruno Pontecorvo, George Blake, Barbara Fell, William J. Vassall and the Portland naval base couple that sold information to the Soviets.

But this latest spy scandal is only at the peak of the pyramid of corruption in England. Members of Commons declared the other day that moral decay has permeated all of British life—that Britons are drinking too much, gambling too much and engaging in other vices to extents undreamed of a few years ago.

Figures available show that the turnover in gambling in England last year reached $2.4 billion, more than twice as much as was spent on the British navy in the same 12 months. This money went into roulette wheels, card games, slot machines, "horse parlors," and soccer pools.

Some years ago the sun began to set on the British Empire. The question now is whether it has begun to set on England as a leader in the serious affairs of the world.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Taking Kids Off The Streets

This is the season of the year when the foundations and clubs that run summer camps for slum children break your heart. They don't just ask for money in general; they ask for a stated sum to send little Marie Greers, aged 11, daughter of Betty, father dead, to camp for a specific number of days. The application comes in Marie's own clear, childish handwriting—and it includes the information that Marie has never been to camp in her life.

It costs $25 to take Marie out of a hot tenement for a week, so you make out a check. But in the very next mail you get another request, from another organization, written in 10-year-old Bill Hester's handwriting. And before the week is out, similar requests have multiplied. You can't help them all.

Yet there is the hot city, with its steaming pavements, its lack of greenery—and it doesn't seem right that Bill Hester should be deprived of his week at camp simply because the organization in charge of his welfare got its letter into the mail a day later than the letter about little Marie Greers.

Strict justice in these matters is impossible for the simple reason that money doesn't grow on trees. But Hiram Bingham Jr., one of the many public-spirited sons of ex-Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, is convinced that he has a way of bringing practical justice to bear on the problem of providing recreation for the youngster who is condemned by fate to spend his summers in the city.

"The problem," says Mr. Bingham, "is one of flat space. Well, you ordinarily think of the flat space in a metropolitan area being limited to a few parks and playgrounds. The strange thing about it, however, is that there's almost as much flat space in a municipal square mile as there is in a country square mile. Only it's high in the air, on the roofs."

Mr. Bingham's simple, but revolutionary, proposition is to turn over roof space to the children of the pavements. An amateur inventor, Mr. Bingham spent much of his spare time when he was in the U.S. diplomatic service in devising ingenious games. One of his inventions s something he calls the Sportatron. It consists of a small cage, completely enclosed, in which people can do practically anything.

Golf practice is easy: you simply tee off and the ball registers the potential distance of a drive by hitting the wall of the cage at a certain height and with a certain impact. Batting practice is possible with the use of one of those Branch Rickey "Iron Mike" mechanical pitching arms. A lot of other things can be played under actual competitive conditions inside the cage—say, an adaptation of squash or a version of volley ball.

To combat juvenile delinquency, Mr. Bingham would like to see adaptations of his cage idea set up on thousands of roofs in scores of big cities. Where kids are now compelled to interrupt their games of stick ball to dodge trucks, they might be playing a variety of stick ball in cages 20 stories away from the city traffic.

Mr. Bingham's idea is simple enough when you think of it, but the old mental stereotype of a roof as consisting of something that slants upwards on two sides to a ridge has obviously kept a lot of people from entertaining the idea. To combat the stereotype Mr. Bingham points to a fortunate difference between cities. The small ones have pointed roofs, but luckily these cities also offer the local kids quick access to the countryside. It is the big cities that have the flat roofs —and these roofs are precisely made to order for children who have been effectively deprived of playground space. One school on Manhattan Island has already tumbled to the idea.

So, if you live in a big city and have a flat roof to spare, get in touch with the local head of President Kennedy's Physical Fitness program. You might help in taking 10 or 20 kids off the street, which would be the next best thing to sending them all to camp.

China, Russia Have Territorial As Well As Ideological Disputes

By Drew Pearson

EDITOR'S NOTE — Probably no American newspaperman has acquired such a background regarding the debate between China and Russia as Drew Pearson. As early as 1925, Pearson went to China and reported on the first Soviet attempts to communize China. Earlier, in 1922, he visited Siberia. He has also crossed the Gobi to Mongolia, also reached the edge of Tibet, and more recently has interviewed most of the top leaders of the Communist world. Today Pearson begins a series of colums on the battle between the giants of Communism and what it means to the American people.

WASHINGTON — There are wo basc issues in dispue between the two giants of Communism, the first being territory and the tremendous population bulge of Red China; the second being whether the Communist world can coexist beside the capitalist world and still survive.

The second difference has been so headlined that the public is inclined to forget the first, but it remains a fact that Russia under the Czar snatched about 5,500,000 square miles of Chinese territory, and the Chinese of late have been makng noises about wanting it back.

I have traveled up the Amur River through the area which the Czar's army snatched. It is flat, rich, largley uncultivated and resembles the rolling prairies of Montana. It is traversed by one of the longest rivers in the world, the Amur, up which I sailed for a week before coming to one of the central cities of the Siberian maritime provinces, Khabarovsk, which used to be Chinese.

These maritime provinces, all formerly Chinese, extend down the coast of Siberia from the mouth of the Amur River to Manchuria and west as far as Lake Baikal. According to the latest Soviet census, they have a population of 8,700,000. But with the intensive cultivation and low standard of living of the Chinese, they could probably support ten times as much.

At any rate, the Chinese government last winter nudged Moscow regarding this vast area and made it clear that it reserved the right to reopen previous treaties and get the territory back.

Perhaps anticipating this, Khrushchev has been driving for more Russian migration in the area. When I talked to him on the shores of the Black Sea, he told me in detail how he had overcome Molotov's skeptcism about settling Eastern Siberia.

"Let the tractor drivers sleep beside their machines like troops in the field," he told Molotov when the latter asked how the farm pioneers of Siberia were going to be housed.

At any rate, ths part of Northeast Siberia, plus restless Sinkiang Province where nomad tribes roam back and forth across the border, have caused serious friction between the two giants of the Communist world.

Independent Mongolia

Another cause of smoldering friction is Mongolia, a semi-desert area claimed by the Chinese for several thousand years but now an independent republic leaning toward Moscow.

It was around 1925 that the Russian penetration of China really started. It had two objectives: one was to undercut the British, American and Japanese influence in China by planting the seeds of Communism. The other was to woo some of the borderline territory away from China — chiefly Mongolia.

When I crossed the Gobi Desert in 1925 to see how far the Soviet had penetrated in its effort to communize China, I had to travel in a car owned by the Soviet cooperative, Amtorg. Even that early, the Soviet controlled all lines of communication with Outer Mongolia, an area once considered part of China.

En route, we passed a caravan of Buicks, heavy was ammunition and with Russian rifles strapped in boxes on their running boards. The pictures I snapped of these gun-runners were the first concrete evidence the U. S. military attache in Peking had received of Soviet military penetration into China.

The Chinese, however, were smart. They took Russian military help and they kow-towed to bearded Russian Ambassador Karahan in Peking. But actually they were maneuvering to play the Russians off against the British, Americans and Japanese who then lived on the fat of the land in their own international settlements.

Chiang Helps Communists

Chiang Kai-shek, now the arch-enemy of Chinese Communism, was one of those then flirting with the Russians; in fact he had organized the Whampo Cadets under Russian military adviser Borodin, and controlled all shipping up the Pearl River from Hong Kong to Canton. Chiang was considered so pro-Communist that the American consul warned me not to take the trip.

It turned out to be uneventful as far as the river-boat voyage was concerned. But in Canton I got the first real taste of Chinese Communism. It took the form of a boycott against the American, British, French and Japanese international settlement that was so tight that no food could be purchased, no water was supplied, no servants were available and grass grew in the streets of the once thriving colony.

Far more effective than the Russian guns imported via Mongolia, this airtight Chinese boycott was the forerunner of the tough Communism which was to begin taking over China in a few years.

In the Chinese section of Canton I went around to Communist headquarters. The atmosphere was icy. Communist leaders were not talking to a western newsman. They only handed out literature. It proclaimed the day of China for the Chinese, the expulsion of the white man and the foreigner, and hailed the doctrine of Karl Marx.

Significantly there was no praise for Soviet Russia.

That was in 1925. When I got back to New York, I tried to interest various editors and my news syndicate in a series of articles on the menace of Communism in China. Only one paper, the New York American, printed the story.

Accommodations Laws And Retail Business

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—An era of confusion, if not chaos, in the retail business in America seems to be on the way due to an unprecedented stretching of the law-making power such as is being proposed by Congress—without the support of a single Supreme Court decision.

For Congress is being urged by the administration to yield, in effect, to a stampede of street "demonstrations" and pass a law which creates virtually a federal dictatorship over the relations of private business and its customers.

The legislation recommended by President Kennedy and his brother, the Attorney General, is ostensibly directed at racial discrimination. They deem it constitutional, even though the Supreme Court has never ruled that the federal government could expand the interstate commerce clause to cover control over who may or may not be served in business.

It might mean that, by using the executive-order device and relating it to the racial problem, the federal government will also feel authorized to regulate who shall or shall not be given a job and whether promotions are being made to suit the wishes of the administration in power. It could mean also that the federal government, as well as the states, would assume the right to use the granting or withholding of licenses as a method of opposing alleged racial discrimination. It could mean, too, that federal authority would be exercised to interfere with what are called equitable wage or salary scales for particular classifications of jobs.

While labor unions at present fix hours and wages, they do so by a joint contract with the employer, who has the right — without penalty of law — to refrain from entering into any contract he does not like. He may choose union or nonunion employes, but it is his decision. With the racial problem as its leverage, federal control of employment practices becomes a powerful instrument of national politics.

If the proposed law on "public accommodations," moreover, is held valid by the Supreme Court, there is no end to the powers that could be exercised on the mere pretext that it "affects" interstate commerce. The Constitution, of course, speaks only of the power of Congress to "regulate" interstate commerce — not the behavior of persons or their rights to select their own customers.

If it be conceded that all men are created equal and are presumably to be given equal opportunity to earn equal compensation when they do the same work, then a standardized system analogous to that which prevails under Communism can be as logically applied by the government here by merely invoking the doctrine of "equal pay for equal work." The private-enterprise system would thereupon be materially changed. A political administration then becomes the judge of efficiency.

Meantime, what is beginning to bother many small business people, especially restaurant owners, is that the moment they open their doors to all kinds of customers, they begin to lose patronage. They know that, if they allowed white persons, for instance, in dirty clothing and of disheveled appearance to frequent their restaurants, other customers would stay away. Yet, if a Negro dressed in the same way should be refused a seat in the restaurant among white customers, the owner could be threatened with federal punishment. Even if the owner argued that he was not discriminating on the basis of race but because of the personal appearance of some of his customers, he cannot be sure the Supreme Court will not say this is merely an excuse and that he was motivated by "local customs."

From the standpoint of those who want to see individual rights preserved — which means the right of every private business to use its own judgment, even if it be discriminatory — the choice ahead may be between an acceptance of federal authority or the expense and worry of politically generated lawsuits.

But it is being argued by some members of Congress that interstate commerce in its total dollar amount will be expanded if there is no racial discrimination. Will the total number of customers, however, suddenly increase? Will Negroes eat more than before? Rather, it is as easy to speculate that many restaurants will be hurt, and no small part of the damage will be inflicted upon those who now cater primarily to the Negro trade.

If the Negroes desert their own restaurants, the Negro owners will have less business. Similarly, the white owner who caters to an "integrated" group of customers may find that he is gradually losing the trade of those white persons who may decide to patronize private clubs more than before or organize new clubs. Whichever way the subject is viewed, there is likely to be an economic impact due to shifting customers in the restaurant business.

The biggest effect of all, however, inevitably will come in the field of employment. If white persons lose their jobs in factories and Negroes are employed instead, ill feeling will result.

Irrespective of the merits of the current controversy, many a member of Congress who votes for a system of employment that could mean regulation of promotions or salary classifications by government edict is bound to encounter a new wave of protest in the next election. It could make deep inroads inside both parties and furnish a real surprise.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

SECOND TERM GAMBLE — In the opinion of a large body of political observers, President Kennedy has been forced by events to take a bigger gamble on a second term in the White House than he thought would be necessary only a few short months ago.

The gamble involves voter reaction to his request to Congress for strong anti-segregation legislation this session. Ironically, the Negro bloc, whose agitation for integration forced Kennedy's hand, may have unleashed events that could work to the detriment of their own long-range cause.

Kennedy's strong stand on civil rights, taken to assuage the colored voters, has reconstituted the Republican - Southern Democratic coalition on Capitol Hill and placed his entire legislation program in jeopardy. In many ways, that program was designed to aid lower income groups in which Negroes are predominant. This is true of medical care for the aged, federal aid to schools, and even the tax bill which is designed to ease payments of lower income groups at the expense of middle and upper brackets.

Perhaps colored voters believe that these economic sacrifices are worth making in order to further their fight for equal treatment. However, there is no guarantee — in fact there's a large question — whether the sacrifices will produce the integration legislation they desire.

Many border - line Democratic senators and representatives who would have supported parts of Kennedy's program now find themselves in the position of having to vote against them, simply because they must show their constituencies that they stand opposed to the President. If the coalition functions as it is expected, the balance of Kennedy's term in the White House will be a stalemate, and the beneficiaries will be GOP politicians.

Drowning In Fresh Water And Salt Water

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Ice cold water and prompt medical care saved the life of a 5-year-old boy who drowned in a partially frozen river. Some boys on the other side of the river had seen the victim hanging onto the edge of the ice and called police.

Within 22 minutes, the child's body was pulled out of the water. During this interval he apparently became exhausted and let go of the ice.

The policeman started mouth-to-mouth breathing while waiting for the physician. The medico thought the youngster was dead but continued resuscitation even though the heart was not beating. He found the boy's throat blocked with the contents of the stomach, and turned his head downward to clear the airway. Artificial respiration was started again by the policeman while the heart was compressed rhythmically by the physician. These procedures were continued in the ambulance on the way to the hospital.

Two and one-half hours after being submerged, the child's heart started to beat spontaneously. A pulse was felt and color returned to his skin. Shortly thereafter he began to breathe. He had a stormy convalescence; he developed aspiration pneumonia and was unconscious for six weeks. Here the ice cold water enters the picture.

According to the report in the British Medical Journal, the youngster's heart did not beat satisfactorily for 120 minutes. During this time the brain must have suffered from lack of blood. Irreparable damage usually occurs within 10 to 90 minutes thereafter, even though external massage of the heart is undertaken.

This lad's brain survived apparently because his body was cooled as he hung onto the ice; only a minimum of nourishment is required at this low temperature. But the organ did not escape completely, as behavior and brain tests showed. The little fellow finally was discharged 2½ months after the accident and he talks, looks, and behaves like a normal child.

Salt water in the lungs is said to be less dangerous than fresh water. It is not absorbed, in contrast to fresh water, which passes into the circulation, where it becomes a burden to the heart.

CHILLS NOT FLASHES

Mrs. P. writes: Do some women get chills during the change instead of hot flashes?

REPLY

No, but there is no reason why women in this age group cannot develop infections that bring on chills or chilly sensations.

RAISINS FOR TOTS

S. B. writes: Can a 2½-year-old digest raisins, given between meals?

REPLY

Yes. They are easier to digest than meats and various other foods.

NOT INPATIENT

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Before each of them became famous singly on Broadway, Judy Holliday, Betty Comden and Adolph Green had a nightclub act that sent audiences into gales of laughter. They repeated their triumph when invited to perform for the Dutch Treat Club — but one famous gentleman at a table directly in front of them never smiled once. It was former President Herbert Hoover, and Judy Holliday in particular was determined to break down his resistance.

"If this number doesn't get him," she whispered to me, "I give up." Alas, Mr. Hoover again watched impassively and his rather solemn expression never changed.

Directly the meeting was adjourned, however, Mr. Hoover came up to the three young performers and told them warmly, "You kids have the jolliest, most original act I've seen in years. I don't remember when I've had a better time. You're going to go very far!" "But Mr. President," interrupted the delighted Judy Holliday, "we were watching you particularly, and you never smiled once!" "I know," nodded Mr. Hoover. "I never have learned to smile on the outside. But inside, I was smiling all over!"

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Poland is a dark stain on the conscience of the West. The world went to war in September 1939 to protect the Poles against Hitler, then gave the country to Russia. Poland has won and lost its independence against strong neighbors for centuries. Now it has completed 18 years of servitude under the banner of Soviet Socialism.

What is it like? There is a keyhole in the Iron Curtain. It consists of stories buried in Polish newspapers, items which are collected by the Assembly of Captive European Nations in New York and, when pieced together, permit a brief peek at Poland today.

In March, the Communist Glos Pracy polled hundreds of Polish mothers about their daily lives. The average woman, according to the newspaper, arises at 4:45 a. m. She makes breakfast for her family, but rarely has time to eat. Her job "averages 7.57 hours per day, not counting 40 minutes getting factory machines ready. Time to and from work requires 1 hour and 12 minutes."

Cooking for the family averages 1 hour, 34 minutes on weekdays, on Sundays, 2 hours, 16 minutes. On weekdays, she stands in queues waiting to buy food an average of 53 minutes. "She cannot spend much time with the older children," says Glos Pracy. "It is enough that she cooks, washes and darns for them. All the women who answered the poll left blank spaces in the column 'Time spent on helping with homework and playing.'" . . .

The working mother spends a total of 45 minutes on lunch and dinner. Daily grooming takes 31 minutes. The only time for complete personal care is on Saturday, when the mother uses 71 minutes for a bath, shampoo, and setting of hair. (Only one of the hundreds of women polled had been to a beauty shop.)

"There is also entertainment: 13 minutes on back-fence chats, 12 minutes daily for television. Radio music is combined with household work. . .on holidays, she visits friends with her family. This comes to 1 hour, 21 minutes. How much time for sleep? Six hours, 23 minutes.

Almost all Polish women work, because the combined incomes of husband and wife are barely sufficient to support a family. Life is difficult, but the one thing which irritates the Polish mother more than anything else is waiting in line to get food. The Kurier Polski published a sad poem about it. The rhyme is lost in translation:

"Tired, panting like a dog,
I run from shop to shop.
I hardly have time to ask
"Have you. . .?'
When I hear the answer:
'There isn't any.'
" 'There isn't any' sounds sternly
On the lips of the shop assistant.
And if only it were a luxury item
Which is in short supply!
But it is
A basic necessity which has disappeared."

Socialized medicine does not work well in Poland, where the doctor gets a small fee at public clinics and a bigger one in his private office. "Patients cannot understand why some doctors have two faces," writes Zycie Warszawy. "One, severe and repulsive in the state clinic. The other, lit up with a friendly smile, in the private reception room.

"One does not have to search long for the reason. It is the money that decides, since a certain undefined number of doctors have decided to wax fat as soon as possible. For that reason, private care is 'better' than socialized care."

Powszechny, a Polish weekly, sympathizes with newlyweds. "Even if available apartments were allocated to the newly married," it notes, "(which they are not), 59.1 percent would still be without places of their own. Young couples are forced to share their lives with in-laws, or to live separately with their respective parents, or in student and workers hostels. In either case, lack of privacy or physical separation, tends to weaken family bonds. Some live behind a cupboard. . . others meet in parks. Some manage to get together only when friends allow them the use of an apartment for a few hours. Problems of delicate personality adjustment cannot be solved under these conditions."

Only the party is permitted to use loudspeakers. They use them on streets at all hours of the day and night. In the heat of summer, men try to sleep with blankets over their heads to shut out the noise. "My ears grew corns," one worker wrote. Another wrote that when the loudspeakers stopped he hopped out of bed nervously. He couldn't bear the sudden silence.

All of this testimony to the joy of living under Soviet Socialism applies also to Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hngary, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Romania and Albania. Of them all, Poland fought the Germans first and fought them alone.

For such gallantry, the West awarded Poland to the East as a second-class slave. . .

The fact that he also was the British war minister has led to suspicions of a security breach because the girl also associated with a Soviet intelligence agent.

Most shocking is the apparent laxity existing in British security arrangements. Surely London should have been keeping track of Yevgeni Ivanov, the Soviet naval attache. And if his activities were being watched, why were Profumo's not also discovered?

If this were an individual instance, it would be bad enough. Recent years have been filled with examples of spies working unmolested in Britain: Alan Nunn May, Klaus Fuchs, Bruno Pontecorvo, George Blake, Barbara Fell, William J. Vassall and the Portland naval base couple that sold information to the Soviets.

But this latest spy scandal is only at the peak of the pyramid of corruption in England. Members of Commons declared the other day that moral decay has permeated all of British life—that Britons are drinking too much, gambling too much and engaging in other vices to extents undreamed of a few years ago.

Figures available show that the turnover in gambling in England last year reached $2.4 billion, more than twice as much as was spent on the British navy in the same 12 months. This money went into roulette wheels, card games, slot machines, "horse parlors," and soccer pools.

Some years ago the sun began to set on the British Empire. The question now is whether it has begun to set on England as a leader in the serious affairs of the world.

These Days

Taking Kids Off The Streets

This is the season of the year when the foundations and clubs that run summer camps for slum children break your heart. They don't just ask for money in general; they ask for a stated sum to send little Marie Greers, aged 11, daughter of Betty, father dead, to camp for a specific number of days. The application comes in Marie's own clear, childish handwriting—and it includes the information that Marie has never been to camp in her life.

It costs $25 to take Marie out of a hot tenement for a week, so you make out a check. But in the very next mail you get another request, from another organization, written in 10-year-old Bill Hester's handwriting. And before the week is out, similar requests have multiplied. You can't help them all.

Yet there is the hot city, with its steaming pavements, its lack of greenery—and it doesn't seem right that Bill Hester should be deprived of his week at camp simply because the organization in charge of his welfare got its letter into the mail a day later than the letter about little Marie Greers.

Strict justice in these matters is impossible for the simple reason that money doesn't grow on trees. But Hiram Bingham Jr., one of the many public-spirited sons of ex-Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, is convinced that he has a way of bringing practical justice to bear on the problem of providing recreation for the youngster who is condemned by fate to spend his summers in the city.

"The problem," says Mr. Bingham, "is one of flat space. Well, you ordinarily think of the flat space in a metropolitan area being limited to a few parks and playgrounds. The strange thing about it, however, is that there's almost as much flat space in a municipal square mile as there is in a country square mile. Only it's high in the air, on the roofs."

Mr. Bingham's simple, but revolutionary, proposition is to turn over roof space to the children of the pavements. An amateur inventor, Mr. Bingham spent much of his spare time when he was in the U.S. diplomatic service in devising ingenious games. One of his inventions s something he calls the Sportatron. It consists of a small cage, completely enclosed, in which people can do practically anything.

Golf practice is easy: you simply tee off and the ball registers the potential distance of a drive by hitting the wall of the cage at a certain height and with a certain impact. Batting practice is possible with the use of one of those Branch Rickey "Iron Mike" mechanical pitching arms. A lot of other things can be played under actual competitive conditions inside the cage—say, an adaptation of squash or a version of volley ball.

To combat juvenile delinquency, Mr. Bingham would like to see adaptations of his cage idea set up on thousands of roofs in scores of big cities. Where kids are now compelled to interrupt their games of stick ball to dodge trucks, they might be playing a variety of stick ball in cages 20 stories away from the city traffic.

Mr. Bingham's idea is simple enough when you think of it, but the old mental stereotype of a roof as consisting of something that slants upwards on two sides to a ridge has obviously kept a lot of people from entertaining the idea. To combat the stereotype Mr. Bingham points to a fortunate difference between cities. The small ones have pointed roofs, but luckily these cities also offer the local kids quick access to the countryside. It is the big cities that have the flat roofs—and these roofs are precisely made to order for children who have been effectively deprived of playground space. One school on Manhattan Island has already tumbled to the idea.

So, if you live in a big city and have a flat roof to spare, get in touch with the local head of President Kennedy's Physical Fitness program. You might help in taking 10 or 20 kids off the street, which would be the next best thing to sending them all to camp.

Accommodations Laws And Retail Business

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—An era of confusion, if not chaos, in the retail business in America seems to be on the way due to an unprecedented stretching of the law-making power such as is being proposed by Congress—without the support of a single Supreme Court decision.

For Congress is being urged by the administration to yield, in effect, to a stampede of street "demonstrations" and pass a law which creates virtually a federal dictatorship over the relations of private business and its customers.

The legislation recommended by President Kennedy and his brother, the Attorney General, is ostensibly directed at racial discrimination. They deem it constitutional, even though the Supreme Court has never ruled that the federal government could expand the interstate commerce clause to cover control over who may or may not be served in business.

It might mean that, by using the executive-order device and relating it to the racial problem, the federal government will also feel authorized to regulate who shall or shall not be given a job and whether promotions are being made to suit the wishes of the administration in power. It could mean also that the federal government, as well as the states, would assume the right to use the granting or withholding of licenses as a method of opposing alleged racial discrimination. It could mean, too, that federal authority would be exercised to interfere with what are called equitable wage or salary scales for particular classifications of jobs.

While labor unions at present fix hours and wages, they do so by a joint contract with the employer, who has the right — without penalty of law — to refrain from entering into any contract he does not like. He may choose union or nonunion employes, but it is his decision. With the racial problem as its leverage, federal control of employment practices becomes a powerful instrument of national politics.

If the proposed law on "public accommodations," moreover, is held valid by the Supreme Court, there is no end to the powers that could be exercised on the mere pretext that it "affects" interstate commerce. The Constitution, of course, speaks only of the power of Congress to "regulate" interstate commerce — not the behavior of persons or their rights to select their own customers.

If it be conceded that all men are created equal and are presumably to be given equal opportunity to earn equal compensation when they do the same work, then a standardized system analogous to that which prevails under Communism can be as logically applied by the government here by merely invoking the doctrine of "equal pay for equal work." The private-enterprise system would thereupon be materially changed. A political administration then becomes the judge of efficiency.

Meantime, what is beginning to bother many small business people, especially restaurant owners, is that the moment they open their doors to all kinds of customers, they begin to lose patronage. They know that, if they allowed white persons, for instance, in dirty clothing and of disheveled appearance to frequent their restaurants, other customers would stay away. Yet, if a Negro dressed in the same way should be refused a seat in the restaurant among white customers, the owner could be threatened with federal punishment. Even if the owner argued that he was not discriminating on the basis of race but because of the personal appearance of some of his customers, he cannot be sure the Supreme Court will not say this is merely an excuse and that he was motivated by "local customs."

From the standpoint of those who want to see individual rights preserved — which means the right of every private business to use its own judgment, even if it be discriminatory — the choice ahead may be between an acceptance of federal authority or the expense and worry of politically generated lawsuits.

But it is being argued by some members of Congress that interstate commerce in its total dollar amount will be expanded if there is no racial discrimination. Will the total number of customers, however, suddenly increase? Will Negroes eat more than before? Rather, it is as easy to speculate that many restaurants will be hurt, and no small part of the damage will be inflicted upon those who now cater primarily to the Negro trade.

If the Negroes desert their own restaurants, the Negro owners will have less business. Similarly, the white owner who caters to an "integrated" group of customers may find that he is gradually losing the trade of those white persons who may decide to patronize private clubs more than before or organize new clubs. Whichever way the subject is viewed, there is likely to be an economic impact due to shifting customers in the restaurant business.

The biggest effect of all, however, inevitably will come in the field of employment. If white persons lose their jobs in factories and Negroes are employed instead, ill feeling will result.

Irrespective of the merits of the current controversy, many a member of Congress who votes for a system of employment that could mean regulation of promotions or salary classifications by government edict is bound to encounter a new wave of protest in the next election. It could make deep inroads inside both parties and furnish a real surprise.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

SECOND TERM GAMBLE — In the opinion of a large body of political observers, President Kennedy has been forced by events to take a bigger gamble on a second term in the White House than he thought would be necessary only a few short months ago.

The gamble involves voter reaction to his request to Congress for strong anti-segregation legislation this session. Ironically, the Negro bloc, whose agitation for integration forced Kennedy's hand, may have unleashed events that could work to the detriment of their own long-range cause.

Kennedy's strong stand on civil rights, taken to assuage the colored voters, has reconstituted the Republican - Southern Democratic coalition on Capitol Hill and placed his entire legislation program in jeopardy. In many ways, that program was designed to aid lower income groups in which Negroes are predominant. This is true of medical care for the aged, federal aid to schools, and even the tax bill which is designed to ease payments of lower income groups at the expense of middle and upper brackets.

Perhaps colored voters believe that these economic sacrifices are worth making in order to further their fight for equal treatment. However, there is no guarantee — in fact there's a large question — whether the sacrifices will produce the integration legislation they desire.

Many border - line Democratic senators and representatives who would have supported parts of Kennedy's program now find themselves in the position of having to vote against them, simply because they must show their constituencies that they stand opposed to the President. If the coalition functions as it is expected, the balance of Kennedy's term in the White House will be a stalemate, and the beneficiaries will be GOP politicians.

Drowning In Fresh Water And Salt Water

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Ice cold water and prompt medical care saved the life of a 5-year-old boy who drowned in a partially frozen river. Some boys on the other side of the river had seen the victim hanging onto the edge of the ice and called police. Within 22 minutes, the child's body was pulled out of the water. During this interval he apparently became exhausted and let go of the ice.

The policeman started mouth-to-mouth breathing while waiting for the physician. The medico thought the youngster was dead but continued resuscitation even though the heart was not beating. He found the boy's throat blocked with the contents of the stomach, and turned his head downward to clear the airway. Artificial respiration was started again by the policeman while the heart was compressed rhythmically by the physician. These procedures were continued in the ambulance on the way to the hospital.

Two and one-half hours after being submerged, the child's heart started to beat spontaneously. A pulse was felt and color returned to his skin. Shortly thereafter he began to breathe. He had a stormy convalescence; he developed aspiration pneumonia and was unconscious for six weeks. Here the ice cold water enters the picture.

According to the report in the British Medical Journal, the youngster's heart did not beat satisfactorily for 120 minutes. During this time the brain must have suffered from lack of blood. Irreparable damage usually occurs within 10 to 90 minutes thereafter, even though external massage of the heart is undertaken.

This lad's brain survived apparently because his body was cooled as he hung onto the ice; only a minimum of nourishment is required at this low temperature. But the organ did not escape completely, as behavior and brain tests showed. The little fellow finally was discharged 2½ months after the accident and he talks, looks, and behaves like a normal child.

Salt water in the lungs is said to be less dangerous than fresh water. It is not absorbed, in contrast to fresh water, which passes into the circulation, where it becomes a burden to the heart.

CHILLS NOT FLASHES

Mrs. P. writes: Do some women get chills during the change instead of hot flashes?

REPLY

No, but there is no reason why women in this age group cannot develop infections that bring on chills or chilly sensations.

RAISINS FOR TOTS

S. B. writes: Can a 2½-year-old digest raisins, given between meals?

REPLY

Yes. They are easier to digest than meats and various other foods.

NOT INPATIENT

M. R. writes: What is meant by outpatient treatment of emotional disorders?

REPLY

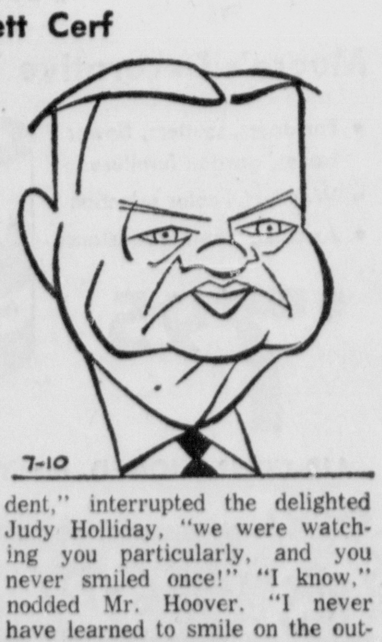
This is treatment given in a clinic or an office in contrast to hospital or institutional care.

TOMORROW: Evaluating parental attitudes.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf



Before each of them became famous singly on Broadway, Judy Holliday, Betty Comden and Adolph Green had a nightclub act that sent audiences into gales of laughter. They repeated their triumph when invited to perform for the Dutch Treat Club — but one famous gentleman at a table directly in front of them never smiled once. It was former President Herbert Hoover, and Judy Holliday in particular was determined to break down his resistance.

"If this number doesn't get him," she whispered to me, "I give up." Alas, Mr. Hoover again watched impassively and his rather solemn expression never changed.

Directly the meeting was adjourned, however, Mr. Hoover came up to the three young performers and told them warmly, "You kids have the jolliest, most original act I've seen in years. I don't remember when I've had a better time. You're going to go very far!" "But Mr. President," interrupted the delighted Judy Holliday, "we were watching you particularly, and you never smiled once!" "I know," nodded Mr. Hoover. "I never have learned to smile on the outside. But inside, I was smiling all over!"

China, Russia Have Territorial As Well As Ideological Disputes

By Drew Pearson

EDITOR'S NOTE — Probably no American newspaperman has acquired such a background regarding the debate between China and Russia as Drew Pearson. As early as 1925, Pearson went to China and reported on the first Soviet attempts to communize China. Earlier, in 1922, he visited Siberia. He has also crossed the Gobi to Mongolia, also reached the edge of Tibet, and more recently has interviewed most of the top leaders of the Communist world. Today Pearson begins a series of colums on the battle between the giants of Communism and what it means to the American people.

WASHINGTON — There are wo basc issues in dispue between the two giants of Communism, the first being territory and the tremendous population bulge of Red China; the second being whether the Communist world can coexist beside the capitalist world and still survive.

The second difference has been so headlined that the public is inclined to forget the first, but it remains a fact that Russia under the Czar snatched about 5,500,000 square miles of Chinese territory, and the Chinese of late have been makng noises about wanting it back.

I have traveled up the Amur River through the area which the Czar's army snatched. It is flat, rich, largley uncultivated and resembles the rolling prairies of Montana. It is traversed by one of the longest rivers in the world, the Amur, up which I sailed for a week before coming to one of the central cities of the Siberian maritime provinces, Khabarovsk, which used to be Chinese.

These maritime provinces, all formerly Chinese, extend down the coast of Siberia from the mouth of the Amur River to Manchuria and west as far as Lake Baikal. According to the latest Soviet census, they have a population of 8,700,000. But with the intensive cultivation and low standard of living of the Chinese, they could probably support ten times as much.

At any rate, the Chinese government last winter nudged Moscow regarding this vast area and made it clear that it reserved the right to reopen previous treaties and get the territory back.

Perhaps anticipating this, Khrushchev has been driving for more Russian migration in the area. When I talked to him on the shores of the Black Sea, he told me in detail how he had overcome Molotov's skeptcism about settling Eastern Siberia.

"Let the tractor drivers sleep beside their machines like troops in the field," he told Molotov when the latter asked how the farm pioneers of Siberia were going to be housed.

At any rate, ths part of Northeast Siberia, plus restless Sinkiang Province where nomad tribes roam back and forth across the border, have caused serious friction between the two giants of the Communist world.

Independent Mongolia

Another cause of smoldering friction is Mongolia, a semi-desert area claimed by the Chinese for several thousand years but now an independent republic leaning toward Moscow.

It was around 1925 that the Russian penetration of China really started. It had two objectives: one was to undercut the British, American and Japanese influence in China by planting the seeds of Communism. The other was to woo some of the borderline territory away from China — chiefly Mongolia.

When I crossed the Gobi Desert in 1925 to see how far the Soviet had penetrated in its effort to communize China, I had to travel in a car owned by the Soviet cooperative, Amtorg. Even that early, the Soviet controlled all lines of communication with Outer Mongolia, an area once considered part of China.

En route, we passed a caravan of Buicks, heavy was ammunition and with Russian rifles strapped in boxes on their running boards. The pictures I snapped of these gun-runners were the first concrete evidence the U. S. military attache in Peking had received of Soviet military penetration into China.

The Chinese, however, were smart. They took Russian military help and they kow-towed to bearded Russian Ambassador Karahan in Peking. But actually they were maneuvering to play the Russians off against the British, Americans and Japanese who then lived on the fat of the land in their own international settlements.

Chiang Helps Communists

Chiang Kai-shek, now the arch-enemy of Chinese Communism, was one of those then flirting with the Russians; in fact he had organized the Whampo Cadets under Russian military adviser Borodin, and controlled all shipping up the Pearl River from Hong Kong to Canton. Chiang was considered so pro-Communist that the American consul warned me not to take the trip.

It turned out to be uneventful as far as the river-boat voyage was concerned. But in Canton I got the first real taste of Chinese Communism. It took the form of a boycott against the American, British, French and Japanese international settlement that was so tight that no food could be purchased, no water was supplied, no servants were available and grass grew in the streets of the once thriving colony.

Far more effective than the Russian guns imported via Mongolia, this airtight Chinese boycott was the forerunner of the tough Communism which was to begin taking over China in a few years.

In the Chinese section of Canton I went around to Communist headquarters. The atmosphere was icy. Communist leaders were not talking to a western newsman. They only handed out literature. It proclaimed the day of China for the Chinese, the expulsion of the white man and the foreigner, and hailed the doctrine of Karl Marx.

Significantly there was no praise for Soviet Russia.

That was in 1925. When I got back to New York, I tried to interest various editors and my news syndicate in a series of articles on the menace of Communism in China. Only one paper, the New York American, printed the story.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Poland is a dark stain on the conscience of the West. The world went to war in September 1939 to protect the Poles against Hitler, then gave the country to Russia. Poland has won and lost its independence against strong neighbors for centuries. Now it has completed 18 years of servitude under the banner of Soviet Socialism.

What is it like? There is a keyhole in the Iron Curtain. It consists of stories buried in Polish newspapers, items which are collected by the Assembly of Captive European Nations in New York and, when pieced together, permit a brief peek at Poland today.

In March, the Communist Glos Pracy polled hundreds of Polish mothers about their daily lives. The average woman, according to the newspaper, arises at 4:45 a. m. She makes breakfast for her family, but rarely has time to eat. Her job "averages 7.57 hours per day, not counting 40 minutes getting factory machines ready. Time to and from work requires 1 hour and 12 minutes."

Cooking for the family averages 1 hour, 34 minutes on weekdays, on Sundays, 2 hours, 16 minutes. On weekdays, she stands in queues waiting to buy food an average of 53 minutes. "She cannot spend much time with the older children," says Glos Pracy. "It is enough that she cooks, washes and darns for them. All the women who answered the poll left blank spaces in the column 'Time spent on helping with homework and playing.'" . . .

The working mother spends a total of 45 minutes on lunch and dinner. Daily grooming takes 31 minutes. The only time for complete personal care is on Saturday, when the mother uses 71 minutes for a bath, shampoo, and setting of hair. (Only one of the hundreds of women polled had been to a beauty shop.)

"There is also entertainment: 13 minutes on back-fence chats, 12 minutes daily for television. Radio music is combined with household work. . .on holidays, she visits friends with her family. This comes to 1 hour, 21 minutes. How much time for sleep? Six hours, 23 minutes.

Almost all Polish women work, because the combined incomes of husband and wife are barely sufficient to support a family. Life is difficult, but the one thing which irritates the Polish mother more than anything else is waiting in line to get food. The Kurier Polski published a sad poem about it. The rhyme is lost in translation:

"Tired, panting like a dog,
I run from shop to shop.
I hardly have time to ask
"Have you. . .?'
When I hear the answer:
'There isn't any.'
" 'There isn't any' sounds
sternly
On the lips of the shop
assistant.
And if only it were a luxury
item
Which is in short supply!
But it is
A basic necessity which has disappeared."

Socialized medicine does not work well in Poland, where the doctor gets a small fee at public clinics and a bigger one in his private office. "Patients cannot understand why some doctors have two faces," writes Zycie Warszawy. "One, severe and repulsive in the state clinic. The other, lit up with a friendly smile, in the private reception room.

"One does not have to search long for the reason. It is the money that decides, since a certain undefined number of doctors have decided to wax fat as soon as possible. For that reason, private care is 'better' than socialized care."

Powszechny, a Polish weekly, sympathizes with newlyweds. "Even if available apartments were allocated to the newly married," it notes, "(which they are not), 59.1 percent would still be without places of their own. Young couples are forced to share their lives with in-laws, or to live separately with their respective parents, or in student and workers hostels. In either case, lack of privacy or physical separation, tends to weaken family bonds. Some live behind a cupboard. . . others meet in parks. Some manage to get together only when friends allow them the use of an apartment for a few hours. Problems of delicate personality adjustment cannot be solved under these conditions."

Only the party is permitted to use loudspeakers. They use them on streets at all hours of the day and night. In the heat of summer, men try to sleep with blankets over their heads to shut out the noise. "My ears grew corns," one worker wrote. Another wrote that when the loudspeakers stopped he hopped out of bed nervously. He couldn't bear the sudden silence.

All of this testimony to the joy of living under Soviet Socialism applies also to Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hngary, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Romania and Albania. Of them all, Poland fought the Germans first and fought them alone.

For such gallantry, the West awarded Poland to the East as a second-class slave. . .

Hermans To Battle Pen-Mar League Leaders At Mt. Savage Today

Old Germans Beat Locals Three Times

Frostburg Seeks 6th Straight At 'Coney; Tailenders To Clash

Cumberland's Hermans will test the first place Mt. Savage Old Germans today at 6 p. m., in Mt. Savage in the feature contest of the three on tap in the Pen-Mar Baseball League.

Manager Kenny Johnson's league leaders will be gunning for their fourth consecutive win of the series over the Hermans, who have lost to the Old G's by scores of 5-1, 2-0 and 4-3 in contests played to date.

Mt. Savage has won 13 out of 17 games played to date and leads Frostburg's Merchants (12-5) by the margin of one game.

Frostburg, incidentally, is on a five-game winning binge and has knocked off Mt. Savage 6-3, Barrelville 9-3 and 3-2, Hyndman 3-2 and Cumberland 7-6 since losing to the Hermans on June 19 by the score of 2-0.

Manager Gary Keedy's Merchants play at Lonaconing today. This will be the fourth meeting of these teams and the Merchants hold a 2-1 edge but it was 'Coney that handed Frostburg its worst beating of the season, 11-0. The Mountain City team won the other games by scores of 8-1 and 4-3.

In the "Battle of Tailenders," Hyndman (5-12) in fifth place, entertains the Barrelville Old Exports (3-15), occupant of last place, in the third game on today's slate.

The teams that were the league's top contenders for many years will be tangling for the fourth time this season. Barrelville won the first two games, 8-3 and 3-2, but lost the third contest, 6-0.

The Pen-Mar League's all-star game will be staged Saturday at Municipal Field.

Tri-State Memorial kept its record unblemished in the Pen-Mar Little League by registering its 10th victory of the season at the expense of Wellersburg yesterday on the Pennsylvanians' field by the score of 13-1.

Bobby Deremer recorded his sixth win on a two-hitter and fired the third strike past 12 batsmen. He failed to issue a base on balls.

Tri-State collected 14 hits, including a double and three singles by Dwight Cowgill. Dave Moreland rapped a two-bagger and two singles, Ricky Wolford a triple and two-base hit, Billy Hosier a homer and single and Rodney Long walloped a round-tripper. Dave Petenbrink and Dave Emerick had Wellersburg's hits.

Barrelville, in second place, 1½ games off the pace, reeled off its fourth straight win at the expense of the LaVale Maroons, 10-2.

John Helmick (4-1) gave up two hits, a triple by Twigg and a double by Cross, and struck out eleven. The Barrelville hurler also smashed a triple and single while Jim Robertson and Joe Beal garnered two singles each. Glenn Twigg, losing pitcher, fanned eight.

LaVale's Orioles handed the Cresaptown Eagles their tenth defeat, 12-8, at Cresaptown.

John Cochenour sparked the 12-hit attack with a triple and two singles, Bobby Blough obtained two hits, John Wilson and Tom Ellsworth belted homers and Mike O'Donnell larruped a triple. The fielding highlight was John Corley's catch in centerfield of Larry Appel's bid for a homer with two aboard.

Billy Wilson, Orioles' twirler, struck out seven.

Appel rapped a double and two singles while Dennis McKenzie and David Brown obtained two hits each for the Eagles.

With Junior Brelsford pitching a near-perfect game, the Moose edged the Elks, 1-0, yesterday at Post Field to remain tied for the Rocking Chair League lead with the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who downed Rothe Heating, 8-4, at Stitcher Field. Both teams have 13-2 records.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass handed C&P its 14th straight setback, snowing the Phonemen under, 20-0, at East Side Field.

Brelsford faced the minimum number of 21 batters and allowed only one base-runner, who was quickly erased. Joe Wolfe touched the righthander for a base hit in the fourth inning, but was cut down at second base by shortfielder Bill Thompson when he tried to stretch it into a double.

The Moose managed only four hits off Leo Rhodes, putting two of them together in the first inning for the lone run of the well-played contest. Donnie Madden doubled and scored on Bobby Keyser's single. Mickey Cunningham also rapped a double for the Moose.

VFW took advantage of Webb Hull's wildness to score four runs in the opening inning. Hull, who gave up five free passes in the frame, walked in all four runs.

In the bottom of the third, the Vets' defenses fell apart and Rothe capitalized on four errors for three runs.

George Stevenson and player-manager Cecil Grimes each hit solo home runs for the Vets in the sixth inning. Winning pitcher Tom McLuckie contributed a triple to the VFW cause, Ronnie Cage had a double and single, and Mel Dean tagged a pair of singles.

Thrasher, with a double and two singles, and Bobby Goss with a three-bagger and single accounted for five of the loser's nine hits.

Pittsburgh Plate, who earlier in the season walloped C&P 25-10, cut loose for 19 hits in yesterday's runaway. John Lechliter was 4-5, with a home run and triple included. Al Sheetz, Bill Thompson and Jim Hinkle obtained three hits apiece. C&P was limited to three singles.

Kearns' Rites Set For Today

Jack Dempsey Is Among Pallbearers

MIAMI (UPI) — Funeral services are scheduled here Wednesday for Jack (Doc) Kearns, the fast-talking, freewheeling manager who wrote some of the most colorful pages in prizefighting history books.

The services are scheduled for 3 p.m., starting ith a simple srevice in a Mortuary Chapel. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetary several miles away.

Kearns, who booked boxing's first million-dollar gate, died Sunday at the age of 80.

Scheduled as one of the pallbearers is Jack Dempsey, who was Kearns' greatest champion and a longtime friend. It was Dempsey, now 68, who dubbed the high-living Kearns "Doc," because he knew so many prescriptions for linaments and bloodstoppers.

And it was Dempsey who teamed with Kearns for the first million dollar gate — the bout with Frenchman Georges Carpentier in 1921.

In all, the colorful double-talker managed six world champions.

Senators Buy Hurler

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Washington Senators purchased southpaw Ron Moeller from the Hawaii Islanders Tuesday and optioned infielder Jack Kennedy to the same Pacific Coast League club.

Moeller had brief previous trials with the Baltimore Orioles and Los Angeles Angels.

Joseph Cops Medal In Public Links Golf Tournament

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — John Joseph, a 20-year-old from Hayward, Calif., who lost to Dick Sikes in quarter-finals of the 1962 National Public Links Golf Championship, fired a 71 Tuesday to go with Monday's 70 and won medalist honors at the 1963 Publinx Tournament.

The favorite Sikes, Publinx Champion the past two years, was four strokes back with a 72-73—145 over the par 72 Haggin Oaks Golf course and easily qualified with 63 others for match play, which runs from Wednesday through Saturday.

Leroy Beasly of Mesquite, Texas, the first-day leader at 69, bogied the 18th hole for a 73 and a two-day total of 142 over the heavily treed 6,702-yard course.

Tom Randall, New Orleans, carded a 69 for the day's best score. He had a 146 total.

Bud Bradley of Los Angeles dropped in a 12-foot chip shot for a birdie on the par-3 eighth hole and wedged in from 40 feet for a bird on the 450-yard 18th. He was third at 71-72—143.

Clay Gets Offer To Fight Liston

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—A million-dollar offer was made Tuesday to Cassius Clay, poetic contender for the heavyweight title, to fight champion Sonny Liston in Philadelphia next September.

Promoter Bob Nilon, Chester businessman who is a brother of Jack Nilon, the adviser of Liston, said the offer to Clay was on a non-rhyming "take it or leave it" meter.

Nilon said he would meet Wednesday morning in New York with Bill Faversham, head of the 11-member Louisville combine guiding the destiny of loquacious Cassius. Ambrose (Bud) Dudley, Liberty Bowl football promoter and president of the Philadelphia Hockey Ramblers, will go to New York with Nilon.

Nilon said the offer to Clay was a 20 per cent of all gross receipts for a meeting with the champion at Philadelphia Stadium next Sept. 30.

An Imaginary Interview With A Real Yankee Hater

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — An imaginary interview with a real Yankee hater:

Interviewer: I understand that you are a Yankee hater.

Yankee hater: Am I a Yankee hater? Compared to me, Jefferson Davis was sweet tempered. Listen, when the Yankees win I can't sleep at night, and if I do, I have nightmares. I get sick to my stomach. I snap at my wife and scream at the kids. I kick the cat. I hate the Yankees so bad I even turn off Mel Allen if he's broadcasting a football game.

I: That seems to be pretty conclusive evidence. Where are you from?

YH: Pittsburgh.

I: But you don't even have a club in the American League. What team do you root for?

YH: I root for all of them, except the Yankees. I'm for Washington, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Kansas City, Baltimore, Los Angeles, Boston and the Minnesota Twins. I root for them all to beat the Yankees, and I don't care which one wins the pennant as long as the Yankees don't.

I: But why do you hate the Yankees so much?

YH: I wish I knew. It's been ruining my disposition and digestion for 25 years.

I: Do you object to success?

YH: Heck, no. Some of my best friends are successful. Usually I like winners. The only stock I own is AT&T.

I: Maybe it's the way the Yankees win. Their cold efficiency.

YH: Nah, there isn't any one way the Yankees win. They win 13-2, and they win 9-8 in 14 innings, and they win 3-2. They also win 9-1 and 1-0. You can't say that they are monotonous in that respect. There isn't any possible way to win a ball game that they haven't used. I guess it's that feeling of inevitability that gets me.

I: But the Yankees don't always win. Sometimes they lose.

YH: Even when they do, it's only temporary. You know there is going to be another day, and the Yankees will win then. They know it, too. At the end of the season, the Yankees will be in first place. They always are and they always will be.

I: Have you ever seen the Yankees play?

YH: Not for years. Last time I was there they won 8-7 on eight unearned runs in the bottom of the ninth with two out. My wife hid all the sharp objects in the house for days. She thought I was going to cut my throat.

I: I've got an idea. Why don't you try rooting FOR the Yankees. Then you might feel better.

YH: It doesn't work. Even when I root FOR them, they win.

Corriganville, Barrelville Cop County Wins

Barrelville's league-leading Old Germans flogged Hyndman, 12-3, yesterday on the losers' diamond for their 14th County Softball League victory in 18 starts.

Second place Corriganville remained a game and a half behind the leaders with an 8-6 home field decision over National Jet, and Stringtown downed Kennell's Mill, 6-2, at the latter place.

The Old Germans backed up Bill Kenney's four-hit pitching with a 17-hit attack that included a home run, double and single by John Witt. Joe Glass and Bob Cessna each had three singles for the winners, and Irvin Hosselrode collected two hits for Hyndman.

Corriganville jumped off to a 6-0 lead in the second inning, but the last place visitors rallied back to knot the count in the top of the sixth. Corriganville then came up with a pair of runs in its half of the sixth for victory number 12 against five losses.

Wayne and Bill Duckworth had three singles, and a double and single respectively for Corriganville. National Jet scored its half-dozen runs with the benefit of only four hits.

Stringtown pulled into a third place tie with Hyndman and climbed above the .500 mark at 9-8. Gary Hite tossed a four-hitter in upping his record to 7-3.

Steve Faulkner tripled, and Ron Jamison whacked a double and single for Stringtown. Two of the losers' four safeties were doubles by Don May and Sam Bittner.

Arnold Palmer 2-1 Choice In British Open

Pennsy Star Posts 66 In Practice

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. ANNES, England (AP)—Arnold Palmer shot a 4-under par 66 Tuesday in his final practice round for the British Open golf championship with an exhibition of driving that left most of his 119 rivals gasping "his drives were marvelous."

The 33-year-old Latrobe, Pa., pro sets out Wednesday as the 2-1 favorite to take his third straight British Open crown.

Peter Thomson of Australia is the only golfer who has won the Open three straight times in modern history.

"Arnold missed only one fairway," Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., said. "His driving was marvelous. He missed the fairway at the 15th—and then only by about 10 feet."

Palmer, Rodgers, Jack Nicklaus, the U.S. Masters champion from Columbus, Ohio; and Gary Player, the South African who is fifth in the money standings in the United States, played together.

Nicklaus and Rodgers defeated Palmer and Player up in a best-ball foursome.

Rodgers shot a 67, Player a 71 and Niclaus a 73. For the first time since practice for the 72-hole championship started the wind kicked up over the 6,836-yard Royal Lytham and St. Annes links. It has a par of 34-36—70.

The bookies still made Nicklaus a 5-1 second favorite behind Palmer with Player at 6-1, Thomson at 8-1 and Rodgers and Kel Nagle, Australian winner of the title in 1960, on the 10-1 mark.

The players will play 18-hole rounds Wednesday and Thursday with the field cut to the 45 low scorers for the final 36 holes on Friday. Any players tying for the 45th place also will qualify for Friday's pay-off play.

The British Open has a total prize money of $22,960. First money is $4,200.

Welters Matched

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jose Stable of Oriente, Cuba, and Stanley (Kitten) Hayward of Philadelphia, have been matched for a TV 10-round welterweight bout at Madison Square Garden on Aug. 3.

Stable has won four bouts in a row and has a 20-2-1 pro record. Hayward has a pro mark of 16-1-1.

West Virginia Receives $5.5 Million From Races

Two Charles Town Tracks Gave State $3.7 Million In '62

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Racing Commission said the state received more than $5.5 million in direct revenue from racing in 1962, or nearly $580,000 over the previous year.

The commission said the state's share of the revenue came from mutuel handles, daily license fees, occupational licenses and unredeemed pari - mutuel tickets at the four race tracks.

The tracks are the Charles Town Race Course and Shenandoah Downs, both at Charles Town, Wheeling Downs at Wheeling and Waterford Park at Chester.

All tracks during 1962 were allotted 406 racing days, however, due to unfavorable weather conditions and two serious fires at Wheeling Downs, there were actually 364 days of thoroughbred racing and 17 days of harness racing, the commission said.

Of the total revenue, $3.7 million was received from the operation of the two Charles Town tracks. Shenandoah Downs, a night track, led in revenue produced for the state with $1.9 million from 115 racing programs while the Charles Town Race Course, the state's first track, produced $1.8 million from 95 days of racing.

Waterford Park, the state's only mile-long oval, accounted for $1.2 million from 92 days of racing and Wheeling Downs produced $489,850 from 63 programs of thoroughbred racing and $52,017 from 17 programs operated at a harness track.

Purses paid by the associations in 1962 were $3.9 million—$416,000 above the purses paid the previous year.

Racing Commission Chairman Eugene Frederick said the revenue was the largest deposited in the state's general revenue fund since creation of the racing commission.

John DeMoss Heads Field In Archery Tournament Here

John DeMoss once again topped the field of archery competition at the tournament conducted Sunday by the Cumberland Bowhunters at their field range located on Pine Ridge Road.

Johnny fired a total aggregate score of 866 while Ward Jamison placed high in X-pert A Class with a 631 with Carl Nazelrod placing second with a 612.

Jim DeMoss took top award in X-pert B Class with a 613 score, and Donald Riley of Tri-Towns Archers of Westernport won Bowman Class with a 660.

Mitzi DeMoss placed first in the Women's Division with a 485 with Audrey Nazelrod winning Bowman Class with a 291.

Roger DeMoss won the Junior Division with a 459 total.

The local archery club will hold open house at their range Saturday at noon, and extends an invitation to all interested persons to visit their course and get acquainted with the members and their friends while shooting the bow and arrow. Refreshments will be sold at the clubhouse.

Hermans To Battle Pen-Mar League Leaders At Mt. Savage Today

Old Germans Beat Locals Three Times

Frostburg Seeks 6th Straight At 'Coney; Tailenders To Clash

Cumberland's Hermans will test the first place Mt. Savage Old Germans today at 6 p. m., in Mt. Savage in the feature contest of the three on tap in the Pen-Mar Baseball League.

Manager Kenny Johnson's league leaders will be gunning for their fourth consecutive win of the series over the Hermans, who have lost to the Old G's by scores of 5-1, 2-0 and 4-3 in contests played to date.

Mt. Savage has won 13 out of 17 games played to date and leads Frostburg's Merchants (12-5) by the margin of one game.

Frostburg, incidentally, is on a five-game winning binge and has knocked off Mt. Savage 6-3, Barrelville 9-3 and 3-2, Hyndman 3-2 and Cumberland 7-6 since losing to the Hermans on June 19 by the score of 2-0.

Manager Gary Keedy's Merchants play at Lonaconing today. This will be the fourth meeting of these teams and the Merchants hold a 2-1 edge but it was 'Coney that handed Frostburg its worst beating of the season, 11-0. The Mountain City team won the other games by scores of 8-1 and 4-3.

In the "Battle of Tailenders," Hyndman (5-12) in fifth place, entertains the Barrelville Old Exports (3-15), occupant of last place, in the third game on today's slate.

The teams that were the league's top contenders for many years will be tangling for the fourth time this season. Barrelville won the first two games, 8-3 and 3-2, but lost the third contest, 6-0.

The Pen-Mar League's all-star game will be staged Saturday at Municipal Field.

Tri-State Memorial kept its record unblemished in the Pen-Mar Little League by registering its 10th victory of the season at the expense of Wellersburg yesterday on the Pennsylvanians' field by the score of 13-1.

Bobby Deremer recorded his sixth win on a two-hitter and fired the third strike past 12 batsmen. He failed to issue a base on balls.

Tri-State collected 14 hits, including a double and three singles by Dwight Cowgill. Dave Moreland rapped a two-bagger and two singles, Ricky Wolford a triple and two-base hit, Billy Hosier a homer and single and Rodney Long walloped a round-tripper. Dave Petenbrink and Dave Emerick had Wellersburg's hits.

Barrelville, in second place, 1½ games off the pace, reeled off its fourth straight win at the expense of the LaVale Maroons, 10-2.

John Helmick (4-1) gave up two hits, a triple by Twigg and a double by Cross, and struck out eleven. The Barrelville hurler also smashed a triple and single while Jim Robertson and Joe Beal garnered two singles each. Glenn Twigg, losing pitcher, fanned eight.

LaVale's Orioles handed the Cresaptown Eagles their tenth defeat, 12-8, at Cresaptown.

John Cochenour sparked the 12-hit attack with a triple and two singles, Bobby Blough obtained two hits, John Wilson and Tom Ellsworth belted homers and Mike O'Donnell larruped a triple. The fielding highlight was John Corley's catch in centerfield of Larry Appel's bid for a homer with two aboard.

Billy Wilson, Orioles' twirler, struck out seven.

Appel rapped a double and two singles while Dennis McKenzie and David Brown obtained two hits each for the Eagles.

With Junior Brelsford pitching a near-perfect game, the Moose edged the Elks, 1-0, yesterday at Post Field to remain tied for the Rocking Chair League lead with the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who downed Rothe Heating, 8-4, at Stitcher Field. Both teams have 13-2 records.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass handed C&P its 14th straight setback, snowing the Phonemen under, 20-0, at East Side Field.

Brelsford faced the minimum number of 21 batters and allowed only one base-runner, who was quickly erased. Joe Wolfe touched the righthander for a base hit in the fourth inning, but was cut down at second base by shortfielder Bill Thompson when he tried to stretch it into a double.

The Moose managed only four hits off Leo Rhodes, putting two of them together in the first inning for the lone run of the well-played contest. Donnie Madden doubled and scored on Bobby Keyser's single. Mickey Cunningham also rapped a double for the Moose.

VFW took advantage of Webb Hull's wildness to score four runs in the opening inning. Hull, who gave up five free passes in the frame, walked in all four runs.

In the bottom of the third, the Vets' defenses fell apart and Rothe capitalized on four errors for three runs.

George Stevenson and player-manager Cecil Grimes each hit solo home runs for the Vets in the sixth inning. Winning pitcher Tom McLuckie contributed a triple to the VFW cause, Ronnie Cage had a double and single, and Mel Dean tagged a pair of singles.

Thrasher, with a double and two singles, and Bobby Goss with a three-bagger and single accounted for five of the loser's nine hits.

Pittsburgh Plate, who earlier in the season walloped C&P 25-10, cut loose for 19 hits in yesterday's runaway. John Lechliter was 4-5, with a home run and triple included. Al Sheetz, Bill Thompson and Jim Hinkle obtained three hits apiece. C&P was limited to three singles.

Kearns' Rites Set For Today

Jack Dempsey Is Among Pallbearers

MIAMI (UPI) — Funeral services are scheduled here Wednesday for Jack (Doc) Kearns, the fast-talking, freewheeling manager who wrote some of the most colorful pages in prizefighting history books.

The services are scheduled for 3 p.m., starting ith a simple srevice in a Mortuary Chapel. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetary several miles away.

Kearns, who booked boxing's first million-dollar gate, died Sunday at the age of 80.

Scheduled as one of the pallbearers is Jack Dempsey, who was Kearns' greatest champion and a longtime friend. It was Dempsey, now 68, who dubbed the high-living Kearns "Doc," because he knew so many prescriptions for linaments and bloodstoppers.

And it was Dempsey who teamed with Kearns for the first million dollar gate — the bout with Frenchman Georges Carpentier in 1921.

In all, the colorful double-talker managed six world champions.

Senators Buy Hurler

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Washington Senators purchased southpaw Ron Moeller from the Hawaii Islanders Tuesday and optioned infielder Jack Kennedy to the same Pacific Coast League club.

Moeller had brief previous trials with the Baltimore Orioles and Los Angeles Angels.

Joseph Cops Medal In Public Links Golf Tournament

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — John Joseph, a 20-year-old from Hayward, Calif., who lost to Dick Sikes in quarter-finals of the 1962 National Public Links Golf Championship, fired a 71 Tuesday to go with Monday's 70 and won medalist honors at the 1963 Publinx Tournament.

The favorite Sikes, Publinx Champion the past two years, was four strokes back with a 72-73—145 over the par 72 Haggin Oaks Golf course and easily qualified with 63 others for match play, which runs from Wednesday through Saturday.

Leroy Beasly of Mesquite, Texas, the first-day leader at 69, bogied the 18th hole for a 73 and a two-day total of 142 over the heavily treed 6,702-yard course.

Tom Randall, New Orleans, carded a 69 for the day's best score. He had a 146 total.

Bud Bradley of Los Angeles dropped in a 12-foot chip shot for a birdie on the par-3 eighth hole and wedged in from 40 feet for a bird on the 450-yard 18th. He was third at 71-72—143.

Clay Gets Offer To Fight Liston

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—A million-dollar offer was made Tuesday to Cassius Clay, poetic contender for the heavyweight title, to fight champion Sonny Liston in Philadelphia next September.

Promoter Bob Nilon, Chester businessman who is a brother of Jack Nilon, the adviser of Liston, said the offer to Clay was on a non-rhyming "take it or leave it" meter.

Nilon said he would meet Wednesday morning in New York with Bill Faversham, head of the 11-member Louisville combine guiding the destiny of loquacious Cassius. Ambrose (Bud) Dudley, Liberty Bowl football promoter and president of the Philadelphia Hockey Ramblers, will go to New York with Nilon.

Nilon said the offer to Clay was a 20 per cent of all gross receipts for a meeting with the champion at Philadelphia Stadium next Sept. 30.

An Imaginary Interview With A Real Yankee Hater

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — An imaginary interview with a real Yankee hater:

Interviewer: I understand that you are a Yankee hater.

Yankee hater: Am I a Yankee hater? Compared to me, Jefferson Davis was sweet tempered. Listen, when the Yankees win I can't sleep at night, and if I do, I have nightmares. I get sick to my stomach. I snap at my wife and scream at the kids. I kick the cat. I hate the Yankees so bad I even turn off Mel Allen if he's broadcasting a football game.

I: That seems to be pretty conclusive evidence. Where are you from?

YH: Pittsburgh.

I: But you don't even have a club in the American League. What team do you root for?

YH: I root for all of them, except the Yankees. I'm for Washington, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Kansas City, Baltimore, Los Angeles, Boston and the Minnesota Twins. I root for them all to beat the Yankees, and I don't care which one wins the pennant as long as the Yankees don't.

I: But why do you hate the Yankees so much?

YH: I wish I knew. It's been ruining my disposition and digestion for 25 years.

I: Do you object to success?

YH: Heck, no. Some of my best friends are successful. Usually I like winners. The only stock I own is AT&T.

I: Maybe it's the way the Yankees win. Their cold efficiency.

YH: Nah, there isn't any one way the Yankees win. They win 13-2, and they win 9-8 in 14 innings, and they win 3-2. They also win 9-1 and 1-0. You can't say that they are monotonous in that respect. There isn't any possible way to win a ball game that they haven't used. I guess it's that feeling of inevitability that gets me.

I: But the Yankees don't always win. Sometimes they lose.

YH: Even when they do, it's only temporary. You know there is going to be another day, and the Yankees will win then. They know it, too. At the end of the season, the Yankees will be in first place. They always are and they always will be.

I: Have you ever seen the Yankees play?

YH: Not for years. Last time I was there they won 8-7 on eight unearned runs in the bottom of the ninth with two out. My wife hid all the sharp objects in the house for days. She thought I was going to cut my throat.

I: I've got an idea. Why don't you try rooting FOR the Yankees. Then you might feel better.

YH: It doesn't work. Even when I root FOR them, they win.

Corriganville, Barrelville Cop County Wins

Barrelville's league-leading Old Germans flogged Hyndman, 12-3, yesterday on the losers' diamond for their 14th County Softball League victory in 18 starts.

Second place Corriganville remained a game and a half behind the leaders with an 8-6 home field decision over National Jet, and Stringtown downed Kennell's Mill, 6-2, at the latter place.

The Old Germans backed up Bill Kenney's four-hit pitching with a 17-hit attack that included a home run, double and single by John Witt. Joe Glass and Bob Cessna each had three singles for the winners, and Irvin Hosselrode collected two hits for Hyndman.

Corriganville jumped off to a 6-0 lead in the second inning, but the last place visitors rallied back to knot the count in the top of the sixth. Corriganville then came up with a pair of runs in its half of the sixth for victory number 12 against five losses.

Wayne and Bill Duckworth had three singles, and a double and single respectively for Corriganville. National Jet scored its half-dozen runs with the benefit of only four hits.

Stringtown pulled into a third place tie with Hyndman and climbed above the .500 mark at 9-8. Gary Hite tossed a four-hitter in upping his record to 7-3.

Steve Faulkner tripled, and Ron Jamison whacked a double and single for Stringtown. Two of the losers' four safeties were doubles by Don May and Sam Bittner.

Arnold Palmer 2-1 Choice In British Open

Pennsy Star Posts 66 In Practice

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. ANNES, England (AP)—Arnold Palmer shot a 4-under par 66 Tuesday in his final practice round for the British Open golf championship with an exhibition of driving that left most of his 119 rivals gasping "his drives were marvelous."

The 33-year-old Latrobe, Pa., pro sets out Wednesday as the 2-1 favorite to take his third straight British Open crown.

Peter Thomson of Australia is the only golfer who has won the Open three straight times in modern history.

"Arnold missed only one fairway," Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., said. "His driving was marvelous. He missed the fairway at the 15th—and then only by about 10 feet."

Palmer, Rodgers, Jack Nicklaus, the U.S. Masters champion from Columbus, Ohio; and Gary Player, the South African who is fifth in the money standings in the United States, played together.

Nicklaus and Rodgers defeated Palmer and Player up in a best-ball foursome.

Rodgers shot a 67, Player a 71 and Niclaus a 73. For the first time since practice for the 72-hole championship started the wind kicked up over the 6,836-yard Royal Lytham and St. Annes links. It has a par of 34-36—70.

The bookies still made Nicklaus a 5-1 second favorite behind Palmer with Player at 6-1, Thomson at 8-1 and Rodgers and Kel Nagle, Australian winner of the title in 1960, on the 10-1 mark.

The players will play 18-hole rounds Wednesday and Thursday with the field cut to the 45 low scorers for the final 36 holes on Friday. Any players tying for the 45th place also will qualify for Friday's pay-off play.

The British Open has a total prize money of $22,960. First money is $4,200.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jose Stable of Oriente, Cuba, and Stanley (Kitten) Hayward of Philadelphia, have been matched for a TV 10-round welterweight bout at Madison Square Garden on Aug. 3.

Stable has won four bouts in a row and has a 20-2-1 pro record. Hayward has a pro mark of 16-1-1.

West Virginia Receives $5.5 Million From Races

Two Charles Town Tracks Gave State $3.7 Million In '62

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Racing Commission said the state received more than $5.5 million in direct revenue from racing in 1962, or nearly $580,000 over the previous year.

The commission said the state's share of the revenue came from mutuel handles, daily license fees, occupational licenses and unredeemed pari - mutuel tickets at the four race tracks.

The tracks are the Charles Town Race Course and Shenandoah Downs, both at Charles Town, Wheeling Downs at Wheeling and Waterford Park at Chester.

All tracks during 1962 were allotted 406 racing days, however, due to unfavorable weather conditions and two serious fires at Wheeling Downs, there were actually 364 days of thoroughbred racing and 17 days of harness racing, the commission said.

Of the total revenue, $3.7 million was received from the operation of the two Charles Town tracks. Shenandoah Downs, a night track, led in revenue produced for the state with $1.9 million from 115 racing programs while the Charles Town Race Course, the state's first track, produced $1.8 million from 95 days of racing.

Waterford Park, the state's only mile-long oval, accounted for $1.2 million from 92 days of racing and Wheeling Downs produced $489,850 from 63 programs of thoroughbred racing and $52,017 from 17 programs operated at a harness track.

Purses paid by the associations in 1962 were $3.9 million—$416,000 above the purses paid the previous year.

Racing Commission Chairman Eugene Frederick said the revenue was the largest deposited in the state's general revenue fund since creation of the racing commission.

John DeMoss Heads Field In Archery Tournament Here

John DeMoss once again topped the field of archery competition at the tournament conducted Sunday by the Cumberland Bowhunters at their field range located on Pine Ridge Road.

Johnny fired a total aggregate score of 866 while Ward Jamison placed high in X-pert A Class with a 631 with Carl Nazelrod placing second with a 612.

Jim DeMoss took top award in X-pert B Class with a 613 score, and Donald Riley of Tri-Towns Archers of Westernport won Bowman Class with a 660.

Mitzi DeMoss placed first in the Women's Division with a 485 with Audrey Nazelrod winning Bowman Class with a 291.

Roger DeMoss won the Junior Division with a 459 total.

The local archery club will hold open house at their range Saturday at noon, and extends an invitation to all interested persons to visit their course and get acquainted with the members and their friends while shooting the bow and arrow. Refreshments will be sold at the clubhouse.

Houk's Son Is Held On Dyer Act Charge

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Richard William Houk, 20-year-old stepson of New York Yankee Manager Ralph Houk, waived preliminary hearing in U.S. District Court Tuesday and was bound over for trial on a Dyer Act charge.

Young Houk is charged with transporting a stolen car across state lines.

Willie Mays Sparks National League To 5-3 Win In All-Star Game

Triumph Fifth In Last Seven Games For NL

Crowd Of 44,160 At Cleveland Boos Yankee Players

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Wonderful Willie Mays drove in two runs, scored two and stole two bases Tuesday for the favored National League in a 5-3 victory over the American League in the 34th All-Star baseball game.

A crowd of 44,160 amused themselves by booing the New York Yankee contingent on the frustrated American League squad that collected 11 hits to only six singles for the winners.

Manager Al Dark of the San Francisco Giants stuck with his National League starters most of the way while Ralph Houk of the Yankees substituted freely, using 21 of his 25 men.

Cut Series Lead

The victory enabled the National League to cut the American's lead in the series to 17-16-1. It was the National's fifth triumph in the last seven games and one of the others was a tie.

Bobby Richardson of the Yanks grounded into two rally-killing double plays and first baseman Joe Pepitone of the Yanks chose to make an unassisted out at first base in the fifth while Tommy Davis of Los Angeles scored from third with the tie-breaking run.

Mays, who has been slumbering in a season-long slump, helped rewrite the All-Star record book by topping two of his own marks with the two runs and the two stolen bases. He also tied Stan Musial's high of 20 hits over a 20-year span.

Jim Bunning of Detroit, unscored on in nine consecutive innings of All-Star play, saw his streak broken by an unearned run in the fifth that made him the losing pitcher.

Richardson Drops Ball

Bunning had walked Tommy Davis of Los Angeles, first man up in the inning, with the score tied at 3-3. After Hank Aaron of Milwaukee flied out, Bill White of the all-St. Louis Cardinal infield, hit a slow hopper to third. Frank Malzone of Boston hesitated momentarily and then threw to second to try for the force play. Richardson dropped the ball as he sped past the bag and Davis continued to third base.

When Mays grounded to Pepitone, the Yankee first baseman played it safe by running to first for the unassisted out. Many in the stands thought he had a chance to get Davis at the plate.

After pounding out seven hits and three runs in the first three innings, the Americans went quietly the rest of the way while the National added an insurance run in the eighth when White singled, stole second and scored on a single by Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs.

Reliefer Settles Down

Dick Radatz, the jumbo-sized Boston relief man, then settled down and struck out five men in his two-inning relief stretch.

From the third to the eighth the National did not manage to get a hit off Bunning, Jim Bouton of New York and Juan Pizarro of Chicago.

But Ray Culp of the Phillies, Hal Woodeshick of Houston and big Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers were shutting the door in the face of the Americans after the third inning. Larry Jackson of the Cubs, roughed up a bit in the third inning, was the winning pitcher.

When Nellie Fox of Chicago and Albie Pearson of Los Angeles opened with singles off National starter Jim O'Toole of Cincinnati in the first inning, the Americans seemed on their way. But a fine throw to the plate by Tommy Davis, nipping Fox as he tried to score on a fly ball by Detroit's Al Kaline, broke the back of the inning. It was the first of three National League double plays.

Mays walked the first time he faced starter Ken McBride of the Angels in the second inning, stole second and sped home with the first run on a single to left by Dick Groat of St. Louis.

The Americans came back to tie it in their half of the second when Leon Wagner of Los Angeles singled, Zoilo Versalles of Minnesota was hit by a pitched ball and McBride singled off Ken Boyer's glove into left field.

Mays Comes Through

Once again in the third it was Willie of San Francisco in the middle of a two-run spurt by the Nationals. Davis singled and was forced at second by Aaron. White grounded out before Mays came through with a run-scoring single to left center.

Mays took off for second and stole the base while McBride was pitching to Ed Bailey of San Francisco. When Bailey followed with a single to center, in came Willie with his second run of the day.

At the end of the sunny afternoon, Mays had a shiny .417 record to show for his All-Star efforts down through the years as compared with his .271 mark for the current season.

Little Albie Pearson, at 5-feet-5 the smallest man ever to play in an All-Star game, opened the American third with a double, the only extra base hit of the day. After Kaline struck out, Malzone singled to left scoring Pearson. Earl Battey continued the attack with a single to center that drove in Malzone. Jackson got Pepitone on a liner to right and that was the end of the American League scoring.

Suffers Minor Injury

Mays left the game in the ninth after bumping into the wire fence in left center when he went way back to drag down Pepitone's long fly ball in the eighth. He said afterward his injury was minor—a bruised toe.

This game marked the return to one All-Star affair a year. They have played two a year since 1959. In order to get the players' consent for the single game, the owners agreed to put 95 per cent of the net receipts of $250,384.59 and the TV-radio receipts into the player pension fund. In the past the players got only 60 per cent.

Dark used 19 of his players, winding up with three potential pinch hitters and three pitchers who didn't work.

Joe Hemmis Defends U.S. Hill Climbing Title Aug. 4

Brother "Tee" Also Will Compete At Muskegon, Mich.

Joseph W. Hemmis will defend the United States professional motorcycle hill climbing championship he won a year ago when he competes in the annual national title event at Muskegon, Mich., Sunday, August 4.

Joe has participated in 15 national championship events in the past 16 years and emerged the winner three times, as amateur in 1948 at Port Jervis, N. Y., and as professional in 1959 and 1962 at Muskegon. He also captured the Canadian national crown at Kitchener, Ont., in 1959.

Clarence "Tee" Hemmis, his brother, will also vie in the national at Muskegon next month. He copped a U. S. amateur title in 1948 and won the Canadian championship two years ago. Their father, Clarence W. "Tan" Hemmis, swept both national amateur events in 1946.

The Hemmis brothers are among the top ten point scorers in the nation this year. The 13 leading cyclists in the U. S. will compete at Muskegon. Joe and "Tee" ride Triumph motors, manufactured in Coventry, England.

Joe won a pro trophy event at Bloomsburg, Pa., Sunday, his time being 4.70 seconds for the 200-foot course. "Tee" scored a week ago at Beaverdale, Pa., in 5.02 for a similar distance.

This Sunday the Hemmis brothers will go to Hornell, N. Y., for a three-star climb.

The Free State Riders Motorcycle Club is planning another hill climb in August if the date is approved by the American Motorcycle Association. The last climb sponsored by this organization was in May on the Kline Farm Hill in Wiley Ford.

FUND-RAISER — That recent victory in the Suburban Handicap in New York added $70,525 to the bankroll of Kelso, the handicap star, and put his career earnings at $1,307,038. The total now places him second to the all-time leader, Round Table. Kelso, a six-year-old gelding, is owned by Mrs. Richard C. duPont.

Ft. Cumberland To Play At Frederick July 27-28

Legion Teams Play Series For Berth In State Tourney

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, winner of the Mountain District League title, and Francis Scott Key Post of Frederick, will meet in a best-of-three game series at McCurdy Field, Frederick, July 27-28, to determine Western Maryland's representative in the American Legion state junior baseball tournament in August at College Park.

A doubleheader is scheduled for Saturday, July 27, and if a third game is necessary it will be staged the following day.

Fort Cumberland Post earned a state berth last year by winning two out of three games from Frederick here. The locals won the first and third games, 9-3 and 4-3, and Frederick took the second, 10-8. Jimmy Powelson scored both wins for Cumberland.

Fort Cumberland then went on to capture the state title by defeating Salisbury twice and Essex of Baltimore county. In the Eastern regional, the locals lost to Dover, Del., and Buffalo, N.Y.

Toy Shop Hands VFW First Loss

Last Place Club Pulls Upset, 8-6

Manager George Flynn's Toy Shop tossers, who had been co-occupants of the cellar in the High School Rec Baseball League, pulled off a major upset yesterday by tripping previously unbeaten VFW, 8-6, at Fort Hill Field.

Prior to yesterday's shocker, VFW was rolling along at a 5-0 clip and Toy Shop shared last place with Gurley's at 2-4.

Righthander Dave Price went all the way for Toy Shop, allowing seven hits and striking out eight. After giving up three runs in the first, Price settled down and hurled scoreless ball until the fifth.

Olin Perkins and Wayne Jewell collected three hits apiece, and "Lefty" Shircliffe poled a double for the winners. Center-fielder Bill Deffenbaugh's catch of Allen Foley's blast in the bottom of the seventh was the fielding gem of the game.

Tommy Keyser came through with three hits for VFW.

Dick Whetzle, Tiso, Doser In Playoff

BALTIMORE (AP) — Defending champion Dick Whetzle birdied the final hole Tuesday to finish in a three-way tie for the Maryland State Open golf championship with Clarence Doser and Cos Tiso.

The leaders, who tied at 2-over par 212 after playing 54 holes on the Suburban Club course, will meet in an 18-hole playoff Wednesday for the title.

Whetzle, of the Woodholme Country Club, sank a 15-foot putt on the par 4, 18th green to conclude 36 holes of golf for the day. Tiso, from Bonnie View Country Club, and Doser of Washington Golf and Country Club, each parred the last hole.

Dick Sleichter of Chartwell Country Club finished runnerup to the leaders with 214. Lou Graham of Ft. Meade was fifth with 215, followed by Bill Bassler of Rolling Road Country Club and Bill Sporre of Ft. Meade at 216.

Willie Mays Sparks National League To 5-3 Win In All-Star Game

Triumph Fifth In Last Seven Games For NL

Crowd Of 44,160 At Cleveland Boos Yankee Players

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Wonderful Willie Mays drove in two runs, scored two and stole two bases Tuesday for the favored National League in a 5-3 victory over the American League in the 34th All-Star baseball game.

A crowd of 44,160 amused themselves by booing the New York Yankee contingent on the frustrated American League squad that collected 11 hits to only six singles for the winners.

Manager Al Dark of the San Francisco Giants stuck with his National League starters most of the way while Ralph Houk of the Yankees substituted freely, using 21 of his 25 men.

Cut Series Lead

The victory enabled the National League to cut the American's lead in the series to 17-16-1. It was the National's fifth triumph in the last seven games and one of the others was a tie.

Bobby Richardson of the Yanks grounded into two rally-killing double plays and first baseman Joe Pepitone of the Yanks chose to make an unassisted out at first base in the fifth while Tommy Davis of Los Angeles scored from third with the tie-breaking run.

Mays, who has been slumbering in a season-long slump, helped rewrite the All-Star record book by topping two of his own marks with the two runs and the two stolen bases. He also tied Stan Musial's high of 20 hits over a 20-year span.

Jim Bunning of Detroit, unscored on in nine consecutive innings of All-Star play, saw his streak broken by an unearned run in the fifth that made him the losing pitcher.

Richardson Drops Ball

Bunning had walked Tommy Davis of Los Angeles, first man up in the inning, with the score tied at 3-3. After Hank Aaron of Milwaukee flied out, Bill White of the all-St. Louis Cardinal infield, hit a slow hopper to third. Frank Malzone of Boston hesitated momentarily and then threw to second to try for the force play. Richardson dropped the ball as he sped past the bag and Davis continued to third base.

When Mays grounded to Pepitone, the Yankee first baseman played it safe by running to first for the unassisted out. Many in the stands thought he had a chance to get Davis at the plate.

After pounding out seven hits and three runs in the first three innings, the Americans went quietly the rest of the way while the National added an insurance run in the eighth when White singled, stole second and scored on a single by Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs.

Reliefer Settles Down

Dick Radatz, the jumbo-sized Boston relief man, then settled down and struck out five men in his two-inning relief stretch.

From the third to the eighth the National did not manage to get a hit off Bunning, Jim Bouton of New York and Juan Pizarro of Chicago.

But Ray Culp of the Phillies, Hal Woodeshick of Houston and big Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers were shutting the door in the face of the Americans after the third inning. Larry Jackson of the Cubs, roughed up a bit in the third inning, was the winning pitcher.

When Nellie Fox of Chicago and Albie Pearson of Los Angeles opened with singles off National starter Jim O'Toole of Cincinnati in the first inning, the Americans seemed on their way. But a fine throw to the plate by Tommy Davis, nipping Fox as he tried to score on a fly ball by Detroit's Al Kaline, broke the back of the inning. It was the first of three National League double plays.

Mays walked the first time he faced starter Ken McBride of the Angels in the second inning, stole second and sped home with the first run on a single to left by Dick Groat of St. Louis.

The Americans came back to tie it in their half of the second when Leon Wagner of Los Angeles singled, Zoilo Versalles of Minnesota was hit by a pitched ball and McBride singled off Ken Boyer's glove into left field.

Mays Comes Through

Once again in the third it was Willie of San Francisco in the middle of a two-run spurt by the Nationals. Davis singled and was forced at second by Aaron. White grounded out before Mays came through with a run-scoring single to left center.

Mays took off for second and stole the base while McBride was pitching to Ed Bailey of San Francisco. When Bailey followed with a single to center, in came Willie with his second run of the day.

At the end of the sunny afternoon, Mays had a shiny .417 record to show for his All-Star efforts down through the years as compared with his .271 mark for the current season.

Little Albie Pearson, at 5-feet-5 the smallest man ever to play in an All-Star game, opened the American third with a double, the only extra base hit of the day. After Kaline struck out, Malzone singled to left scoring Pearson. Earl Battey continued the attack with a single to center that drove in Malzone. Jackson got Pepitone on a liner to right and that was the end of the American League scoring.

Suffers Minor Injury

Mays left the game in the ninth after bumping into the wire fence in left center when he went way back to drag down Pepitone's long fly ball in the eighth. He said afterward his injury was minor—a bruised toe.

This game marked the return to one All-Star affair a year. They have played two a year since 1959. In order to get the players' consent for the single game, the owners agreed to put 95 per cent of the net receipts of $250,384.59 and the TV-radio receipts into the player pension fund. In the past the players got only 60 per cent.

Dark used 19 of his players, winding up with three potential pinch hitters and three pitchers who didn't work.

Three Are Tied In State Open

Dick Whetzle, Tiso, Doser In Playoff

BALTIMORE (AP) — Defending champion Dick Whetzle birdied the final hole Tuesday to finish in a three-way tie for the Maryland State Open golf championship with Clarence Doser and Cos Tiso.

The leaders, who tied at 2-over par 212 after playing 54 holes on the Suburban Club course, will meet in an 18-hole playoff Wednesday for the title.

Whetzle, of the Woodholme Country Club, sank a 15-foot putt on the par 4, 18th green to conclude 36 holes of golf for the day. Tiso, from Bonnie View Country Club, and Doser of Washington Golf and Country Club, each parred the last hole.

Dick Sleichter of Chartwell Country Club finished runnerup to the leaders with 214. Lou Graham of Ft. Meade was fifth with 215, followed by Bill Bassler of Rolling Road Country Club and Bill Sporre of Ft. Meade at 216.

Waivers Asked On Harlon Hill

DETROIT (UPI)—Harlon Hill and Leo Sugar, two nine-year veterans of the National Football League, will not be returning to the Detroit Lions next season.

Lions Coach George Wilson said he has asked waivers on Hill which means he can be picked up by any team in the NFL or may wind up as a free agent.

Hill, an offensive end, formerly played with the Chicago Bears and Pittsburgh Steelers.

Hartack Rides Four Arlington Winners

CHICAGO, July 9 (AP)—Jockey Bill Hartack scored his fourth victory of the day by piloting Montell Stewart's War Council to a length and a half victory in the $10,000 Northwestern Purse at Arlington Park today.

Blue Tassle, favored by the crowd of 14,446, finished second in the 5½ furlongs turf sprint. The Tongan was third after being practically left at the post.

War Council took the lead shortly after the start and was never headed. He was timed in 1:04 1/5, and paid $8.20, $4 and $3. Blue Tassle paid $3.40 and $2.60 and The Tongan was $4 to show.

BOOST FOR YANKS — Al Downing, called up from Richmond of the International loop a month ago, already has won three games for the Yankees, his latest being a one-hitter against the Chicago White Sox. Downing received trials with the Yanks the last two years and was 9-13 with Richmond last season. He's a lefthander from Trenton, N. J.

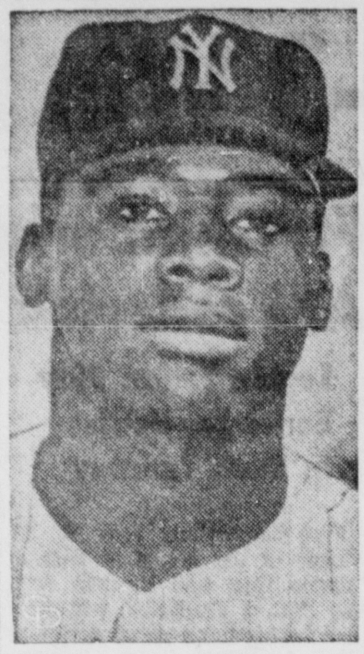
Hartack Rides Four Arlington Winners

CHICAGO, July 9 (AP)—Jockey Bill Hartack scored his fourth victory of the day by piloting Montell Stewart's War Council to a length and a half victory in the $10,000 Northwestern Purse at Arlington Park today.

Blue Tassle, favored by the crowd of 14,446, finished second in the 5½ furlongs turf sprint. The Tongan was third after being practically left at the post.

War Council took the lead shortly after the start and was never headed. He was timed in 1:04 1/5, and paid $8.20, $4 and $3. Blue Tassle paid $3.40 and $2.60 and The Tongan was $4 to show.

Hartack now has 19 winners for the meeting. He's in second place, well behind Walter Blum who leads with 40 winners.



BOOST FOR YANKS — Al Downing, called up from Richmond of the International loop a month ago, already has won three games for the Yankees, his latest being a one-hitter against the Chicago White Sox. Downing received trials with the Yanks the last two years and was 9-13 with Richmond last season. He's a left-hander from Trenton, N. J.

Market Posts Good Gain As Rail Issues Rebound

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rails shook off their preoccupation with a strike long enough Tuesday to lead the stock market higher on a slight pickup in volume.

After taking their worst trouncing in 13 months Monday, the carrier group rebounded to close in the Dow-Jones averages with a gain of 2.18 — the sharpest jump since June 24.

The feeling among most brokers has been that the government will intervene and avert a nationwide carrier strike. Contributing to Tuesday's gain in the average were Great Northern up 1⅝, Louisville & Nashville 1, Norfolk & Western 1¼ and Illinois Central 1½ — the last on sharply higher earnings.

Dow-Jones industrials closed up 3.43 and Standard & Poor's more comprehensive 500 stock index showed a gain of 0.30. Trading totaled 3.83 million shares compared with 3.29 million in the previous session.

The D-J utilities closed up 0.26. Of the 1,318 issues traded, 653 advanced and 376 declined — 44 to new 1963 highs and 16 to new lows.

Chicago Grains

CH¾IPCAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (UPI) — Wheat backtracked but most grain futures posted moderate gains Tuesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the close, wheat was off ⅛ to 2⅝; corn up ¼ to 1½; oats unchanged to up ¼; rye off ⅛ to up ¾; and soybeans up ⅝ to 1½.

The disappearance of moisture derived from weekend rains over parts of the midwest brought buying to soybeans and corn. Shorts covered in all grain pits on fear of a railroad strike.

However, a government weekly report and a private survey both indicating good crop progress dampened early buying enthusiasm in soybeans and corn. rices fell from early highs.

Soybeans were up more than 2 cents a bushel during the trade. The weekly export figure was larger than a year ago and supported the belief that the season's total will reach the projected figure.

uly corn advanced more than a cent and led other deliveries upward. The feed grain benefitted from fair weather, the possibility of the rail strike and good export trade.

Wheat traded firm but ended weak.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

BUZ SAWYER

SOMEBODY FOULED OUR PROPELLER!
SOMEBODY STARTED A FIRE IN THE PAINT LOCKER! WHAT I WANT TO KNOW IS WHO?
PARDON ME, CAPTAIN GATO.
NOT ME!
NOR ME!
ME NEITHER!
...BUT THE RUBBER LIFE RAFTS ARE ALL MESSED UP AND ONE IS MISSING!
HMM! ALSO MISSING IS THE AMERICAN WOMAN AND HER SON.
BUT IT'S RIDICULOUS TO THINK THEY COULD BE SABOTEURS.
ALSO, MI CAPITAN, JUST BEFORE THE FIRE, I PASSED THE BOY NEAR THE PAINT LOCKER. HE HAD A LIGHTED CIGARETTE.

Market Posts Good Gain As Rail Issues Rebound

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rails shook off their preoccupation with a strike long enough Tuesday to lead the stock market higher on a slight pickup in volume.

After taking their worst trouncing in 13 months Monday, the carrier group rebounded to close in the Dow-Jones averages with a gain of 2.18 — the sharpest jump since June 24.

The feeling among most brokers has been that the government will intervene and avert a nationwide carrier strike. Contributing to Tuesday's gain in the average were Great Northern up 1⅝, Louisville & Nashville 1, Norfolk & Western 1¼ and Illinois Central 1½ — the last on sharply higher earnings.

Dow-Jones industrials closed up 3.43 and Standard & Poor's more comprehensive 500 stock index showed a gain of 0.30. Trading totaled 3.83 million shares compared with 3.29 million in the previous session.

The D-J utilities closed up 0.26. Of the 1,318 issues traded, 653 advanced and 376 declined — 44 to new 1963 highs and 16 to new lows.

Chicago Grains

CH¼IPCAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (UPI) — Wheat backtracked but most grain futures posted moderate gains Tuesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the close, wheat was off ⅛ to 2⅝; corn up ¼ to 1½; oats unchanged to up ¼; rye off ⅛ to up ¾; and soybeans up ⅝ to 1½.

The disappearance of moisture derived from weekend rains over parts of the midwest brought buying to soybeans and corn. Shorts covered in all grain pits on fear of a railroad strike.

However, a government weekly report and a private survey both indicating good crop progress dampened early buying enthusiasm in soybeans and corn. rices fell from early highs.

Soybeans were up more than 2 cents a bushel during the trade. The weekly export figure was larger than a year ago and supported the belief that the season's total will reach the projected figure.

uly corn advanced more than a cent and led other deliveries upward. The feed grain benefitted from fair weather, the possibility of the rail strike and good export trade.

Wheat traded firm but ended weak.

Oats firmed on commission buying. Rye followed the action of other grains.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Realty Ramblings . . .

As a potenital buyer of residential property, you are naturally interested in how you can most profitably invest your money.

T. T. SUMMERS

If you are merely interested in buying a house, then the answer is easy. Simply look until you find one with the greatest resale value that you can purchase at the largest discount.

If, however, you are looking for a home for your wife and children to live in and enjoy for the next several years, then you must set your sights a little deeper than just the plain everyday economy of the situation.

No house is a bargain that cannot be made into a comfortable, happy home for all members of the family. No house is a bargain that does not fit into the pattern of living that is distinctly yours. No house is a bargain if each member of the family cannot, for one reason or another, take pardonable pride in claiming as their own.

In between these two extremes lies a happy medium wherein the purse strings and the joy of living have a happy union. But such finds are not come by easily.

Systematic elimination from carefully selected listings speed up the process immeasurably. Such a process can only be found in the office of the reliable REALTOR who has devoted the necessary time and expense to preparing such a listing. Our office is one of these and we invite you to make use of this service.

Realty Ramblings . . .

As a potenital buyer of residential property, you are naturally interested in how you can most profitably invest your money.

T. T. SUMMERS

If you are merely interested in buying a house, then the answer is easy. Simply look until you find one with the greatest resale value that you can purchase at the largest discount.

If, however, you are looking for a home for your wife and children to live in and enjoy for the next several years, then you must set your sights a little deeper than just the plain everyday economy of the situation.

No house is a bargain that cannot be made into a comfortable, happy home for all members of the family. No house is a bargain that does not fit into the pattern of living that is distinctly yours. No house is a bargain if each member of the family cannot, for one reason or another, take pardonable pride in claiming as their own.

In between these two extremes lies a happy medium wherein the purse strings and the joy of living have a happy union. But such finds are not come by easily.

Systematic elimination from carefully selected listings speed up the process immeasurably. Such a process can only be found in the office of the reliable REALTOR who has devoted the necessary time and expense to preparing such a listing. Our office is one of these and we invite you to make use of this service.

Urban Renewal Planning Funds Sought By City

Proposals Include Major, Minor Area

Applications for federal funds to develop a General Neighborhood Renewal Plan for rehabilitating the downtown area and to prepare a specific plan for the George Street urban renewal project will be submitted to the Housing and Home Finance Agency today.

William F. DeMare, executive director of the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency, left here yesterday for Philadelphia with copies of the applications and will submit them today to officials of the Urban Renewal Administration.

Action on the applications is expected within six or eight weeks, Mr. DeMare said.

Federal Urban Renewal staffers have held several conferences here with the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency and have advised they will give prompt attention to the applications when they are submitted.

Grants Are Sought

The applications will be reviewed by the Philadelphia office of the HHFA, which supervises the Urban Renewal program, and then sent on to Washington for final approval.

Such approval, Mr. DeMare said, will provide the local Urban Renewal agency with planning grants to help finance actual surveys and plans for both projects, plus a reservation for a capital grant for the George Street project.

Approved by the Mayor and Council several weeks ago the applications estimate the cost of preparing the general neighborhood renewal plan at $133,147 and the cost of making surveys and preparing definite plans for the proposed George Street urban renewal at $122,366.

The general neighborhood plan, which would be spread over about 10 years, is proposed to eliminate the spread of slums and blight in the downtown section, defined in the application as all of the area between the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway from the city line in the Narrows to Oldtown Road.

Areas Defined

The proposed George Street urban renewal project would be bounded on the north by Bedford Street, on the east by the B & O tracks, by Williams Street to the south and George Street to the west.

It is being proposed to eliminate blighted area in the eastern section of the downtown project and to provide the first section of the proposed loop street from Williams Street to Bedford Street.

This loop street, which would provide circulation around and access to the business section, is one of the major recommendations in the Thoroughfare Plan adopted by the city recently.

Mr. DeMare explained that in essence the documents being presented to the HHFA will request federal participation in preparing surveys and plans of the projects.

He emphasized actual plans have not been determined but will be developed when planning funds are available.

When plans are prepared, they will be submitted for a public hearing and approval of the Mayor and Council.

Only then, he said, will the agency be in a position to acquire property and go into details of redevelopment.

Carbide Workers Reject Union In NLRB Elections

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Approximately 60 pre cent of 1,058 eligible hourly construction employes of three Union Carbide facilities here and at Institute voted against union representation Tuesday in a National Labor Relations Board election.

The election had been called to determine whether or not Carbide hourly employes wished to be represented by the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers union or no union.

A total of 643 of the 1,058 who voted opposed the union while 412 voted for union representation. The election was conducted at the South Charleston and Institute plants while employes of Carbide's Technical Center also voted.

This is a view of the construction work on the new service center for the C&P Telephone Company which is being built at the corner of Blackiston and Quebec avenues in the Mapleside area. The work is being done by Carl O. Belt, Inc., and is scheduled to be completed by December 1. The one-story building will have several offices and an area to service trucks and other vehicles. Estimated cost of the project is approximately $100,000.

Paw Paw Man Appointed Head Of Sanitarium

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — New appointments to municipal police civil service commissions in 13 West Virginia cities were among several announced Tuesday by Gov. W. W. Barron.

The governor also announced appointment of Raymond K. Larkin, Paw Paw, Morgan County, to succeed Berkeley Springs Sanitarium superintendent A. C. Unger who resigned.

Barron reappointed L. A. Richardson of Keslers Cross Lanes, Nicholas County, to the Carnifex Ferry Battle Ground Park Commission. Also named to the commission were J. M. Tully of Summersville, succeeding Mrs. Gladys Vaughan of Keslers Cross Lanes, who resigned, and Mrs. Idra Carnifex Cutlip of Fenwick, Nicholas County, succeeding John H. McCutcheon, Summersville. They were named for terms ending June 30, 1967.

Reappointed to police civil service commissions for terms ending May 31, 1967, except where noted:

Beckley — Bernard L. Crawford; Buckhannon — R. M. Tetrick, for a term ending May 31, 1964; Charleston — A. H. McCutcheon; Hinton — Amett Willey.

Keyser — N. Howard Rogers; Moundsville — James J. Campbell; St. Albans — Joseph B. Specht; Weston — Charles Cummings; Williamson — Paul Renn.

FBI Arrests Theft Suspect

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents yesterday entered a remote section of Hardy County, W. Va., to locate and arrest Melvin Burkley Foley, 30, on a charge of interstate transportation of a stolen automobile.

Since January, Foley had been residing in the little out-of-the way community of Lost River near Trout Pond, the only natural lake in West Virginia. He had been using the name of Charles B. Seekford, and had been working as a laborer and at odd jobs, attempting to establish himself in the community, residents said. No one in the area was aware that he was wanted by the FBI.

William Alexander, special agent in charge of the FBI at Pittsburgh, confirmed the arrest of Foley and said he is held on a warrant issued January 3 by U. S. Commissioner Stanley King of Alexandria, Va. The warrant charges Foley, alias Seekford, with transporting a 1961 Chevrolet from Washington to Prince William County on October 30, 1962.

The FBI agents who made the arrest would not discuss the case other than to identify their prisoner and confirm the arrest. Foley was lodged for the night at Petersburg in the Grant County Jail to await the arrival of a U. S. marshal from Fairmont, probably today or tomorrow.

Young Scientists At Green Bank To Visit D.C.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—"Future scientists" attending the National Youth Science camp near Green Bank, Pocahontas County, will be given an "extra"—a trip to the nation's capital.

The West Virginia Centennial Commission and Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., announced Tuesday that the boys, two from each state, will be guests at a luncheon in the new Senate Office Building on July 18.

James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency, will be featured speaker at the luncheon.

The boys will travel by buses to Washington and be given a tour of the Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, Md., and the Mercury Control Center, following the luncheon.

The trip is being sponsored by the Claude Worthington Benedum Foundation, Pittsburgh.

Sewer Project Will Begin Today

The Hout Construction Company will begin work this morning on the Haddon Avenue sewer line project.

Plans for the work were made at a pre-construction conference on the site yesterday morning.

The project calls for the installation of about 1,380 feet of eight-inch sanitary sewer line on Haddon Avenue and Williams Road. Six manholes will be included.

The work will begin on Williams Road near its intersection with Winifred Road.

Costs will be shared by the government under the Accelerated Public Works program.

Miss Blake and Mr. Klavuhn graduated from Allegany High School and Mr. Lewis graduated from Fort Hill High School.

Moorefield Man Freed In Death Of Salesman

W. Va. High Court Reverses Verdict

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Supreme Court Tuesday ordered dismissal of an indictment which led to the murder-conspiracy conviction of John M. Rexroad, Moorefield, in the death of a Stephens City, Va., salesman in July, 1960.

Rexroad, one of five men indicted in the death of Eldridge Lee Ritter, 33, was convicted o conspiracy to commit second degree murder. He drew a 5-to-18 year suspended sentence from the Hardy County Circuit Court and was placed on five years' probation.

The state had charged that Rexroad and four companions pulled Ritter's arm back and forth across a broken car window following a drunken argument. Ritter died in his car from loss of blood. Charges against two of the men were dropped and two others were acquitted.

In a unanimous opinion written by Judge Chauncey Browning, the high court agreed with Rexroad's attorney that the indictment was "so uncertain and ambiguous it is impossible to determine what crime or offense the accused is attempted to be charged with."

"While the policy of modern courts is to disregard mere technical objections to an indictment and to require only that the indictment fully state the essential element of the offense charged, the indictment should allege in clear, simple and positive language the essential ingredients of the offense with such definitiveness and certainty as to fully-apprise the accused of the nature and cause of the accusation against him," Browning wrote.

The judge added that the indictment returned against Rexroad "does not include the basic element required by the statute in that none of the acts alleged to be in furtherance of a conspiracy occurred until after the wound had been inflicted."

Yule Decorations Committee Meets

A committee from the Downtown Cumberland Business Association met here recently in sweltering heat to look at samples of Christmas decorations.

The committee headed by S. Louis Curl and John F. Vandegrift looked at samples and illustrations of available materials so it would be ready in case the association should decide to add to its Christmas street display this year.

Woman Injured On Pa. Turnpike

A 77-year-old Connecticut woman is in critical condition at Bedford Memorial Hospital as the result of a one-car accident that occurred on the Pennsylvania Turnpike seven miles west of the Bedford interchange yesterday afternoon.

Miss Bertha Brown, Bridgeport, Conn., was hospitalized with fractures of both hips, the left shoulder, an arm, a leg and both ankles, and facial lacerations.

Pennsylvania State Police reported that they have not yet been able to determine how the accident occurred.

Hughes Named To Committee

Sen. George R. Hughes Jr. has been named to special Legislative Council Committee to review and study the population statistics of Victor Cullen Tuberculosis State Hospital to determine the most feasible use of the facility in the event it is no longer needed as a TB hospital.

The committee formation was authorized by the 1963 session of the General Assembly to check the records of the Frederick County facility.

Sen. William S. James, chairman of the Legislative Council, appointed Sen. George E. Snyder of Washington County as chairman of the committee.

Other members include Sen. John A. Derr, Frederick County; Del. Irvin F. Hoffman, Washington County, and Del. William M. Houck, Frederick County.

City Completes Fiscal '63 With $271,675 Surplus

Most Of Rise Is From Windfall

The City of Cumberland had a surplus of $271,675.77 on hand when the financial books of the 1962-1963 fiscal year were closed on June 30, according to Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill.

The so-called surplus is a little larger than last year, when $236,000 was on hand to prime the financial pump for the present fiscal year.

Mr. Hill said the surplus is up chiefly because of a windfall of $32,000 received from the Housing Authority of the City of Cumberland several months ago.

This surplus, which consists chiefly of income collected in excess of the levy and unspent appropriations, will become an important part of the new levy which must be set by August 25.

Since it represents only about $3,000 more of non-recurring funds than were on hand last year and certain expenses, such as pensions and insurance are up, it could mean a slight reduction in the new budget.

Collections Up

During the fiscal year, the city collected $2,138,285.18 from all levy sources and this left $147,165.18 on hand when $1,871.35 of uncollected funds are subtracted.

Most sources of income came in on schedule. Excess collections included $176.83 from general licenses, $46,917.75 from general and special income, $464.36 from interest on taxes, $208.41 from permits, $747.40 from the city scales, $319.20 from bingo tax, $2,429.77 from recreation income, $439.80 from state admission taxes, $168.75 from state franchise taxes, $11,277.23 from state gas and auto taxes, $12,303.72 from state income taxes, $3,088.92 from state racing income and $70,494.39 on the tax levy.

Only two income sources came up short—police fines by $1,408.85 and state auto license fees by $462.50.

Keep In Budgets

To provide services to citizens, the Mayor and Council last year appropriated $1,719,690.50.

Most accounts finished the year in the black and returned a total of $118,156.61 to the general fund, less overdrafts totaling $7,177.12 from eight accounts.

Overdrawn were the Constitution Park budget by $163.67, elections and registration by $719.96 as a result of costs of the fluoridation referendum, errors and insolvencies by $571.37, Police Department by $43.65, public building repairs by $591.22, Recreation Department by $1,083.67, storm sewer account by $691.88 and social security costs by $3,311.70.

Finishing the year with good balances were City Planning, by $1,729.97; Contingent fund, $44,458.14; flood project maintenance, $5,997.81; interest, untouched at $1,000; special project fund, $22,473.75; streets and alleys, $10,538.64, and street cleaning, $5,403.59.

Two Acres Of Brush Burn On East Side

Approximately two acres of brush burned yesterday and brought firemen from both East Side and Central fire companies. The property a vacant lot at the end of Golden Lane, is owned by Hugh A. Mullaney, Willowbrook Road.

Firemen received the call at 1:59 p. m. and were on the scene for two hours and 40 minutes. Brook Bodkin of the State Forestry Department stated that he had a fire line constructed around the area and that there was no danger of the fire flaring up again.

Kiwanis Club To Meet

Street Crews Go To Shades Lane Section Today

Light surfacing crews of the Cumberland Street Department will move today to the Shades Lane section, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property.

About 10 streets in that section were so badly damaged last winter that they will need major repairs.

Crews plan to tear up the damaged surface of streets in that area, reshape them and then apply a light surface treatment.

Mrs. Roeder estimated it will take about two weeks, given good weather, to complete the work in the Shades Lane area.

Street Department crews yesterday completed work in the Bedford-Frederick Street section.

W. Va. Group Will Study Medical Care

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A legislative subcommittee Tuesday agreed to study group medical care programs of other states to determine the advisability of such plans for West Virginia.

President Miles C. Stanley of the West Virginia Labor Federation, AFL-CIO, said the interim committee proposes to "extend the realm of medical service, not to supplant any present legislation."

Dr. William Riheldaffer, area mine administrator of the United Mine Workers' medical program said the best way to pay for medical care is through a group program.

"This cannot be done on a family basis. There has to be a pooling of resources," Riheldaffer said. The UMW official said "medical care is the only bill people are willing to pre-pay—because they are afraid."

The present study was an upshot of an unsuccessful proposal before the 1963 Legislature to allow creation of non-profit health care corporations in the state.

Also testifying before the committee was Larry Loftin, a representative of Hygeia Facilities Foundation Inc., Whitesville, W. Va. His firm, a non-profit organization, deals in pre-paid medical programs for miners in Wyoming, Boone, Kanawha and Putnam Counties.

Loftin says groups other than miners have requested to become members of his company's medical program, but have been denied because of present West Virginia laws pertaining to soliciting for medical programs.

Committee co-chairman Clarence H. Koontz said the next meeting of the committee, meeting either in August or September, possibly would hear testimony from members of the W. Va. Medical Association.

Md. Jaycee Gets U.S. Post

Ralph F. Sell Jr., a member of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce and a national director from Maryland, took part in the national election.

Mr. McJilton, who is well-known among local Jaycees, has served as vice president, first vice president and president of the Maryland Jaycees.

He is a graduate of Sparrows Point High School and attended Western Maryland College and the Baltimore Business College.

Departments Asked To Submit Budgets

Calls for budget requests have been issued by Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill.

Mr. Hill has asked all department heads to prepare budget proposals and submit them not later than July 25.

The new levy must be set, according to the city code, by August 25.

Mr. Hill said budget discussions are already in progress and that meetings are scheduled to begin next week.

Leaves Of Absence Granted By Board

In routine business yesterday the Board of County Commissioners granted leave to Howard M. Bender Jr., a member of Headquarters Company, First Battalion, 115th Armor, to go on active summer duty July 27-August 10.

Helen K. Crowe, licensed practical nurse at Sylvan Retreat, who has been on six months leave since January 21, 1963, was granted a six months extension to take care of her mother who is ill.

Two Fire Companies Receive Night Calls

Two calls were received by local fire companies last night. South End firemen were called to Brock's Scrap and Salvage Company, 200 West Offutt Street, at 9:10 p. m. At 9:54 p. m. West Side fire company was called to a brush fire above MacDonald Terrace on Haystack Mountain.

Year-Round Rec Area At Lake Proposed

185 File Petition Against Project

The total project for a large scale all-year-round recreational project in the Deep Creek Lake area is now being processed by the Area Redevelopment Administration.

The proposed project would provide a year-round recreation center near Marsh Mountain at McHenry and would include eating establishments, bowling alleys, swimming pools and a hotel.

Financing of the project would be under a depressed area bill enacted in 1961 by the Maryland legislature providing for state and federal aid where the governing body of a county determines that a state of acute unemployment exists.

Garrett County commissioners would contribute $50,000 as the county's share, with state and federal governments and private investors contributing the balance.

Opposition Voiced

Private enterprises and corporations attempting to utilize the facilities made available through the federal Area Redevelopment Act must comply with specific requirements laid down by the ARA.

A petition containing the signatures of 185 Garrett County citizens objecting to the proposed financing of the project has been forwarded to the ARA, according to Mrs. Martha Glotfelty, member of the House of Delegates from Garrett County.

Mrs. Glotfelty, who also signed the petition, asked these questions in a letter to the Garrett County Commissioners:

"Are we undermining our free-enterprise system when we have the government in business? Who can compete with the handouts they are always promising? . . . . It may be a very fine project, but why not have it financed by private capital, with the banks making the necessary loans?"

Mrs. Glotfelty added she believed it could be built up, part one year and part another, and that she is "all for encouraging folks to do things on their own." Just how many jobs this would provide is another big question mark," she added.

Mrs. Glotfelty also stated she is greatly concerned about the economic future of Garrett County and that recreational development will play a large part in that future.

Competitors Benefit

Helmuth M. Heise, a director of the Deep Creek Area Promotion Council, said last night that he has been trying since 1953 to do just what the project would attempt to do, break down the seasons for a year-round resort area.

He said the opposition seemed mainly to object to the use of federal monies amounting to $650,000 for the project. While trying to save the federal government money at the expense of Garrett County, he said, the government has financed a $9,000,000 project in Tucker County, the Deep Creek area's stiffest competitor and the state of Pennsylvania has taken over the Melinski Area on Laurel Mountain. The Deep Creek project is sandwiched between these two sites, with a distance of about 50 miles on either side.

He said the proposed project was conceived and would be developed on the basis that where trade is increased everyone benefits.

Several utilities and industries are standing by waiting to see if the project goes through, Mr. Heise said, and he believes the project would open gates to other public enterprises and buildings.

Mr. Heise explained that no grants are involved in the financing of the project, as all money is borrowed and must be repaid. The established tax basis of Garrett County, he said, would produce $10,000 revenue. On this basis, the $50,000 invested by the county would be returned in five years.

Urban Renewal Planning Funds Sought By City

Proposals Include Major, Minor Area

Applications for federal funds to develop a General Neighborhood Renewal Plan for rehabilitating the downtown area and to prepare a specific plan for the George Street urban renewal project will be submitted to the Housing and Home Finance Agency today.

William F. DeMare, executive director of the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency, left here yesterday for Philadelphia with copies of the applications and will submit them today to officials of the Urban Renewal Administration.

Action on the applications is expected within six or eight weeks, Mr. DeMare said.

Federal Urban Renewal staffers have held several conferences here with the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency and have advised they will give prompt attention to the applications when they are submitted.

Grants Are Sought

The applications will be reviewed by the Philadelphia office of the HHFA, which supervises the Urban Renewal program, and then sent on to Washington for final approval.

Such approval, Mr. DeMare said, will provide the local Urban Renewal agency with planning grants to help finance actual surveys and plans for both projects, plus a reservation for a capital grant for the George Street project.

Approved by the Mayor and Council several weeks ago the applications estimate the cost of preparing the general neighborhood renewal plan at $133,147 and the cost of making surveys and preparing definite plans for the proposed George Street urban renewal at $122,366.

The general neighborhood plan, which would be spread over about 10 years, is proposed to eliminate the spread of slums and blight in the downtown section, defined in the application as all of the area between the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway from the city line in the Narrows to Oldtown Road.

Areas Defined

The proposed George Street urban renewal project would be bounded on the north by Bedford Street, on the east by the B & O tracks, by Williams Street to the south and George Street to the west.

It is being proposed to eliminate blighted area in the eastern section of the downtown project and to provide the first section of the proposed loop street from Williams Street to Bedford Street.

This loop street, which would provide circulation around and access to the business section, is one of the major recommendations in the Thoroughfare Plan adopted by the city recently.

Mr. DeMare explained that in essence the documents being presented to the HHFA will request federal participation in preparing surveys and plans of the projects.

He emphasized actual plans have not been determined but will be developed when planning funds are available.

When plans are prepared, they will be submitted for a public hearing and approval of the Mayor and Council.

Only then, he said, will the agency be in a position to acquire property and go into details of redevelopment.

Carbide Workers Reject Union In NLRB Elections

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Approximately 60 pre cent of 1,058 eligible hourly construction employes of three Union Carbide facilities here and at Institute voted against union representation Tuesday in a National Labor Relations Board election.

The election had been called to determine whether or not Carbide hourly employes wished to be represented by the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers union or no union.

A total of 643 of the 1,058 who voted opposed the union while 412 voted for union representation. The election was conducted at the South Charleston and Institute plants while employes of Carbide's Technical Center also voted.

FBI Arrests Theft Suspect

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents yesterday entered a remote section of Hardy County, W. Va., to locate and arrest Melvin Burkley Foley, 30, on a charge of interstate transportation of a stolen automobile.

Since January, Foley had been residing in the little out-of-the way community of Lost River near Trout Pond, the only natural lake in West Virginia. He had been using the name of Charles B. Seekford, and had been working as a laborer and at odd jobs, attempting to establish himself in the community, residents said. No one in the area was aware that he was wanted by the FBI.

William Alexander, special agent in charge of the FBI at Pittsburgh, confirmed the arrest of Foley and said he is held on a warrant issued January 3 by U. S. Commissioner Stanley King of Alexandria, Va. The warrant charges Foley, alias Seekford, with transporting a 1961 Chevrolet from Washington to Prince William County on October 30, 1962.

The FBI agents who made the arrest would not discuss the case other than to identify their prisoner and confirm the arrest. Foley was lodged for the night at Petersburg in the Grant County Jail to await the arrival of a U. S. marshal from Fairmont, probably today or tomorrow.

Young Scientists At Green Bank To Visit D.C.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— "Future scientists" attending the National Youth Science camp near Green Bank, Pocahontas County, will be given an "extra"—a trip to the nation's capital.

The West Virginia Centennial Commission and Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., announced Tuesday that the boys, two from each state, will be guests at a luncheon in the new Senate Office Building on July 18.

James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency, will be featured speaker at the luncheon.

The boys will travel by buses to Washington and be given a tour of the Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, Md., and the Mercury Control Center, following the luncheon.

The trip is being sponsored by the Claude Worthington Benedum Foundation, Pittsburgh.

Sewer Project Will Begin Today

The Hout Construction Company will begin work this morning on the Haddon Avenue sewer line project.

Plans for the work were made at a pre-construction conference on the site yesterday morning.

The project calls for the installation of about 1,380 feet of eight-inch sanitary sewer line on Haddon Avenue and Williams Road. Six manholes will be included.

The work will begin on Williams Road near its intersection with Winifred Road.

Moorefield Man Freed In Death Of Salesman

W. Va. High Court Reverses Verdict

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— The State Supreme Court Tuesday ordered dismissal of an indictment which led to the murder-conspiracy conviction of John M. Rexroad, Moorefield, in the death of a Stephens City, Va., salesman in July, 1960.

Rexroad, one of five men indicted in the death of Eldridge Lee Ritter, 33, was convicted o conspiracy to commit second degree murder. He drew a 5-to-18 year suspended sentence from the Hardy County Circuit Court and was placed on five years' probation.

The state had charged that Rexroad and four companions pulled Ritter's arm back and forth across a broken car window following a drunken argument. Ritter died in his car from loss of blood. Charges against two of the men were dropped and two others were acquitted.

In a unanimous opinion written by Judge Chauncey Browning, the high court agreed with Rexroad's attorney that the indictment was "so uncertain and ambiguous it is impossible to determine what crime or offense the accused is attempted to be charged with."

"While the policy of modern courts is to disregard mere technical objections to an indictment and to require only that the indictment fully state the essential element of the offense charged, the indictment should allege in clear, simple and positive language the essential ingredients of the offense with such definitiveness and certainty as to fully-apprise the accused of the nature and cause of the accusation against him," Browning wrote.

The judge added that the indictment returned against Rexroad "does not include the basic element required by the statute in that none of the acts alleged to be in furtherance of a conspiracy occurred until after the wound had been inflicted."

Yule Decorations Committee Meets

A committee from the Downtown Cumberland Business Association met here recently in sweltering heat to look at samples of Christmas decorations.

The committee headed by S. Louis Curl and John F. Vandegrift looked at samples and illustrations of available materials so it would be ready in case the association should decide to add to its Christmas street display this year.

Woman Injured On Pa. Turnpike

A 77-year-old Connecticut woman is in critical condition at Bedford Memorial Hospital as the result of a one-car accident that occurred on the Pennsylvania Turnpike seven miles west of the Bedford interchange yesterday afternoon.

Miss Bertha Brown, Bridgeport, Conn., was hospitalized with fractures of both hips, the left shoulder, an arm, a leg and both ankles, and facial lacerations.

Pennsylvania State Police reported that they have not yet been able to determine how the accident occurred.

Hughes Named To Committee

Sen. George R. Hughes Jr. has been named to special Legislative Council Committee to review and study the population statistics of Victor Cullen Tuberculosis State Hospital to determine the most feasible use of the facility in the event it is no longer needed as a TB hospital.

The committee formation was authorized by the 1963 session of the General Assembly to check the records of the Frederick County facility.

Sen. William S. James, chairman of the Legislative Council, appointed Sen. George E. Snyder of Washington County as chairman of the committee.

Other members include Sen. John A. Derr, Frederick County; Del. Irvin F. Hoffman, Washington County, and Del. William M. Houck, Frederick County.

City Completes Fiscal '63 With $271,675 Surplus

Most Of Rise Is From Windfall

The City of Cumberland had a surplus of $271,675.77 on hand when the financial books of the 1962-1963 fiscal year were closed on June 30, according to Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill.

The so-called surplus is a little larger than last year, when $236,000 was on hand to prime the financial pump for the present fiscal year.

Mr. Hill said the surplus is up chiefly because of a windfall of $32,000 received from the Housing Authority of the City of Cumberland several months ago.

This surplus, which consists chiefly of income collected in excess of the levy and unspent appropriations, will become an important part of the new levy which must be set by August 25.

Since it represents only about $3,000 more of non-recurring funds than were on hand last year and certain expenses, such as pensions and insurance are up, it could mean a slight reduction in the new budget.

Collections Up

During the fiscal year, the city collected $2,138,285.18 from all levy sources and this left $147,165.18 on hand when $1,871.35 of uncollected funds are subtracted.

Most sources of income came in on schedule. Excess collections included $176.83 from general licenses, $46,917.75 from general and special income, $464.36 from interest on taxes, $208.41 from permits, $747.40 from the city scales, $319.20 from bingo tax, $2,429.77 from recreation income, $439.80 from state admission taxes, $168.75 from state franchise taxes, $11,277.23 from state gas and auto taxes, $12,303.72 from state income taxes, $3,088.92 from state racing income and $70,494.39 on the tax levy.

Only two income sources came up short—police fines by $1,408.85 and state auto license fees by $462.50.

Keep In Budgets

To provide services to citizens, the Mayor and Council last year appropriated $1,719,690.50.

Most accounts finished the year in the black and returned a total of $118,156.61 to the general fund, less overdrafts totaling $7,177.12 from eight accounts.

Overdrawn were the Constitution Park budget by $163.67, elections and registration by $719.96 as a result of costs of the fluoridation referendum, errors and insolvencies by $571.37, Police Department by $43.65, public building repairs by $591.22, Recreation Department by $1,083.67, storm sewer account by $691.88 and social security costs by $3,311.70.

Finishing the year with good balances were City Planning, by $1,729.97; Contingent fund, $44,458.14; flood project maintenance, $5,997.81; interest, untouched at $1,000; special project fund, $22,473.75; streets and alleys, $10,538.64, and street cleaning, $5,403.59.

Two Acres Of Brush Burn On East Side

Approximately two acres of brush burned yesterday and brought firemen from both East Side and Central fire companies. The property a vacant lot at the end of Golden Lane, is owned by Hugh A. Mullaney, Willowbrook Road.

Firemen received the call at 1:59 p. m. and were on the scene for two hours and 40 minutes. Brook Bodkin of the State Forestry Department stated that he had a fire line constructed around the area and that there was no danger of the fire flaring up again.

Brethren Church Conference Opens

Rev. Hays K. Logan, left, pastor of Cumberland Brethren Church, greets Rev. John B. Mills, moderator of the 76th Conference of the Southeast District of Brethren Churches which opened a two-day session here yesterday. Looking on are Harold Bennett, vice moderator; Mrs. Ralph Hutzell, secretary, and M. W. Dodds, assistant secretary. Cumberland Brethren Church is host for the conference. Business sessions and reports are scheduled for today.

Street Crews Go To Shades Lane Section Today

Light surfacing crews of the Cumberland Street Department will move today to the Shades Lane section, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property.

About 10 streets in that section were so badly damaged last winter that they will need major repairs.

Crews plan to tear up the damaged surface of streets in that area, reshape them and then apply a light surface treatment.

Mrs. Roeder estimated it will take about two weeks, given good weather, to complete the work in the Shades Lane area.

Street Department crews yesterday completed work in the Bedford-Frederick Street section.

W. Va. Group Will Study Medical Care

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— A legislative subcommittee Tuesday agreed to study group medical care programs of other states to determine the advisability of such plans for West Virginia.

President Miles C. Stanley of the West Virginia Labor Federation, AFL-CIO, said the interim committee proposes to "extend the realm of medical service, not to supplant any present legislation."

Dr. William Riheldaffer, area mine administrator of the United Mine Workers' medical program said the best way to pay for medical care is through a group program.

"This cannot be done on a family basis. There has to be a pooling of resources," Riheldaffer said. The UMW official said "medical care is the only bill people are willing to pre-pay—because they are afraid."

The present study was an upshot of an unsuccessful proposal before the 1963 Legislature to allow creation of non-profit health care corporations in the state.

Also testifying before the committee was Larry Loftin, a representative of Hygeia Facilities Foundation Inc., Whitesville, W. Va. His firm, a non-profit organization, deals in pre-paid medical programs for miners in Wyoming, Boone, Kanawha and Putnam Counties.

Loftin says groups other than miners have requested to become members of his company's medical program, but have been denied because of present West Virginia laws pertaining to soliciting for medical programs.

Committee co-chairman Clarence H. Koontz said the next meeting of the committee, meeting either in August or September, possibly would hear testimony from members of the W. Va. Medical Association.

Md. Jaycee Gets U.S. Post

Mr. McJilton, who is well-known among local Jaycees, has served as vice president, first vice president and president of the Maryland Jaycees.

He is a graduate of Sparrows Point High School and attended Western Maryland College and the Baltimore Business College.

Departments Asked To Submit Budgets

Calls for budget requests have been issued by Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill.

Mr. Hill has asked all department heads to prepare budget proposals and submit them not later than July 25.

The new levy must be set, according to the city code, by August 25.

Mr. Hill said budget discussions are already in progress and that meetings are scheduled to begin next week.
